TO THE PUBLIC

Our thanks and appreciation to the merchants who displayed their patriotism by closing their places of business during the Memorial Day parade and exercises. We regret however, that a number were so forgetful of their reverence for those who made the Supreme Sacrifice, and so unmindful of their obligations to the Nation's defenders, as to keep their doors open during the closing period.

Shasta View-Malin

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McComb and son, David of Malin and Mrs. T. N. Case of Klamath Falls left Friday for an extended trip to southern California where they will visit relatives and friends. Mrs. A. M. Thomas is taking care of the post office duties during the McCombs' absence.

The Social Welfare society met at the Community hall and along with other business made plans for an ice cream social in the near future.

A large audience was in attendance at the play entitled "Farm Acres" which was given by the Union High school of Malin in the Community Hall Saturday evening. It would be needless to mention any one in particular as each one acted his or her part in a most pleasing manner and while the audience was moved to tears occasionally, Earl Wilson as "Enoch" the chore boy, and Rose Honick as "Lib" the fresh air kid dispelled all seriousness by their funny remarks and acting. Wednesday evening, June 3rd, the graduating exercises will be held at the same place when eight young men, who compose the graduating class, will be the honored ones. Come and hear them.

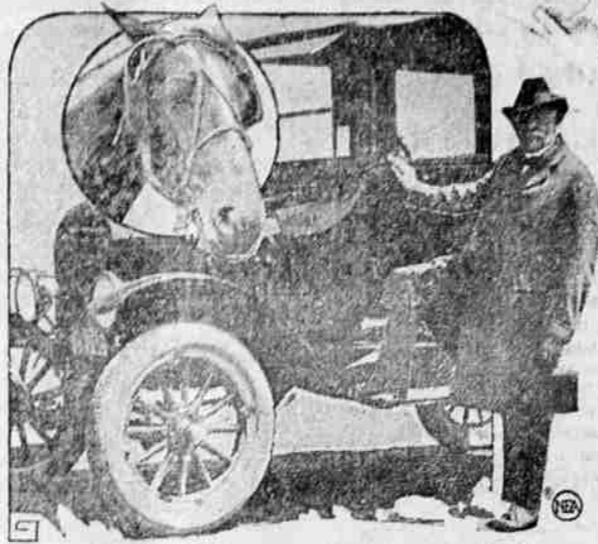

SAN MARCO GETS RARE ART GEM

ROME, June 1.—(A.P.)—An extremely rare wax portrait in high relief, of Prince Francesco de Medici, done by the celebrated sixteenth century artist, Benvenuto Cellini, has been presented to the San Marco museum by Giuseppe Val Goppl, a widely known Florentine collector. The work, considered one of Cellini's masterpieces, is supposed by art students to have been executed between 1568 and 1570. It represents the prince in the age of adolescence, and is well preserved.

Don't be in a rush to get dahlias into the ground, even if they are sprouting. Nip the ends of the sprouts.

Wonder if any of the popular songs of today will recall any fond memories in the future?

Harding's Dad Forsakes "Dolly"

After 20 years of pulling the buggy in which Dr. George T. Harding, 61, of Marion, O., father of the late president, made his calls, "Dolly" has been sent to pasture. In her place has come a Silver. "I like a horse," says Doctor Harding. "But one has to keep up to the times."

Vegetable Vines for Screens

At its best and neatest a vegetable garden is obviously a vegetable garden and a few clumps of annuals to add color will not disguise it or render it an altogether ornamental feature of the landscape. The ideal method is to screen it off from the ornamental portion of the domain with shrubs but often this is inconvenient or would take too long to a screen of some other nature is necessary. Utility may be combined with ornament by using vegetable vines. Cucumbers are climbers by nature, although usually grown to run over the ground. In green-house culture they climb straight up to the glass.

Pole beans may be used to cover a wire fence of any desired height erected as the foundation for the screen. Melons may also be grown in this way and the ripening is hastened by fuller exposure to the sun, but if the muskmelons of the larger type are grown often, it will be necessary to make slings for the melons before they are ripe because of their weight.

The pole beans are the most practical rapid growth and their longer season of bearing and keeping green. Lima beans are also an excellent material for a screen of this kind. Tomatoes may be trained to a height of six feet and make a dense screen if closely planted, say two feet apart, so that the branches interlace, but the crop will not be as large or of as high quality as when grown farther apart. The tomato must be helped on its way upward and frequently tied, while the beans and cucumbers will go up by themselves, if only given the support.

By using a fence as a support for these vines there is much economy of space, particularly in growing cucumbers, which take up a lot of ground space as usually grown, as they will often cover a five-foot square if not checked.

Cucumbers are handsome vines for a screen although their utility is as ornaments or as playthings for the children. There is a great variety of these curious vines and a mixed packet of seed will furnish many surprises and much interest during the season and especially in the fall when in fruit.

RADIO CONTROLS MOVIE CAMERA

UNIVERSAL CITY, Cal., June 1.—(A.P.)—Radio control, which has been used successfully in the operation of airplanes and battleships, has been applied to motion picture cameras.

Officials of a film corporation have perfected a radio device by which cameras may be placed at distant points and actuated by a transmitter.

The invention is devised for use in photographing long landscape scenes showing battles and similar large spectacles, where cameras at varied positions must be used at the same time.

If maggots bothered your radishes last year, lime the radish patch before planting this year. Radishes don't need lime but it will put the maggots to flight.

They Agree to Disagree

Richard Barthelmess, moving picture star, and his wife, Mary Hay Barthelmess, who is also in the movies, have agreed to a "mutual separation." So she will go to Europe and leave Mary, their 2-year-old daughter in custody of the father. On her return Mrs. Barthelmess will be permitted to keep the child for six months. It is just a friendly separation, according to Mrs. Barthelmess, who denies a divorce is contemplated.
