FISH IN POLITICS

The newly appointed state fish commission, which knows nothing about fish, is seeking as its first act, to discharge the only man in its employ who does know anything about them, Hugh Mitchell, superintendent of hatcheries, who was induced by the old commission to leave his life job under civil service as state superintendent of the United States Bureau of Hatcheries to enter the employ of the state under a long term contract.

Mr. Mitchell, having been for many years in charge of federal fish culture in Oregon, being recognized as the leading authority on the subject in the Northwest and as knowing more about salmon than anyone else, and being efficient and competent, is thereby disqualified for office under the present administration. As he is not a politician and refuses to play politics, he is doubly disqualified.

The attorney general has ruled that the members of the fish commission exceeded their authority in making a contract that bound their successors, but the courts will probably have to pass upon the point, just as they will upon the legality of the appointment of state senators upon the commission in defiance of the constitutional inhibition.

With Mr. Mitchell out, the way is clear for carrying out the governor's plan to make political spoils out of the department, failure to carry out which cost Dr. Doss his job as commissioner.—Capital Journal.

Stewart's Daily Letter

By CHARLES P. STEWART
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, July 6.—The two recent deaths in its ranks—Senator Robert M. La Follette and Senator Edwin F. Ladd's—coming so close together, have jolted the Progressive group in congress considerably. Between now and the national legislature's next meeting some effective reorganizing must be done or the "bloc" will find itself materially weakened.

In the last congress Progressivism was pretty formidable.

Senators La Follette, Ladd, Lynn J. Frazier and Smith W. Brookhart were the nucleus. Senator George W. Norris was of the group in everything except that he continued to retain his republican party standing—nominally.

Senators Henrik Shipstead and Magnus Johnson, Farmer-Laborites, were allies. Senators William E. Borah and James Couzens were republican insurgents much of the time.

Senators Hiram W. Johnson, Arthur Capper and R. B. Howell were occasionally so—a little.

Senator Burton K. Wheeler of course belongs to the "bloc" but didn't count as a vote to the good against the administration, inasmuch as a Democrat, he was anti-administration anyway.

The same thing might be said of Shipstead and Magnus Johnson, yet the administration did gain at the "bloc's" expense by a "regular" republican defeat of Johnson at the last election.

Of the seven original dependables—La Follette, Ladd, Frazier, Brookhart, Norris, Shipstead and Magnus Johnson—three, then, are gone, La Follette and Ladd by death, Johnson by defeat.

As a partial offset against the new senator, Thomas Schell's, victory over Magnus Johnson, the independents are able to count the retirement of the very regular senator, Thomas Sterling, in favor of W. H. McMaster—not an "ultra-Progressive" but as much as any as Borah and Couzens.

There remain La Follette's and Ladd's seats to be filled. La Follette's seat is certain to be filled by a man as liberal as would have chosen—his son, Bob, Jr., from all indications. The Progressives are hopeful as to Ladd's, too.

So, however, are the "regular" republicans. Ladd's seat was "pro" the present national administration at the last election, which is what the "regulars" base their faith on. It was quite progressively so, however, which is what encourages the independents.

All in all, it looks as if Ladd's successor, if not an out-and-out insurgent, like Ladd himself, at least will fall like McMaster, in the Borah and Couzens class.

It isn't altogether a question, however, of how the senate lines up next December. There's the future also to be looked into—the latter half of President Coolidge's present term.

The administration is quite likely to lose some senate seats to the democrats next year.

Republican members of the upper house come up for re-election in Arizona, Kentucky, Maryland, Missouri and Oklahoma. These states choose democrats oftener than they do republicans.

Other states in which successors must be chosen to republican solons are Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Nevada, New York, Utah and Washington. These are at least doubtful.

It will be odd if out of this dozen of commonwealths, the democrats don't score some gains and the republicans suffer a few losses.

So the administration can't afford to have much insurgency in its own ranks. If it has, the same situation will prevail which has prevailed since the middle of President Harding's administration—the insurgents will hold the balance of power and use it against the president.

The Progressive "bloc" is a bit rattled at the moment, yes, but to assume that it's done for, as the "regulars" have been doing since La Follette, and still more since Ladd died, is premature until time's given to see how well the independents rally.

MISS GOWLER LEAVES
Niece of Mrs. D. Gowler Leaves for Home After Visit Here

Miss Barbara Gowler, who has been the house guest of her aunt, Mrs. D. Gowler, for the past five weeks, left this morning for Los Angeles, where she will visit for some time en route to her home in Illinois.

Guests at Point Comfort lodge numbered 125 yesterday, according to word brought down by Mrs. Laura Moore of the lodge. Fishing was splendid and some unusually large trout were caught.

Many Klamath Falls Folks at Diamond Lake Over Week-End

(Special to The Herald)

DIAMOND LAKE, July 6.—A holiday throng estimated conservatively at three thousand persons crowded the shores of Diamond Lake over the week-end of July 3-4-5. Beginning Thursday evening campers, tourists and vacationers began pouring into the Lake vicinity, the stream continuing until Sunday when most of them returned to their homes. It is believed seven or eight hundred automobiles came into the lake by way of The Dallas-California highway and by way of Union Creek on the Crater Lake Highway, the only means of access to the Lake at the present time. The road to Crater Lake Rim road will not be open for two or three weeks.

The crowd for the most part which visited the Lake over the Fourth consisted of week-end campers from southern Oregon points, particularly Klamath Falls and Medford. Three miles of camp sites along the east side of the Lake provided ample space for everyone, although the portion of the grounds near Diamond Lake Lodge resembled a young tent city.

Fishing was the goal for a large percentage of those present. So great was the demand for boats that on the 4th and 5th, the day was divided into three periods of five hours each, one person being allowed a boat for only one period. Catches on the third and fourth were fair, with better results on Sunday. By far the greater part of the fishermen brought in at least a fish or two. While the numbers being caught are not as great as a couple of weeks ago, the fish are holding up in size.

Bathing and swimming ran a close second to fishing in the race for popularity. Although a number of near ice-cold streams empty into Diamond Lake, the temperature of the lake remains at about 70 degrees, making swimming ideal. It is believed that warm springs contribute to keeping the water at this temperature. Over the week-end, bathers thronged the beach by the Lodge at all hours of the day.

A full moon in cloudless skies added a touch of romance for those so inclined and made midnight boating parties popular after the dances which were held on Friday and Saturday nights at the Lodge. Large crowds were on hand both evenings and enjoyed the music furnished by the Diamond Lake "Saw-Filers."

Lodge accommodations were crowded to capacity in caring for guests over the week-end. On the evening of the fourth, guests were turned away because all beds were reserved far in advance.

Registered at the Lodge over the week-end from Klamath Falls were the following: F. J. Johnson; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Egoline; W. E. Evans and family; W. H. Perkins and family; J. H. Gwin and family; Mr. and Mrs. George N. Rowe; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Young; C. Fosley; Louis K. Porter and family; Mrs. E. Amberg.

CRIMINAL CASES START IN COURT

Circuit court was crowded this morning with jurors, on hand for the first day of the June term of court.

First case on the docket is state vs. Joe Daniels, who is charged with assault with a deadly weapon.

Despite absence of several important witnesses the state proceeded with the case and at noon today the jury had been partially selected. Daniels is charged with having shot at Harry Brown, on the corner of Fourth and Oak streets. The state will attempt to prove that Daniels fired the revolver three times, not one of the bullets taking effect.

The next case on the docket, the district attorney's office announced, is state vs. Lofquist, charged with non-support.

D. M. Smith motored to Ashland for the holidays to visit his family, returning to the city last evening.

MANY AUTOISTS HALED TO COURT

Whatever the Fourth of July lacked in fireworks was made up in speed, it developed this morning, when County Traffic Officer R. E. Knowles swore out a flock of complaints against offending motorists who exceeded the speed limit during the two-day holiday.

Carl Anderson first attracted the attention of Knowles Saturday evening just south of town. Knowles stopped Anderson at Sixth and Oak street and placed him under arrest on a charge of driving while drunk. He was to be given a hearing before Justice of the Peace R. E. Hunsaker this afternoon. No intoxicating liquor was found in the automobile.

Claude Jean admitted his guilt on a reckless driving charge yesterday and was fined $19 and costs; H. M. Lewis paid a fine of $5.50 on a charge of parking on the highway; L. L. Strong was fined $13.50 for speeding; Harry Glue, a tourist from St. Louis, Mo., put up a bail of $12.50 for speeding, which was forfeited this morning; J. W. Schroder, arrested on charges of falling to him, having no operator's license and no tail light, paid a fine of $5 and costs; Voll C. Curry, another tourist from Pasadena, Calif., paid a fine of $13.50 for speeding; S. Crawford of San Francisco, drove recklessly, passed a car at an intersection, exceeded the speed limit and had no operator's license, all of which brought a fine of $19 and costs.

John Benson, J. A. McCall, C. F. Greer, L. F. Lamm, L. Z. Carter and C. Bunch were scheduled to appear today in justice court to plead to various traffic violations.

Prisoner Faces Assault Charge

F. A. Thomas, Completing Sentence in County Jail, to be Tried

If F. A. Thomas had thought before he acted, today he would have been a free man, for today would have been the last of his jail sentence.

But on Friday last, according to the district attorney's office, Thomas bent up G. A. Camp, a fellow prisoner. Camp complained and, after an investigation, Deputy District Attorney D. R. Vandenberg announced today that he would file a charge of assault and battery against Thomas.

Carip received Tom's share of the battling and emerged from the fray minus several teeth and with severe cuts and bruises about the head.

Thomas was arrested over a month ago in an auto camp on Link river and pleaded guilty on an immoral conduct charge.

Chiloquin Girl Badly Injured in Auto Crash

Miss Betty Crawford of Chiloquin lies in the Klamath Valley hospital today severely injured and one small car is completely demolished as the result of an automobile accident last night at 9 o'clock on the Dallas-California highway, this side of Sutton's store, above Medoc Point.

Bob Hall, in a new car, and accompanied by Miss Betty Crawford, was driving north. He crashed head-on into the larger car of C. E. Sherrick of Algona.

Hall admitted to officers this morning that he had not given Sherrick enough room. He also said that his bright lights were burning while Sherrick had switched onto dim.

Hall's car was completely demolished. Miss Crawford is suffering from severe bruises and contusions about the head and in minus several teeth as a result of the crash.

Many Present At Copco Dedication

Approximately 3000 people from points of southern Oregon and Northern California yesterday attended the dedication of Copco plant No. 2 of the California Oregon Power company on the Klamath river, in northern California.

The plant is the largest of 11 generating plants of this company and has a capacity of 49,000 cubic horsepower.

Following the flag raising and dedication exercises, power company officials were hosts to the crowd at an outside luncheon. The afternoon was devoted to an inspection of the plant.

The entire output of the plant has already been sold on a long-time lease to the Pacific Gas and Electric company.

PRIZES WILL BE AWARDED SOON

Books Must be Returned Before Winners Announced in Campaign

The official count of memberships obtained during the "keep forest fire" campaign cannot be given until all children return their books to Mrs. Leah Smith at the chamber of commerce office, was the announcement made today. Up to the present time the count has reached just the 7,000 mark and as soon as all the children turn in their books, the judges will make the official count and prizes will be awarded when the Boy Scouts return from camp.

A number of children who took out books have failed to return them and are urged to do so at once.

Shops and Show Windows
NEWS OF THE STORES
for Klamath folks

Where is there a woman so devoid of feminine traits as to be uninterested in the appeal of Shops and Show Windows? To the school girl in her teens and to grandma in her sixties, shops and shopping are important. To all and direct folks in their selections and their purchases is the purpose of this department.

In talking to you about the merchandise in our stores I shall tell only of merchandise I have personally seen and examined; and shall frankly present to you my views of the merit and value of the articles discussed.

I want this department to serve everyone who buys in our local stores, the women folks in particular. I shall try to serve alike the interests of the woman who buys for a family of folks and the woman who has only to satisfy her own tastes and inclinations.

I truly believe that our Klamath stores can supply most any taste or demand if one knows how to find things; and should the desired article not be in stock here our merchants will surely supply the need by specially ordering what you want. You may be sure that every effort will be made to satisfy your needs promptly on any special order through a local store. I find many women do not know that such an order can be filled through a home store with far more satisfaction than if sent to a Mail Order house at some distant point.

I urge that each reader of this department feel free to call on me for advice or suggestion on any desired purchase. I may be reached by telephone or mail through the office of The Herald and will give personal service to my readers in seeing that their wants are promptly cared for. I hope finally to have a personal acquaintance with many of you and to be instrumental in bringing about a closer relation between Klamath folks and the merchants who serve them.
