SECOND UNIT OF LONG-BELL PLANT BEGUN

Concrete Work, Dry Kilns, and Loading Dock Under Construction

LONGVIEW.—Work was started this week on construction of concrete paved fire and traffic roadways and concrete foundations, structures and floor pavements for the second unit of the Long-Bell Lumber company's manufacturing plants here. The work is being done by the Longview Dredging & Construction company. The cost is said to amount to several hundred thousand dollars. The roadways will total about four miles. Approximately 25,000 cubic yards of concrete will be used for the foundations, structures and floor pavements. Fifty men are already employed on the project, which will be rushed to completion as soon as possible advise Long-Bell officials. Contract has been awarded for the construction of 24 blower dry kilns for the second unit. The consideration is said to be approximately $240,000.

The Long-Bell company has also awarded a contract for 250,000 sq. ft. of roofing for the broken package shed in the first unit. The shed is now under construction. Construction is also under way on a cut-up plant within the planing mill in the first unit.

Work is progressing on the 600-foot addition to the lumber dock, made necessary because of the second unit, and on a railway and a highway bridge for the second unit. Bids are asked for machinery to be used in the new mill. They will be opened about June 10 and orders placed as soon thereafter as possible.

MORE JOVIAL

Freddie Smith, the jovial skinner, was reported to be even more jovial than usual at the Pelican dance. Doctors Parker and Hannen are intending to perform an operation shortly to lengthen the jovial skinner's leg.

DOWN FROM KIRK

W. L. Clement, timekeeper for the Lamm Lumber company at its camp near Kirk was in town attending to business last evening last Thursday. He returned to camp shortly after noon.

TIMBER DEALS FOR THE WEEK

Richard H. Hovey Purchases Two Tracts; Dan Mann Buys One

Richard H. Hovey, of the Hovey Timber company, purchased two tracts during the past week. One tract of eighty acres was purchased from H. S. Setzer. This tract lies south of Yalmax. The other tract contains 230 acres, and is government script land in the Fremont National forest in the extreme eastern part of Klamath county. This tract was purchased from F. A. Hyde.

Dan Wann, pioneer merchant of Sprague river, a tract of eighty acres from Jefferson Riddle, prominent Klamath Indian.

Radio Programs To Be Broadcasted By Simonds S & S Co.

Arrangements have just been made by Tom Shields, Seattle manager of the Simonds Saw & Steel Company, whereby the company will broadcast a program through the new Washington Hotel station KCTL twice a week for the next six months at least. This program will be broadcasted between seven and eight o'clock Tuesdays and Friday's, starting May 16.

The company will be assisted by the Washington Hotel orchestra and by Hugo Winkenwerder, dean of the College of Forestry, University of Washington; George C. Joy, supervisor of forestry at Olympia and W. A. Weigle, supervisor of the Snoqualmie National Forest.

A portion of the program will consist of a campaign of education, fire prevention and forest protection, conservation, etc. The new KCTL station is one of the most powerful on the Coast.

COMPANY STARTS

The White Pine Moulding company, newly constructed lumber plant south of town along the Strahorn right of way, has started operations and within a short time will be operating at capacity which is 40,000 linear feet of moulding a day. Approximately 10 men will be employed at the plant when it is operating full shift.

Oxholm Praises Southern Pine Grade Marking

Plan Will Be of Great Benefit to Consumer and Producer

NEW ORLEANS, May 27.—Axel H. Oxholm, Chief of the Lumber Division, U. S. Department of Commerce, in a statement issued from Washington D. C. sets forth the advantages to manufacturers, distributors and the consuming public of grade-marked lumber and comments on the system of grade-marking recently instituted by the Southern Pine Association's subscriber mills. Mr. Oxholm is regarded as one of the leading authorities on grade-marking, he having made a special study of the systems used in foreign countries and he asserts that the plan of the Southern Pine Association purposes all other grade-marking methods in vogue today. In his statement, Mr. Oxholm says:

"Grade-marking of lumber, although originating with the manufacturers will perhaps benefit the public to the greatest extent. If carried out in accordance with the plan laid down, the grade-marking of lumber will mean that any buyer of Southern Pine grade-marked lumber will have the assurance that he is receiving that quality of lumber for which he is paying. The grading rules constitute a mystery to most people except experts, and what the average consumers understand by No. 1 quality may not correspond to No. 1 at the mill. The grade-marking practice will furthermore stimulate the correct and most economical use of wood. The consumer of grade-marked lumber now will definitely know how to make up his specifications intelligently and an inspection of the marks on the end of each piece on the pile will enable him to determine whether he is receiving what he is paying for.

"This will avoid tedious and expensive turning over of each piece of lumber. It is safe to assume that any defective grading would have been caught by the distributors before it has reached the consumers. Distributors will find that grade-marked lumber will sell more readily. The mark appearing on the end of each piece will be the most powerful advertising medium and the guarantee offered in regard to integrity and uniformity of grades will eliminate the percentage of risk which it is customary to include in dealings with unidentified mills.

"The advantages to the manufacturers will largely be in the nature of an increased good will on the part of the consumer and the distributors. Through a responsible inspection organization the uniformity of grades will be guaranteed. The advantages obtained through this feature alone will compensate for the small expense of a few cents per thousand feet in the grade-marking of lumber.

"The grade-marking of lumber will therefore benefit consumers, distributors and manufacturers alike. It will raise the standard of ethics of the lumber industry and trade, and last, but not least, it will be a necessary adjunct to the program of standardization of lumber sizes and grades, which has been fostered and promoted by the Department of Commerce.

"The grade-marking of lumber is no new experiment. It has been successfully practiced in most of the leading foreign lumber producing countries of the world, but the plan of the Southern Pine Association in regard to the grade-marking systems of lumber, has surpassed all other similar methods abroad, as far as is known, both in regard to completeness and in the guarantee which is offered.

POLA NEGRI IS FOND OF PINES

Will Plant Sixteen Trees on Her Beverly Hills Estate

Since Rod la Roque went off to Europe, Pola Negri has been seen with Tade Styka, portrait artist of Poland and Dr. Daniel Carson Goodman, the husband Alma Rubens is divorcing. Maybe the renewal of acquaintance with the Polish artist caused Pola to sigh for the pine trees of her native estate. However, she has sent up to Oregon for sixteen giant pine trees which will cost her $1000 per and these are to be planted on her Beverly Hills estate.

DOWN FROM MODOC

George Ganon, conductor on the logger for the Modoc Pine company, was in town over Saturday night, returning to camp Sunday morning.

LOG RAFT IS LOST OFF OREGON COAST

ASTORIA, May 27.—An ocean going log raft containing 300,000 feet of spruce logs, being towed from the Siletz river to the Columbia, broke away from the tug Douglas off the mouth of the river shortly after noon today.

The tug lost track of it in the choppy sea and was forced to put into Astoria to report the loss and to secure fuel before putting out to sea again late this afternoon in search of the raft.

The logs were the property of the Lincoln County Logging company, and were being towed to the Columbia for the Astoria Box company.

NEW CORPORATION

The Ewauna Boom company is being incorporated to handle logs on Lake Ewauna for the mills using that body of water for pond and storage purposes.

The incorporators of the company are D. V. Kuykendall, Robert B. Kuykendall, and M. S. Wherland. The capital stock of the company is $25,000.

NEW GRADER

Roy T. Barton, formerly with the Pelican Bay Lumber company, is now grading for the Ewauna Boom company, replacing Emil Dreher, who has left Ewauna to go into business for himself.

Annual Bath Is Taken by Well Known Mill Men

Harper and Monroe Follow Time-Honored Custom

Jack Monroe, foreman of the Shasta View mill, and S. M. Harper, Ewauna foreman took their annual bath last week, Harper in the waters of Lake Ewauna, and Monroe in the Shasta View pond. Their men declare that both simply slipped off a log, but both men declare that they did the trick with malice aforethought, and prove by the zodiac charts in the almanacs that last week was the time for bathing, or at least the time for mill foremen to bathe.

At any rate, Harper declares that the water of Lake Ewauna might be colder, and Monroe says that he made a nice hole in the pond, but that it filled up as soon as he got out.

HANNEN REFUTES SCANDAL

The report that he was lying in the center of Klamath Avenue Saturday night is vigorously denied by Dusty Hannen. Any such report is gross libel, he declares, and can prove it by a dozen witnesses. Instead, Hannen states that he was lying along the road to Keno, couple of letters.

SEE FIGHTS

C. E. Randall, Charley Duncan and P. Bunyan Shelley drove in for the fights last week from McCullom's mill. They were late, and in speeding up to arrive in time burnt out a bearing on Duncan's car. Duncan and Shelley returned to camp Wednesday but Randall stayed over to have some dental work done and returned to camp Thursday.

ANOTHER WANDERING BRAIN

Last week the absent-minded business man, coming home, surprised his wife by kissing her tenderly. She was still puzzling when he mumbled, "Now I want to dictate a couple of letters."
