STAMPEDED

It looks very much as if the Southern Pacific has been stampeded. Today announcement is made of the proposed construction of another line, this latest railroad being projected through the Tule lake valley. But a few weeks ago the people of Merrill and Malin were told that if they encouraged the coming of the Northern lines it would mean they would receive no help from the Southern Pacific and the result would be they would secure no rail transportation at all. The people in that territory turned a deaf ear to the threat, and then the Southern Pacific promised a spur line to Cornell. This did not answer, and now comes the promise of a through line.

This latest move will receive the same consideration given former promises—the people of the Merrill and Tule lake section are going to continue to demand the construction of a through line with a common user provision, so that they will not be at the mercy of one railroad, but have the benefit of the competition of all lines.

Mr. Sproule in his statement says: "It is proper to say, however, that there is not enough traffic existing or potential to support the proposed extension of the Northern lines from Bend to Klamath Falls in addition to our own very comprehensive plans, AND THIS FACT IS OF FIRST CONSEQUENCE TO US."

The people of Klamath county, and Eastern Oregon as well, want the Northern lines extension, and this fact is of first consequence to them. They know that if the Northern lines are extended it will mean the development of Eastern Oregon to its fullest extent. The people of Klamath county know that with a competing line the resources of the country will be developed to the maximum. Bottle Klamath county as it has been bottled and it will remain just as it has remained ever since the Southern Pacific scrapped the railroad plans of E. H. Harriman.

Those who have given any thought to the announced plans of the Southern Pacific know that if the Black Butte cut off is built, that the road through Tule lake will not be constructed. They also know that the extension of the Strahorn line to Lakeview and the broad-gauging of the N. C. O. would sound a death knell to any eastern outlet by way of Tule lake valley and Alturas.

The statement that if the Northern lines are granted permission to build into Klamath county it will mean the abandonment of the construction program of the Southern Pacific carries no terrors to the people here. If the lines proposed by the Southern Pacific are not constructed by that company, they will be built by the Northern lines and when built by them they will be open to use by the Southern Pacific under the common user provisions. While no announcement has been made by the Northern lines that they plan any southern extension, such a move may now be looked for, otherwise the Southern Pacific would not be promising the line to the south. It evidently has secured an inkling that the Northern lines contemplate such a move and is hastening to lock it by this latest announcement.

The one thing for the people of Klamath county to do is to continue to demand the Northern lines, and if they get them, then their worries will be over, so far as railroad development in this part of the state is concerned.

COUNTY EXHIBIT WILL BE SHOWN AT STATE FAIR

Potatoes, dairy products, grain and forage crops.

These are the four crops which will be featured by Klamath county in the county exhibit at the state fair September 28.

There will be other crops, County Agent Henderson admitted, but the features will be the four above named.

In selecting what should be stressed in the county exhibit, the county agent's office considered potatoes and dairy products of primary importance despite the fact that the livestock industry is larger in the county.

Various vegetables will be included in the county display, including some of the exceptional specimens of sugar beets. Although Klamath Falls chalked up an average score at the fair, it is hoped and predicted that last year's mark will be beaten.

The county agent's office is busy selecting the exhibits that will be shown at the fair.

Sam Dehlinger, Klamath farmer, and blue ribbon winner at the county fair, has announced that he will enter the potato division at the fair, Cortez & Miller, truck gardeners, are entering the vegetable field with exhibits in five different divisions.

Campaign Speaker To Address Forum

A. E. Clark, one of the prominent attorneys of Portland, will speak before the chamber of commerce forum luncheon tomorrow noon. Clark spoke in Klamath county during the last campaign for Coolidge.

New Items Of Interest From Oregon Cities

MINER IS HELD

Dave Arthur, foreman of the Mother Lode mine, was bound over to the grand jury yesterday on a charge of manslaughter by Judge George E. Allen, after he had waived a preliminary hearing. His bond was fixed at $2000.

A coroner's jury Wednesday night found that Mr. Arthur, striking in self defense, was responsible for the death of G. C. Tucker, but the case will go to the grand jury which meets in October, according to Leland S. Finch, district attorney. — Baker Democrat.

BUYS PLANING MILL

A half interest in the A. M. Hansen planing mill at Mill and Church streets has been purchased by William L. Liljequist, for nearly 19 years local manager of the Spaulding Logging company plant at McMinnville. Mr. and Mrs. Liljequist have moved to Salem and taken a home on Mill street.

It was stated at the Hansen mill today that for the present no additions or enlargements are contemplated under the new man-such plans would be worked out in the future.—Salem Journal.

WOMAN OFFICIAL QUILTS

Miss Edna Ward, treasurer of Lane county for the past seven years, yesterday tendered her resignation to the county court, to take effect October 1.

Miss Ward was elected to the office on the Republican ticket in 1918 and served the two year term, being re-elected in 1920. The new law extending the term of county offices from two years to four years was enacted after that and she served the four year term being elected for a third term in 1924. She was elected each time practically without opposition. — Eugene Register.

MRS. J. O. BOOTH DIES

Mrs. J. O. Booth, well known to residents of Eugene, and sister in law of R. A. Booth, died last evening in Los Angeles, according to word received here. Funeral services will be Sunday at 2 p. m. at Grants Pass. Mrs. Booth crossed the plains in '53. She was a sister of Mrs. Amy LaRaut whose funeral was held here two weeks ago. — Eugene Guard.

LONGFELLOWS TO MEET

The third banquet of the Marshfield Longfellow club will be held in the Chandler hotel next Friday evening, September 18, Earl W. Murphy, elevated inklinger of the elongated organization, announced today.

The program of the feast has not yet been definitely arranged but part of it will be devoted to an account of new offsprings of the mother chapter in various parts of the country.

Ben Osting high exalted beano, will "do his stuff" at the head of the table, as usual.—Marshfield News.

GRAND JURY CALLED

A special session of the grand jury convened yesterday to hear criminal matters. The session was called by Circuit Judge C. M. Thomas at the request of the district attorney's office, which desires to have all matters disposed of before the opening of the fall term of court, October 19, when one of the heaviest criminal dockets in months will be on the calendar.—Ashland Tidings.

SINNOTT IN BEND

On a tour of central Oregon, Congressman N. J. Sinnott was in Bend this afternoon from The Dalles on his way to Burns. He will spend several days in the central Oregon country looking after the interests of his constituents.—Bend Bulletin.

CLUB PLANS WORK

After a period of suspended animation during the summer vacation, the Crater club will begin activities this month with a schedule which promises to be keeping the Booster organization busy.

The first date on the Crater calendar is the invitation of the Kiwanis club to view the film "Safety at Sea," at the Rialto theatre at 12:45 p. m. Monday September 14. On the same day a joint meeting of all service clubs of the city, including Rotary, Lions, Kiwanis and Craters will be held at the hotel Medford at 5:30 in observance of Constitution day. An excellent program and banquet has been arranged for this meeting with Professor Irving E. Vining as the principal speaker.

On Monday, September 21, the Crater club will enjoy a hilarious banquet and entertainment at the hotel Medford at 6:30 p. m. the feature of the evening being furnished by the California Oregon Power company men, who are members of the Crater club. Some time ago the club staged a "light opera" for the special benefit of the Copeco and the September 21 entertainment will be a "come back" on this affair.—Medford Sun.

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON. — "For blind, sickening, unreasoning terror," said and army aviator, "life hasn't anything to offer equal to the sensations of a man's first parachute jump. I mean letting go for the drop. After the chute opens it's all right. Anticipation's the killing part.

"When the United States entered the war, I was cast for an artillery observer. After a little preliminary training they strapped a parachute on my back, looking and feeling as little like anything that would let me down easy as any other little package from a dry goods store.

"They showed me how to pull the ring that opened it, and then they bundled me into the basket with the instructor. Up shot the balloon. I was scared to death to begin with.

"Whoosh! I shot down, maybe a hundred feet. Up went my vitals into my throat, just as your insides do when an elevator sinks from under you too fast—only a thousand times worse. I gave the ring a yank.

"What's that you say? You'd think a man'd be too frightened to pull the ring?"

"Don't you believe it. That's one thing he isn't too frightened to do. I pulled it all right.

"Snap! It was the chute opening up overhead. Yoop! I felt an awful jerk, nearly tearing me apart.

"Swish! Down went my giblets to the soles of my feet—the elevator act again, only coming to a sharp stop this time, after a swift slump down the the shaft.

"And then I felt myself away gently in the air, with the earth coming up to meet me, not very fast."
