Salem Railway Value Is Made

SALEM, Ore., Aug. 28.—The value of the Salem street railway property on December 31, 1923, is set for rate making purposes at $565,000, in an order of the public service commission today. Because, however, the company has since December, 1923, abandoned its lines on Summer and on Seventeenth streets, the order of the commission authorizes a deduction from the $565,000 figure of $34,000 to which is later to be added in capital value the amount of investment required for the substitution of automobile busses for the street car lines abandoned.

In a second order of the commission today the value of the fixed capital of the Eugene Street Railway property is set at $583,000, including "the double track not necessarily used and useful in the public service" for rate making purposes.

poses the commission set the value of the Eugene system at $541,000. Both the Salem and Eugene lines are owned by the Southern Pacific company which was a party to the hearing.

Advertisers Meet at Jacksonville

MEDFORD, Ore., Aug. 28.—One of the most important matters to be decided at the annual southern Oregon conference of Seventh Day Advertisers, which opened today at Jacksonville, will be the decision, whether or not a site near Jacksonville will be selected for the location of their college, formerly at Sutherlin.

Over 100 delegates are present from different parts of southern Oregon, Eugene, Marabfield, Klamath Falls and Roseburg.

VIENNAN.—Phosphorescent long-tailed frogs have been found in a subterranean lake near Innesbruck.

At the PINE TREE

An unusual and clever vaudeville bill was presented last night at the Pine Tree and will be repeated tonight. The several musical numbers were entertaining and the comedy and dancing acts were above the average. Prince Leo, the pony with the human brain, is marvelously intelligent and his stunts are mystifying, to say the least. Taken all together, it is a very enjoyable program.

Corinne Griffith added another leaf to the wreath of laurel with which she should be crowned for the standard of excellence of her pictures. "De classe," the picture which was presented last night at the Pine Tree, captivated a critical audience. The photography was beautiful in every respect. Many well known faces were seen in the cast supporting Miss Griffith. Among them were Lloyd Hughes, Hedda Hopper, Rockliffe Fellowes, Louise Fazenda, Clive Brook, Lilyan Tashman and others.

After a continuous run of more than seventy weeks in New York, an engagement of a year in London, and a brilliant road tour of the United States, "Sally," the Ziegfeld musical comedy hit, is now on the screen, with Colleen Moore as the star.

"Sally" holds the record for being perhaps the most successful musical comedy ever presented in America, having netted, it is declared, more than $4,000,000 in gross receipts. The picture will be shown at the Pine Tree Theatre Sunday.

At The LIBERTY

The train had passed the last place from which it could be flagged. The signal at her own station refused to work. How could she stop the train and still save her sister? Could she do both and hold out? See the answer at the Liberty tonight in "A Fight For Honor."

James Oliver Curwood's novel of the ever-moving outpost of civilization in the North—a tale of love, of conflict—a tale of men who lived like brutes and of one man who stood head and shoulders above the horde—who battled against them as he struggled across rugged mountains through howling storms—who conquered them at last—for the woman who stirred the depths of his heart.

And the woman—glorious, vibrant, magnetic—a woman for whom any red-blooded man would gladly fight. Add to this combination the lure of gold and you have a screen drama worth going miles to see.

Herman And Kaplin Draw

WATERBURY, Conn., Aug. 28. (AP)—Louis (Kid) Kaplin of Meriden, Conn., remains featherweight boxing champion of the world having fought a draw in his 15 round contest with the former Californian, Babe Herman, before 20,000 persons at Brasco park last night.

Several experts were inclined to favor Herman, who showed better generalship, but a whirlwind finish had much to do with the referee's decision. After the contest an examination revealed that Kaplin had suffered a broken finger in the eighth round. Kaplin said that after the eighth he had been able to use his right hand only as a guard.

In this sixth meeting between the two men there was clinching and dancing and few clean punches were landed. Herman fought his usual stand up battle while Kaplin apparently had little of the driving power he showed in fighting his way to the championship last winter in the tournament sponsored by the New York State Athletic commission. In his contests of the tournament he had whipped the soldier, Bobby Garcia, by a lightning attack in the final round and knocked out Danny Kramer of Philadelphia for the championship. In their six meetings, Kaplin and Herman have each won a bout and four have been declared draws. Herman was an alternate in the championship in the tournament. Last night's combat was staged after a scorching afternoon in which Kaplin barely managed to scale the 126 pounds which is the limit for his weight. Police had to be called before the weighing had been completed, Herman's manager claiming the title, because, as he said, the champion was over the limit. Representatives of the Connecticut boxing body, however, ended the argument by declaring that Kaplin had made the weight.
