Charge Favoritism Against Railroad

Sightseeing Company Alleges Discrimination Is Being Shown

SALEM, Ore., July 2.—Alleging that the Northern Pacific Terminal company in Portland is discriminating in favor of the Tyrell Trips company, to the exclusion of other sightseers trips concerns, a complaint was filed against the terminal company today by the Circle Tour Sightseeing company.

This discrimination, it is asserted, works to the detriment of Portland and Oregon for the reason that many scenic routes are not covered by the Tyrell company, but are covered by others that are excluded from the terminal. The Mount Hood loop is mentioned as one of these.

The complaint says that the Northern Pacific Terminal company allows the Tyrell Trips company access at the Union station, while this privilege is not granted to others.

Missing College Professor Found Dead In Cottage

MANISTEE, Mich., July 2.—(AP)—Professor Walter Scott Hendrixson, 66, of Grinnell college, Grinnell, Iowa, was found dead in his cottage at Portage Point, near here, yesterday. The discovery of the body was made by Albert Sigman, Butler college student, who is working as a bell boy at the Portage Point institution during the summer.

Mrs. Hendrixson had wired to authorities here asking them to locate her husband. She said she had not heard from him for several weeks. Coroner Bradford said he believed Professor Hendrixson had been dead ten days.

Professor Hendrixson was widely known in the field of chemistry and as a lecturer. He was born at Felleity, Ohio, was graduated from Christian college, Merom, Ind., and had studied at Harvard, Berlin and Göttingen universities.

In the room where the body was found were his suitcase, packed, and a railroad ticket. Circumstances pointed to a natural death caused by an internal hemorrhage.

Branch Railway Would Suspend Its Operations

Deficit Shown by the Willamette Valley Southern

SALEM, Ore., July 2.—Because of a continuous loss financially since it began operation in 1915, the Willamette valley southern railway company, a subsidiary of the Portland Electric Power company, today petitioned the public service commission for authority to suspend operation on that portion of its line from Koyler Station, Clackamas county, to Mount Angel, Marion county, a distance of 11.4 miles. A hearing is asked prior to August 1, for the reason, it is claimed, that operation on the line cannot be conducted safely after wet weather begins.

The Willamette Valley Southern operates an electric line from Oregon City to Mt. Angel, a distance of 31.8 miles. The operation was begun in 1915, but the company avers that it never has made a profit. Total losses since that are placed at $226,463.52.

Last year the total receipts of the entire line were $61,938.42, while for the Koyler station-Mt. Angel stretch the receipts totalled $11,257.12.

It is claimed that there is no prospect for any increase in business and that there is every expectation that competition from auto stage and truck lines will result in further decreases.

'LEATHERNECKS' NOW PATROLLING SANTA BARBARA

Two Hundred and Fifty Marines go on Guard Duty This Morning

REBUILDING TO START

Spanish Architecture to be Used—Telephone Service Restored

SANTA BARBARA, July 2, (AP)—With 250 of Uncle Sam's "Leathernecks" patrolling the earthquake torn section of Santa Barbara today to preserve order, the city was expected to assume normalcy in many respects.

Practically all of the dangerous overhanging walls were demolished by firemen yesterday and during the night attacks hauled the debris away and cleared the section until there was little left this morning of wreckage of any character save the site of the San Marcos building and in the park surrounding hotel Arlington.

Sheriff in Charge

Sheriff James Ross was in command of the law and order forces of the city, including the marines, and prominent citizens, jointly with the city council took charge of the city as a public safety committee, holding their first meeting at 9:30.

A board of California engineers under the chairmanship of C. E. Marx, head of the college of engineering of Stanford University, resumed its inspection of buildings throughout the city, designating those to come down and those safe or that would be safe if repaired. The committee on public safety has announced that the findings of the committee are to be final and will be followed in detail.

Building Plans

Almost unanimous is the decision of business men to reconstruct the city along lines of Spanish architecture, following recommendation of the Santa Barbara art society and the new State street. If these plans are followed, will be a replica of old Spain when it raises again.

With telephone service restored and prospects of light and gas service within 24 hours, the citizens looked forward for the next few hours to bring normal conditions to their homes and the closing of Red Cross relief stations where rich and poor alike have elbowed each other at meal times, since the disaster Monday morning early.

2 BANDITS SLAIN BY POSSE

Attempt to Hold Up Buckley Institution Is Failure

TACOMA, Wash., July 2.—William Rose, a Buckley cigar dealer who was shot in the abdomen yesterday by one of the two bank bandits who were slain after a hold-up of the Buckley State Bank, died from his wound in the Auburn, Washington hospital, at 9:30 this morning.

TACOMA, Wash., July 2.—The little city of Buckley, 24 miles east of here has had the first bank robbery in its history and the affair ended in bloody failure yesterday afternoon when two unmasked desperadoes, like the bad men of the old west died with their boots on. One of the bandits was shot from the running board of an automobile speeding away with the loot. The other was killed when he drove back into the rifle fire to rescue the body of his dead pal.

Neither of the bandits had been identified this morning.

William Rose, a cigar store man, lies seriously wounded in the Auburn hospital, a victim of the bandits' return fire. Another citizen, two blocks away, was hit by a stray bullet while he was painting the home of C. O. Steberg, president of the robbed bank.

It was ten minutes before 3 o'clock when the bandits entered the Buckley State bank and drew their guns. At 3 o'clock both were dead and the loot of $2,000 had been recovered. The first bandit was shot by Aaron Hayden, grocer. The second was killed by Marshal Ed Nelson.

Alarm Sounded

A. E. Hovey, cashier, kicked a burglar alarm as the men brandished their guns and while the bell outside the bank was clanging its message to the towns people the bandits forced Hovey, his assistant C. A. Stewart and W. A. Evans, a customer, to lie on the floor while President Steberg was compelled to fill a sack with currency.

Marshal Nelson responded to the alarm but, his gun sticking as he attempted to draw it, he too was forced to lie on the floor. He was not disarmed, however, and as the pair left the building he fired two shots, both of which took effect. The wounded man took the wheel of the automobile and his companion mounted the running board, rifle in hand, firing rapidly to keep off pursuit. The bandit car was a block away when Hayden dashed from his grocery and with the first shot from his rifle picked the man from the running board.

Seeing his companion fall to the pavement, the wounded bandit drove around the block firing as he went. Turning back into Main street, where his comrade lay he stopped and ordering the crowd about with his revolver, commanded "Pick up that fellow and put him in the car."

Marshal Nelson hurried up, "Put your hands," he ordered the bandit.

The reply was two shots from the driver. Nelson then finished what he had started in the bank and put a bullet through the bandits body. He died a few moments later but said no word.

Bergdoll Says "Pot of Gold" Has $240,000

Draft Dodger Claims Fortune Is Buried in Hills

PHILADELPHIA, July 2.—Grover C. Bergdoll says that the pot of gold he buried in the Maryland hills contains more than $240,000.

This was revealed yesterday in a sworn statement by him submitted at a hearing of counter suits filed by Mrs. Emma C. Bergdoll, his mother, and Thomas W. Miller, alien property custodian. The statement witnessed by a notary public in Baden, Germany, was sent to Mrs. Bergdoll to add in her contention that she had turned over all her son's property to the alien property custodian.

Bergdoll has been living in Baden since a spectacular escape in 1920.

An intimation that his mother also had buried a large sum of money also was contained in the statement.

"The $105,000 which my mother claims to have buried is absolutely her own," said the statement. "The $240,000 which I concealed (the gold buried in the ground) and the gold notes I took along to Europe were my own property. No person living outside of myself has the slightest idea as to where I took the gold after I loaded it in my car in Pennsylvania."

Bergdoll escaped from army guards at his mother's home here while on a trip to dig up the treasure, after he had been sentenced to serve five years in prison for evading the draft. A master in chancery recommended that the custodian be ordered to return to Mrs. Bergdoll $140,000 in cash and securities worth several hundred thousand dollars.

First Day of Rodeo Opens With a Bang; Noted Riders Here

Contestants Here From California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Wyoming and Montana—$5500 in Prize Money to Be Awarded

With more than 2500 people cheering wildly, the annual Rodeo got under way at the fair grounds this afternoon promptly at 1:30, and every event was being staged on time, with horses, riders and others in readiness for each event as soon as it was called.

Cyrus Schoops of Calgary appeared to have won the calf roping contest, when he roped his calf and tied it in 32 seconds. His brother, Jess Schoops was disqualified. Others who took part in this event were Matt McCulley, Boss Richardson, Bob Lewis and Riggs Schonchin.

Luke Willis was carried unconscious from the field after being thrown in the bull riding contest. The extent of his injuries was not learned at a late hour this afternoon. Jack Crim also was thrown in this contest but was not hurt. Willis lighted on the back of his head, and appeared to be suffering from concussion of the brain.

In the first racing event, the half-mile free for all, Carl Curn won first money, with Doc Haynes a close second. Curn's time was 52 seconds.

Virginia Dare showed her heels to the field in the quarter mile Indian race and galloped in a winner with her owner, Jonah, in the saddle. The time was 26 1/2 seconds.

Matt Jackson was the first entered in the bucking contests and was disqualified for "pulling leather" when McAdoo, one of the worst horses in the string, began to do his stuff.

Lorena Trickey was an easy winner in the race of the three-day relay. In making the first change, "Whirlwind Annie's" horse became unmanageable, and she sailed far in the rear of the noted Prineville cowgirl. Matt Jackson made a wonderful ride on Wildcat, in the bucking contest, as did Rix Shepherd on Dirty Shirt. Jack Crimm bit the dust when Black Demon tossed him for a goal and dropped him on the ground none too gently. Crimm, being used to taking them on the jaw in the prize ring, was unhurt.

All records, both for attendance and quality of performance, will be broken by the Rodeo which opened today, is the opinion of those who have attended the Rodeo here in past years and who saw its beginning today.

Never before have riders of such note been entered at any Klamath Falls Rodeo. In addition to the local crop of aspirants there are men from every state in the northwest, men who make their living on horseback and whose recreation is found on the hurricane deck of a bronk afflicted with nothing but a keen desire to heave his would-be rider into the mesquite.

Many Riders Entered

At noon today more than 30 riders were entered in the bucking contest for the championship prizes. This year the three riders who battle their way to the award on the final day will split $1000 between them, more money than ever offered here for this event before.

Not to be forgotten in the galaxy of male riding stars is Lorena Trickey of Prineville, champion cowgirl of the world, who has entered her own relay string and her own Roman Race string.

"Whirlwind Annie"

Competition is promised Miss Trickey in the person of "Whirlwind Annie," as Miss Annie Bernard is known. Like Miss Trickey, Miss Bernard is new here.

According to the directors there will be no delays this year. Every event will go off on schedule time and there will be no delays in the program.
