WASHINGTON COACH CONDUCTS SCHOOL FOR FOOTBALL MENTORS

SEATTLE.—(AP)—A school where the finer points of football are taught ran six weeks this summer at the University of Washington under Coach Enoch Bagshaw.

Bagshaw had 30 pupils, youths and men. Most of the older men were high school coaches in small towns or men appointed to conduct physical education departments where football coaching was necessary.

Three days a week Bagshaw gave oral instruction in theory. On the other two days he took his pupils to the gridiron and illustrated what he had told them in class.

One man was flunked on the ground that it would be wrong to let him teach what football he knew.
