MAYOR WILL RESIGN

Compromise Reached as Result of Much Unfavorable Publicity

PORTLAND, Ore., June 2.—The Oregon State Motor association today received assurances in a message from R. E. Reusswig, its engineer, that officials of Gold Hill, in southern Oregon, had promised to do away with speed traps in that city, effective at once. The agreement followed a conference which Reusswig held yesterday with officials, and was endorsed by unanimous vote of the city council, said the adviser, received this morning in a night letter from Reusswig.

The action of Gold Hill resulted from pressure brought to bear by the state motor association which had received complaints from motorists, including many from California, that they had been made the victims of the Gold Hill speed traps. Last week the motor association asked the state highway commission to re-route the Pacific highway in the vicinity of Gold Hill so as to eliminate that city from the thoroughfare.
