Rider Killed In Horse Race

Head Strikes Limb And Skull is Fractured

YREKA, Calif., Oct. 8. —(Special to the Herald.)—While running a raccoon-horseback with a companion near the Mill creek school house in Quartz valley, Lawrence Goodwin, 30, of Quartz valley, sustained a fractured skull when he struck a tree with his head, dying within 20 minutes after the accident.

Goodwin was trying to gain the lead when he leaned over the side of his horse to avoid being struck by limbs from another tree and his head crashed against the second tree with terrific force. Medical aid was summoned, but Goodwin failed to rally.

Goodwin is survived by a widow and children. He was a veteran of the world war and he married Miss Nellie Henry of Quartz valley several years ago. Funeral services were held at Fort Jones.

Disease Increase Is Noted in September

A decided increase in disease over the two previous months was revealed this morning in the September health report of the county health unit.

Fifty four cases were reported to County Health Officer Dr. G. S. Newcom during September, whereas the August report reveals but 31 cases and July 19.

Of the 54 cases, 32 were placed under quarantine. Nine typhoid cases were under observation of the county health unit; 12 scarlet fever cases; four chicken pox cases; 11 of whooping cough, and one of measles.

Thirty five dairies were inspected by the county health department and three nuisances were abated.

RIVERS STOCKED WITH MILLIONS OF SMALL TROUT

Game Fish Are Liberated in 18 Klamath Streams and Lakes This Year

To counteract the effect of an ever-increasing army of anglers, over two million small trout were planted this year in streams and lakes of the Upper Klamath basin region it was announced today.

To be exact, 2,138,836 wriggling two inchers were liberated in the cold clear waters of many Klamath streams. They were held at the Klamath hatchery through the hatching period until they had attained a size when they would at least stand an even break in the struggle for existence.

Loch Leven Planted
An innovation was introduced this year in the planting of Loch Leven trout, shipped here from Montana. Anxious to secure trout that would thrive in the cold clear snow fed lakes on the upper reaches of the Cascades, the game commission decided to try out the Loch Leven species. Thousands were planted in lakes and several large batches liberated in streams.

As has been the case in the past, more rainbow trout were hatched and liberated at Klamath hatchery on Crooked creek than other species. Under the supervision of Percy Southwick, hatchery superintendent, and his former assistant, J. H. Short, 1,102,450 rainbow trout were planted; 645,350 Loch Leven trout were released; and 291,036 were turned loose.

Favor Wood River
The policy of favoring the egg taking streams, such as Wood River, Seven Mile creek and others, was followed by hatchery officials in planting this summer. Their theory was that trout return to the stream where they are liberated, and that the egg taking streams would become better as years passed.

Following is an authentic list of species and number of fish planted in each Klamath stream and lake:

Stream	Rainbow	Eastern Brook	Loch Leven
Spring Creek	35,000	54,436	34,650
Williamson River	129,400
Wood River	326,450
Seven Mile Creek	99,200	19,200	25,800

Expect To Bag Deer By Using Bow And Arrow

Trio of Experts Invade Siskiyou Without Guns

YREKA, Calif., Oct. 8. —(Special to the Herald.)—Three men have entered the rugged wilderness of the Siskiyou beyond Selad valley to bring the limit bag of blacktail bucks to civilization, armed only with bow and arrow.

The hunters, who left every firearm at home and who are reliant on their skill as archers to get enough meat to live on during their travels over the mountain trails are Dr. E. K. Roberts, a noted archer of Ventura; Earl Stanley Gardner, short story writer, and J. V. McTimmonds, owner of the Flyint M ranch near Selad valley. Dr. Roberts won his first fame as an archer when he killed several wild boars of Santa Cruz Island, the first time this feat had been attempted.

McTimmonds is a veteran of the Siskiyou and a dead shot with a rifle, but this is his first attempt with the bow and arrow. Gardner's stories are widely known to readers of popular magazines and from his experiences on the trip, he plans to weave a series of stories and articles with the scenes laid in Siskiyou.

The bows used are six feet long with a pull of 85 pounds at the string when fully drawn and they will hurl steel tipped arrows accurately to a maximum distance of 175 yards.

The party will return late this week.

BOARD MEETS TODAY
Consideration and passage of bills that have accrued during the past month took up the early part of the county school board meeting this afternoon. The board convened in the county superintendent's office.

MARX AWAY
William Marx, local attorney left this afternoon for Medford where he will appear as a witness in one of the federal cases which will open tomorrow morning. Mr. Marx will be away until next Saturday.

Hines Is Arrested On Liquor Charge

H. H. Hines, who bears the distinction of being the only man of 52 arrested in the famous "Cabbage Patch" raid several months ago who was convicted on a liquor charge, was again arrested last night on the charge of selling moonshine whiskey to two Indians.

The two Indians, J. Turner and John Ball, were fined $25 and $20, respectively this morning by Police Judge Lem L. Gaghagen on a charge of being intoxicated.

Hines was arrested last night near the so-called "Black Politan" adjacent to Broad street, by Patrolman Morgan and Lewis. He is in custody in the city jail and a charge of sale of intoxicating liquor will be preferred.

LOOK OUT FOR SELF POISONING

Neglect of the liver results in self-poisoning! Not so quickly, perhaps, but just as surely as if you drank poison out of a bottle. If your liver is not doing its work of helping digestion, eliminating waste from the bowels and purifying the blood, you will always be troubled with sick headaches, nausea, biliousness, bad breath, gas, sour stomach, or constipation.

Cleanse and tone your liver! Put your system in condition so you feel your very best again! Try just a spoonful of Dr. H. S. Thacher's excellent Liver and Blood Syrup after the next few meals and notice the quick improvement in the way you eat, sleep, look and feel—the return of strength, vigor and energy. You will be completely satisfied; otherwise there will be no cost. Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup is sold and recommended by Star Drug Store and all other leading druggists.
