

No Boxing Card Will Be Held Here Until Early in September

No boxing cards will be held in Klamath Falls until September, and the boxing commission itself will promote the next card. This was the announcement of commission members today following a brief business meeting.

Street gossip to the effect that Frankie Murphy and Earl Ritchie will be signed for a match later this month or in August was denied by the commissioners. Murphy, it was said, will not be allowed to fight again under the auspices of the Klamath Falls commission because he insisted on "holding out" for an extra $25 on the Fourth of July card with Ritchie.

It is probable that Ritchie may be matched with Sammy Olson for the headline card early in the fall, probably on Labor Day, it was said.

Both J. E. Patterson and "Brownie" are out as promoters for the commission. The lease or rental on Scandinavian hall has been given up so far as the boxing commission is concerned, although it has tentatively secured the hall for Labor Day.

The heavy cost of promotion was said by members of the commission to be the cause of handling its own match-making for the next card. In the past the promoters have held out $300 each fight for expenses, and this has cut too deeply into the purses of the boxers.

At the PINE TREE

"One of the best and cleanest attractions ever in Klamath Falls" was the comment of a number of people who enjoyed the Golden Gate Girls Revue at the Pine Tree last evening. Without a doubt this is as clever a group of girls as could be found anywhere. Not only are their various singing and dancing numbers clean and entertaining but the versatility of the entire troupe called forth many favorable comments from a satisfied audience. The Paige Sisters have a most unusual dancing act, little Lillian Kyle, nature's own comic, presents a clever comedy attraction; Jessie Lee sings "Those Blues" and Alice Heath handles a saxophone in a masterly manner. Last but not least, the closing number, which presents the Girls Orchestra, brought down the house.

For those who like fun, witty and whol some, we strongly recommend "The Narrow Street," which will be shown at the Pine Tree Theater, tonight.

The picture has been translated to the screen by Julien Josephson, from one of this year's best novels, written by Edwin Bateman Morris, whose subtle blending of humor and mystery, generously flavored with a fascinating love story, has produced a most enjoyable photoplay.

"The Narrow Street" is one continuous thrill after the other, making you laugh and sympathize with Matt Moore and Dorothy Devore, who manage to get into the very embarrassing pass of being husband and wife in name, with a few extra twists thrown in.

At The LIBERTY

One of the features in "Racing For Life" which comes to the Liberty Theater tonight is the entry of Ralph De Palma, veteran speed king for many years, in one of the biggest races that was ever filmed.

De Palma drives the same car in which he has won a number of championships and automobile fans will have the opportunity to see him for the first time on the screen.

SEE AND FEEL, NOT SMELL, IS RULING ON WHISKEY CASE

All the smells in the world will not convict. The bona fide article must be produced in court for one and all to see.

This was the ruling of Police Judge Gaghagen yesterday in dismissing a charge of transportation of intoxicating liquor against Mrs. Barclay of Chiloquin. One patrolman testified that he recognized the forbidden odor when Mrs. Barclay broke a bottle upon the pavement. However the Chiloquin woman was fined $25 for breaking glass, and her companion, W. H. Harris, was fined $25 for failing to display proper lights, having no operator's license and operating with improper license tags.

Horn Involved in Litigation

(Special to The Herald)

YREKA, Calif., July 10.—Following closely on the heels of a suit filed in the superior court by D. M. Horn and Anita Horn, his wife, former owners of the famous Horn ranch on the upper Klamath river, against the California City and County Land corporation of San Francisco, for $1295, alleged interest on a mortgage against the Horn ranch, Horn and his wife found themselves defendants today in a $25,000 suit for slander.

When Horn sold the ranch last winter to the California City and County Land company, it was reliably reported that the company was a holding company for a railroad company, presumably the Mill interests, which was buying a right-of-way from Klamath Falls to Eureka or Trinidad and this report was borne out later when it was found that the same company had bought the Weyerhaeuser timber holdings along the upper Klamath river and other tracts vital to the establishment of a right-of-way.

When the Horn ranch was transferred to the company, a mortgage of $36,500 was assumed by the new owners and Horn in his suit claims that the buyers agreed to pay interest due, amounting to $1295, on the mortgage, but that the money was never turned over to the California Joint Land Stock bank. Following the filing of Horn's suit, an attachment was brought against the ranch equipment, including a tractor, harrows and plows, and acting under the mandate of the court, Sheriff A. S. Calkins moved the personal property and placed it under lock until the controversy was settled.

The company, through D. L. Thornberry, the Hornbrook manager, and B. K. Collier, attorney for the company, retaliated today by filing a counter suit against Horn and Mrs. Horn, denying that the company had any agreement with the Horns to pay the interest and then sought the court to return the tractors, the plows and the harrows and "that by means of which said acts (the suit and attachment) the plaintiff has been greatly injured in its credit and reputation and brought into public scandal, to its damage in the sum of $25,000."

Following the filing of the suit, Collier and Thornberry called at the office of District Attorney Charles E. Johnson and while it was admitted that their visit had to do with the ranch entanglements, they declined to state the nature of the conference.

Foreigners Urged To Leave Canton

CANTON, July 10. (AP)—All foreign women and children were warned today by the British consul to leave here for Hong Kong immediately.

The Chinese flare-up against foreigners has developed into contemplated attack on Shamsen, the foreign concession, the consul said yesterday, while he was advising against their remaining.

The consul added that the imminent danger of attack from the Chinese quarters had developed with in the past few days.

Military activity still continues. Hundreds of striking Chinese are going to Hong Kong, while others who wish to return, are being prevented by the authorities. Ships plying between Canton and Hong Kong will cease running tomorrow when Chinese crews strike.

The situation here today is described as critical.

VETERINARY COMING HERE DURING AUGUST

If any farmer or livestockman wishes to have his cattle tested for tuberculosis, then let him inform the county agent's office immediately. County Agent C. A. Henderson announced today. For about August 1, a U. S. veterinary inspector is expected to arrive in Klamath Falls to test cattle.

Before any cattle may be exhibited at the county fair or any fairs in Oregon, the cattle must be tested. No charge is assessed for the testing.

Whooping Cough Prevalent Here

Source of a mild, but rapidly spreading epidemic of whooping cough which is now prevalent in Klamath county is thought to have been a Portland family which visited here recently. The children of the family, according to the health officer, were suffering from whooping cough and apparently transmitted the disease to others.

"There is nothing serious about the epidemic," Dr. G. N. Newsom, county health officer, said today. "Whooping cough is not dangerous in itself, but from complications that are liable to follow. At this time of year, there is small chance of complications. Children afflicted with the disease should be kept out in the open, but should not be allowed to leave their yard until well. Association with other children or attendance of public meetings would result in a rapid spread of whooping cough."

The epidemic is more or less general throughout the county, the health officer explained. It is thought that it will run its course within the next few weeks.

The "Flying Cloud" which broke the coast to coast record in 1854

THEN to one port in clipper ships NOW to homes of 29 states

On April 20, 1854, Captain Cressy made history when his good ship, "THE FLYING CLOUD" completed the fastest voyage ever made around the Horn—making the coast to coast "dash" in eighty-nine and one-third days.

And this was four years after J. A. Folger & Company began supplying coffee to the new Pacific Empire. Then the green coffee came to one port (San Francisco) in clipper ships; was roasted at Folger's Pioneer Coffee Mill, and distributed by boat and on wagon trains within a small radius of San Francisco.

Today Folger's in Coffee, Spices, Teas and Extracts are in demand in 29 states. The early settlers did not forget the folks back home. They liked Folger's Products, and their endorsement led to calls for Folger-marked packages from the East, North and South. So great, in fact, was the call, that a modern branch was established at Kansas City, Missouri, and Dallas, Texas, in addition to the repeated enlargement of the pioneer plant at San Francisco.

On the label of our first package of roasted coffee were printed the words, "Our success is dependent upon quality." This holds good today.

On this our Diamond Jubilee we make this promise; that Folger Quality and Folger Service shall never change from the high ideals set by our founders; that products bearing the Folger name shall always be of the highest quality—just as they have been for these seventy-five years. With a background of 75 years' experience and with a will to apply that experience for the benefit of our customers, we look forward to serving many generations to come.
