Medford Votes for New Water System

MEDFORD, Ore., Oct. 9.—By an overwhelming majority the people of Medford at a special election yesterday voted for a new city water system with a source at Big Butte Springs, over 30 miles away, to cost when completed $975,000.

A bond issue of $50,000 for a new temporary city hall was also voted three to one, it being understood that this building will be used as a temporary court house, in case the people of Jackson county vote to move the present court house at Jacksonville to this city.

KENO

R. W. Tower, a former resident of this district, but now owner of a ranch at Lebanon, stopped in Keno, on his way to Klamath Falls the last of the week.

Mrs. Ivan Bernard and infant son arrived at their home in Keno Sunday from Algoma.

Maurice O'Keefe, of Chiloquin, was a guest at the Stocker home over the week-end.

When the musicians for the Keno dance failed to appear Saturday night, a number of local young folks motored to Malin to the dance there. An enjoyable time was reported.

Jessie Puckett, Rita Kane, and Mary and Edna Kerms enjoyed a horseback ride over the country side Sunday.

Among the local people who transacted business in Klamath Falls Wednesday were: John Taylor, Rosa Slimmers, Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Puckett and C. Snowgoose and his son and daughter.

By the installation of a radio set, Mr. Prather has made his store a place of pleasure as well as business.

The recent rain and overcast sky has caused several farmers to anxiously scan the heavens and hope for the sun to shine because it is well-nigh impossible to thresh wet grain.

At The LIBERTY

Can Buck Jones do trick riding? Oh, boy, does a bronc eat hay? a question can be satisfactorily answered with another query, there is the correct solution. And you don't have to look in the back of the book to see if the answer is right. Just go the Liberty where Buck Jones flashes his stuff on the screen in "The Trail Rider," tonight.

It lives up to its title! That's the one, big, outstandingly important fact about "Adventure"—it lives up to its title!

Adventure! The dictionary declines it as: "the encountering of risks: a bold undertaking, in which hazards are to be met and the issue hangs upon unforeseen events." Magnify old Noah Webster's definition with all the superlatives you can think of and still you will come short of getting an accurate impression of this picture, At the Liberty Sunday.

At the PINE TREE

Comedy, drama, Viola Dana, and girls, girls, girls! That's the description of the star's latest picture, "The Beauty Prize," which opened last night the the Pine Tree theatre, and a delightfully entertaining picture it is, too!

Miss Dana appears as a New York manicurist who wins the national beauty title of "Miss America," and then gives away the $2,000 prize money she needs so badly. The star is peppier than ever, and certainly looks as if she could win any beauty contest anywhere. Pat O'Malley is splendid as the hero.

"The biggest cast of the year" is the claim made for "Broken Barriers," which is coming to the Pine Tree theatre on Sunday. This picture, which was adapted from Meredith Nicholson's novel of the problems that arise in modern society because of the divorce question, has among its players some of the best-known actors in pictures.

Included in the cast are James Kirkwood, Mae Busch, Norma Shearer, Adolphe Menjou, George Fawcett, Robert Frazer, Ruth Stonehouse, Winifred Bryson, Robert Agnew, Vera Reynolds, Edythe Chapman, Margaret McWade, George Kuwa,

REWARD FOR REVEALING BANDIT'S HIDING PLACE ENRICH BULGARIAN

HASKOVO, Bulgaria.—(AP)—Dimo Marcheff, a goat-herder, has become a rich man for revealing to the police the mountain hiding place of Mitu Ganef, notorious chief of a robber band. Marcheff had been one of the bandit's victims for a long time, being obliged to furnish food and other supplies. Consequently, it afforded him great pleasure to guide the police to Ganef's hiding place.

As a reward the ministry of the interior presented Marcheff with 40,000 lire; the district of Haskovo gave him 200 sheep and a money reward, and the community of Susam has set aside a site, upon which the villagers will build a house for him.
