

"COBB DAY" IS OBSERVED TODAY

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 29.—(AP)—A great city today paid tribute to a great ball player when Detroit officially extolled Tyras Raymond Cobb.

At Navin field this afternoon it was Cobb Day, with the 45-year-old veteran of 20 American league campaigns standing bareheaded at the plate and shaking hands with thousands of fans who passed in line by him.

Tonight he will be honored at a great banquet and presented with a $1,000 gift, paid for by the city of Detroit by a vote of the council at the suggestion of Mayor John W. Smith.

Speakers will include Cornelius McGillicuddy, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics; Jimmy Callahan, one time director of the White Sox; Billy Evans, veteran American league arbiter; "Bugs" Baer, a sport humorist; Frank J. Navin, owner of the Detroit club, and Mayor Smith.

Cobb came to Detroit August 30, 1905, when the city was inhabited by only 300,000 persons. Less than 1200 fans saw his debut in a game against New York.

Dick Cooley, a regular outfielder, was out of the line-up and Cobb, for want of any one else, took his place, batting fifth under "Wahoo Sam" Crawford, one of the greatest sluggers of his day.

Big Jack Chesbro, at the top of his splendid career, was pitching for New York. Matty McIntyre had doubled and scored on a single by Lindsay. Lindsay had been sacrificed to second by "Germany" Schaefer. Crawford tapped weakly at Chesbro and was thrown out.

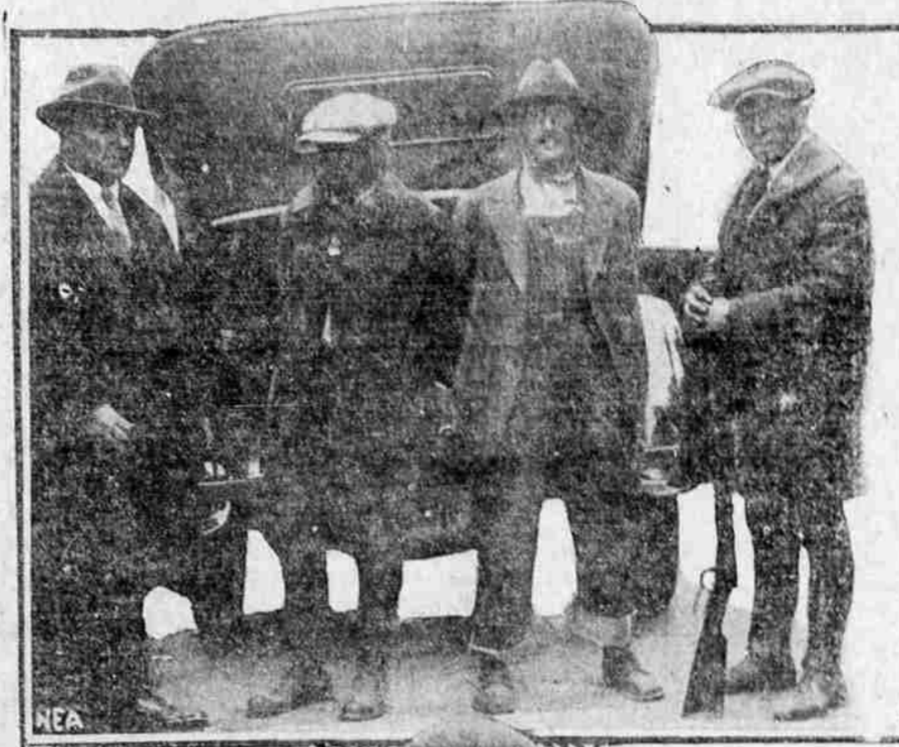

A man was on third and two out, with Cobb at bat. He lunged at the first ball and missed. He watched the second go by and heard Silk O'Loughlin call "strike tuh." Then Chesbro shot one waist high. Cobb drove the ball over the center fielder's head for a double.

Thus the "Georgia Peach" bloomed on his American league debut. He finished the 1905 season with a batting average of .240. It was the only season of his major league career he hit under .300.

Cobb came to Detroit for $750 paid the Augusta club. Five hundred dollars was the purchase price and $250 was added for mid-season delivery of the Georgia boy who had been hitting at a .326 clip in the south.

Oregon Desperadoes Captured

Once again back to prison, but this time to murderers' row, where they'll await the hangman's noose. The three convicts who killed two guards in their break from Oregon State Penitentiary, Salem, enjoyed but 10 days freedom. Poses tracked down, shown above, James Wilcox, left center, and Ellsworth Kelley, in overalls. The photo was taken just after the posse had surprised the two near Bingen, making camp with stolen provisions and a stolen car. Below is Tom Murray, desperado who was betrayed by a stool-pigeon in Chehalis, Wash., and captured. All three men had sworn to die before giving up, but none offered any resistance.

of the county along the east slope of the Cascades and is largely private owned timber.

Unjust Discrimination
That it would be unjust discrimination against the timber holders of the 100,000 acres just cruised, to place the increase on the tax rolls, is the contention of W. T. Lee, county assessor.

"It would be a different thing if the entire county was cruised and the increase noted; or if the cruising firm checked different sections of timber and then struck a happy medium for the increase," Lee said this morning.

Should Be Fair
"But it would obviously be unjust discrimination if we taxed those unfortunate enough to be included in the 100,000 acres cruised and then turn right around and tax the rest of the timber owners whose holdings are based upon the original county cruise."

The increase will not be on the tax rolls when the board of equalization meets the second week in September, it was learned today. Final report of the cruise came too late to place the increase on the rolls.

STRAHORN SEEKS STATE HEARING

The crossing privilege was not granted by the city of Klamath Falls records disclose. Twice resolutions were passed granting the railroad permission to cross, but each time the resolutions were vetoed by Mayor Goddard, and the council failed to pass the franchise over his veto.

Statements False
Any statement to the effect that the city of Klamath Falls granted to the Strahorn railroad the right to cross Sixth street, is false according to city officials today.

When the question of the Sixth street crossing was first brought to the attention of the public service commission, it decided that the city should first approve the crossing before any action would be taken by the commission in approving or condemning the move.

With the city refusing to approve the crossing without inclusion of the common user clause the crossing question has been at a deadlock for the past two months.

WOMEN RETARD ARMY ENLISTMENTS, SAYS BRITON

LONDON, Aug. 29. (AP)—The territorial army is not being kept up to its establishment strength because of "women, trade unions and motorcycles," said Lord Raglan in the House of Lords recently. He declared that young men were not joining the territorials in sufficient numbers and the causes mentioned had been "enemies" of the territorial army since the war.

Women, he said, did not want their husbands and sweethearts to join, and while the young man of pre-war days found the territorial army one way of getting off into the country, today he uses a motorcycle.

COST OF LIVING IN RUMANIA RISES

BUCHAREST. (AP)—There is a conspicuous rise in the cost of living in Rumania as compared with last year. The Argus points out that food has risen 18 points over the level of August last year, nearly 56 points and such articles as soap, firewood, paper, petroleum, 31 points.

The average of prices in 1925, the Argus points out, is about 46 per cent higher than a year ago.

At the PINE TREE

Ziegfeld's "Sally" has left his tender care and now is in the movies.

Collene Moore is the new "Sally," as revealed Sunday on the screen at the Pine Tree theatre. She is altogether a charming and personable heroine, delighting her audience with moments of hoydenish humor, much human interest and no little genuine drama. As a starring vehicle for Colleen Moore, "Sally" truly exceeds even such successes of "Flaming Youth" and the recent "So Big." It provides this dainty story with the means of proving there is, apparently, no limit to her versatility.

First we discover "Sally" as the forlorn little inmate of a foundling home. Then we see her as the drudge in the kitchen of the Elm Tree Inn. Quickly the action shifts and by a series of circumstances "Sally" is plunged into the vortex of a gay life as revealed at the lawn fete of a multi-millionaire. Here is where we glimpse a new and different "Sally," gorgeous in her lovely raiment, impersonating a noted Russian dancer. There is a pretty love thread running thru this screen version.

Lloyd Hughes is Miss Moore's leading man. Leon Errol, who was in the original stage version, is seen in his same role in the film. He is exceedingly funny and does nobly in enhancing the scenes with Miss Moore.

At The LIBERTY

One of the most heroic narratives which has been recorded in the newspapers for many a moon—that of the men and dogs who covered the long trail from Nenana to Nome, carrying the precious serum to relieve a stricken city—is called to mind by the production "The Hunted Woman." The screen offering booked for a two-day run at the Liberty on Sunday and Monday, is adapted from James Oliver Curwood's novel about the vast reaches of the Northland. In this story are depicted the constant titanic struggles of men against the seemingly insurmountable forces of nature and of man over raging storms and rough ice-covered fields that impede his progress.

In this respect the film runs closely parallel to the courageous exploits of Kasson, who, despite a blizzard and a 90 mile gale, carried on to the end. That several dogs of the team died from frozen lungs is evidence of the extreme hardship which Kasson faced undaunted. How Kasson himself came through and lived is a miracle.

TIMBER CRUISE SHOWS INCREASE to the county from timber taxation would be increased by approximately $35,600 annually, according to the assessor's office.

Increase of 5,000
If the increase from the 100,000 acres just completed is placed upon the tax rolls, the increase in annual revenue to the county from taxation of timber will be $5,000 a year.

Specifically, the Portland timber cruising firm for the sum of $20,159.20, or 20 cents an acre, cruised 100,796 acres of timber land lying without the reservation. The timber acreage lay in the following townships and ranges: Townships 33, S. R. 5 E. 38 S. R. 6 E.; 38 S. R. 7 E.; 37 S. R. 7 E.; 39 S. R. 5 E.; 39 S. R. 5 E.; 39 S. R. 6 E.; 39 S. R. 7 E.; 40 S. R. 5 E.; 40 S. R. 6 E.
