A public reception and meeting will be held at the Salvation Army headquarters, 619 Walnut avenue, starting at 8 o'clock tomorrow night. The visitors are all experienced musicians and will give a number of musical selections.

City And Railroad Dicker About Park

Negotiations for the purchase of the Riverside park by the Oregon Trunk railroad were opened last night before the city park board when G. E. Richmond, land agent for the railroad company, tried to ascertain the price the city set on its property and explained to the members of the board the reason why the road desired this particular piece of land.

The meeting, in substance, was just a sparring bout while the two parties, the city and the railroad company, felt each other out on the proposition.

Mr. Richmond told the board that he had been instructed to buy all the park property and would be willing to pay a just and equitable price for it.

The members of the park board took the position that a new city park site should be selected before the present city park is sold. A suggestion by Roy Durbin that Modoc park would be a plausible alternative did not raise notes of enthusiasm.

A committee of three members of the board will work on the possible purchase of the property, and next Tuesday some decision will have been reached. A meeting will be called for that night at which Richmond will again appear before the board and ascertain what action will be taken.

Dairymen Must Obtain Licenses

Certificates from a licensed veterinarian must be held by all dairymen or private owners of cattle who sell milk within the city, on and after August 21, 1925, according to an announcement made today by deputy state dairy and food commissioner, Dr. E. D. Lamb. The certificates must not date earlier than February, 1925, and anyone attempting to sell milk from cows which have not had the tuberculosis test will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law.

Dairymen and private owners of cattle who are desirous of having such tests made are requested to get in touch with the county agriculturalist's office at once.

Noted Principal Visits In Klamath

One of the most distinguished visitors Klamath Falls has had this summer is Professor C. N. Bentley, principal of the public schools of Boston, Mass., who with Mrs. Bentley is making a tour of the great northwest. In leaving their home in Boston, Prof. and Mrs. Bentley came by way of Niagara Falls, the Great lakes, through the Canadian wheat belt, the greatest in the world, Lake Louise, Banff, the beautiful Canadian summer resort, where people from all over the world gather during the summer months, Vancouver and Victoria, B. C., Washington, Oregon, coming over the Columbia highway drive, which Professor Bentley thinks one of the most beautiful drives he has ever taken in all his travels. "Oregon is one of the most beautiful spots in all the world," declared Professor Bentley. He was greatly impressed with the naturalness of the state. "Crater Lake amazed me with its wondrous beauty," he said. They left this morning for San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego, where they plan to visit before returning to their eastern home.

Jack McAuliffe Suffers Relapse

A sudden relapse has brought Jack McAuliffe, prominent Klamath sheepman, back to the hospital. Mr. McAuliffe nearly died as the result of being overcome by carbon monoxide gas fumes while driving to Lakeview in his car last month. Mr. McAuliffe's condition last week warranted his return to his ranch near Fort Klamath, and his physicians were certain that he was on the road to recovery until the relapse yesterday.
