New Buildings to Arise Soon

City Experiences Much Construction in Past Week

Acceleration of summer building activity was noted last night at the city council meeting in the number of applications to build. Everything from woodsheds and $30 garages to a $75,000 apartment house were included in the applications.

Total investment of the applications considered reached $103,000, which is one of the banner weeks of the spring and summer.

The council refused to allow permits for buildings which will be erected by Charles Riley, Chris Blanas and J. P. Satterlee, until plans and specifications are examined.

Permits were issued to Carl S. Williams, a dwelling on Oregon avenue to cost $85; W. W. Caldwell, dwelling on Angle street, to cost $250; Monroe Martin, a dwelling on Reclamation street to cost $1400; C. A. Zigler, a dwelling on East Main street to cost $1100; C. L. Hawkins, dwelling on Eberlein street, $250; Mrs. Edna A. Bradburn, woodshed on Pine street, $30; E. Mulligan, dwelling on Poplar street, $2100; Leo Toney, dwelling on Holabird street, $600; B. F. Siewert, a woodshed on Vine street, $75; Carl S. Williams, woodshed on Oregon avenue, $25; B. F. Hogue, small apartment house, $2000; D. W. Cox, dwelling on Oregon avenue, $750; George M. Barth, dwelling on Grant street, $1500; Henry Gloystein, dwelling on Look-out street, $1500; J. M. Gray, woodshed on Jefferson street, $40; Prater Melvin, dwelling and later garage on Mitchell street, $200; J. C. Bessler, a dwelling on Lakeview avenue, $300; B. W. Quick, garage and woodshed on Alameda street, $500; W. M. Swartsfager, garage on White street, $175; Mrs. M. and Miss Irene Anderson, dwelling on Sixth street, $800; Mrs. M. and Miss Irene Anderson, dwelling on Sixth street to cost $1500.

The applications for construction of business buildings that were held up pending examination of plans and specifications were the Christ Blanas apartment house to cost $75,000; the Charles Riley building on Main street between Eighth and Ninth streets, to cost $6000 and the J. P. Satterlee building on Klamath avenue near Sixth street to cost $7500.

At The LIBERTY

This message, scrawled with the end of a revolver bullet on a scrap of paper, is picked up by "Speed" Meredith, Texas Ranger, in the mouth of a huge dog, half wolf, and it leads into one of the most thrilling action stories ever written for the screen. Bob Custer plays the role of the ranger, and "Alaska," a dog with great promise, plays a stellar role "by himself." The combination makes great screen entertainment under the title of "The Range Terror," which comes to the Liberty theater today.

At the PINE TREE

And after the "I do"—what? The answer to this all-important question is a series of delightful scenes in the new marriage-comedy, "Lost—a Wife," a Paramount picture coming to the Pine Tree theater today.

Adolphe Menjou and Greta Nissen, Paramount's new blonde beauty from the land of the midnight sun, try to settle the question of who's boss after the wedding ceremony. They each win out in this case, yet the price paid is high. Menjou loses his wife on his wedding trip; Greta Nissen loses respect for her husband, divorces him and marries another man, the culmination of which proves to be one of the most delicious comedy scenes ever screened. Mr. de Mille has directed this with a delicate, whimsical sense of humor prefacing every scene.

Robert Agnew is the third featured player in the production, which comes to the Pine Tree theater today.

Riggs Schonchin Recovering From Bad Auto Crash

A broken rib of Riggs Schonchin, testifies to a near serious automobile accident on the Dalles-California highway north of the city, Sunday night. Schonchin with another companion was driving north. Another car was coming south. They met and Schonchin's car received the worst of it. The victorious automobile is reported to have turned around and fled back the road the same direction it came.

Ordinances Passed to Second Reading at Meeting Last Night

Ponderous legal machinery which must operate weeks before the paving plants and rock crushers can produce, was oiled last night at the city council meeting and four ordinances calling for the improvement of various streets, were passed to their second reading.

Street improvements that were covered by the preliminary endorsement of the ordinances were: Jefferson street, from Ninth to the Government canal; Lincoln street from Eleventh street east to Linkville cemetery; Washington street, from Seventh to Eighth, including the intersection on Seventh street; an alley which would lead from Seventh to Eighth street between Main and Pine streets.

That the city council would be acting in the best interests of the city if they would create a Second Dixon addition, was the opinion expressed by T. P. Henderson, resident manager of the Klamath Development company, in a written communication to the county. Mr. Henderson pointed out that with the development of that section, lots would be rapidly disposed of and more people would settle.

Although unofficially awarded the contract last week, W. D. Miller, contractor, received the official word last night that he had bid successfully on the Thirty-eighth improvement unit which calls for the surfacing of East Main street.

An ordinance was passed to its second reading, authorizing the mayor to enter into a contract with Charles N. Coseboom, local architect, for the drawing of plans for the new city library which will be erected in the near future.

While the council were discussing the library City Attorney Carnahan called their attention to the fact that the bond attorneys of Portland had finally approved of the library bonds and that no impediments stood in the way of construction of the municipal building.

Caleb Jones Will Re-enter Private Practice In City

When Caleb Jones retires from the district attorney's office in favor of E. L. Elliott, who was appointed to succeed William Ganong, who resigned as district attorney 10 days ago, he will again enter private practice in Klamath Falls.

"No, I have no intention of leaving the city," Mr. Jones said this morning, "but will again seek office quarters and start in a private practice."

Mr. Jones and Deputy District Attorney D. R. Vandenburg will turn over the keys to their respective offices to Mr. Elliott and his deputy, W. A. Wiest, on Saturday, August 1.

Martin Ramsby Wins Commission

Receiving the commission of second lieutenant and being subject to call at "notice," Martin Ramsby returned Sunday evening from Camp Lewis, where he has been in training for the past six weeks at the Washington camp. During his college years at O. A. C. Lieutenant Ramsby took a military course and the training which he just completed at Camp Lewis was a special course.

Before returning to the city with his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Martin, he enjoyed a delightful trip into Canada with a number of boy friends from California.

Friends of Lieutenant Ramsby are pleased to know of his commission and are in hopes he will continue to advance in army life.

Browning Recovers Brand New Roadster

Belief of the sheriff's office that the person who passed a number of bad checks in Klamath Falls stores Saturday night was the same person who stole a new roadster belonging to R. W. Browning from in front of 527 Klamath avenue proved unfounded last night when Constable Garry Cozad recovered the car in a vacant lot in Mills addition. The car had been driven 12 miles and abandoned.

No trace of the bad check artist has been uncovered by the sheriff's office.

new premium list for the Klamath County Fair is off the press and ready for distribution from the office of the Fair Board, Room "D", in the basement of the Court House. About 700 copies are being mailed to the list of farmers but anyone desiring extra copies or that copies be mailed to friends outside the county, may leave their names at the office of the Board who are always glad to send out this attractive little booklet.

Differing from other years, the premium list carries the advertisements of some 70 local firms and business concerns, occupying the opposite pages from the prize awards, rules and regulations, etc. throughout its 72 pages.

Through the courtesy of the Jackson County Fair Board and Medford Chamber of Commerce, some fifty copies will go for distribution to each of these factors, while the American National and First National Banks of this city will each have a generous supply for distribution.

The various divisions of the premium list team with interesting special prizes, which tend to stimulate keen competition and make for good featured rivalry among neighbor exhibitors.
