

SOCIETY

PORTRAIT
FINELY chiseled features Smooth, even.
 A face expressing nobility
 Of thought
 And of breeding.
 Thus, oh, best friend of mine,
 I see you in my dreams, Always a help and a Guiding force toward
 All that is good,
 And an inspiration to Become worthy of Claiming you for a friend.

DONT spend time in vain regrets that summer was so short. Why lament the fact that too fleeting a time was yours to enjoy yourself?
 Do you know that joy and the power to enjoy life need not pertain to playtime.
 Work ought to be pleasurable.
 Life ought to hold in its working hours possibilities for growth and happiness. If you cannot contemplate this in the coming months, then it is time to change your line of conduct. Look at the fields of summer. There would be no fall harvest if work had not been done.
 If you are not rested, rejuvenated, ready for the work of the year, something has been missing in your summer.

In society circles the betwixt and between season has reached us. We have done the things we intended to do in the summer and have not yet begun the things we intend to do in the fall. It is a period of transition and is taken up primarily with plans for getting settled for the winter and preparing wardrobes for the coming season. Fashion shows have been of more immediate interest than luncheons and dinners, and excursions to the shops are interrupted only by the most informal affairs.

Where shall we find happiness?
 Every human being has his moments of selfishness, of self sacrifice and altruism. But with exceptions that are rare, the persistent struggle and thought is for individual happiness and contentment.
 Keep a record of the joys which come to you day by day, though they be no larger than a pleasant letter, a pretty flower, a sunset which inspires a sense of devotion which often a prayer cannot accomplish.

Think of the change in the atmosphere, in the office, in any place wherever one works or stays, if each one made a point of remembering the pleasant things of the day and contributed them to the conversation. Happiness would find such a "pleasure" a congenial abiding place and be both to leave. It is the person who squeezes the everyday happenings until it forces out of them even a tiny drop of joy that really lives. Such a joy seeker scorns to merely exist; scorns to wish and not something toward attaining a wish; scorns to lull the normal craving for action with the reading of romance and activities of other lives.

The man or woman worthy of the name is on the alert for each throbbing opportunity, be it great or small, which may hold a priceless drop of the elixir of life.
 If you would be happy do not despise the common-places. This is the material of which the biggest part of the average life is fashioned —the commonplace.

When you rise address your day with a businesslike air so: "You owe me a certain amount of joy today, a pretty good heap of it in fact, and I mean to see you pay your debt." And then seek joy stick to your throat. If nothing succeeds like success, we may well add that nothing generates joy more quickly than being joyful, and one little seed of determined joy planted, even with an effort at snup, will blossom luxuriantly throughout the day. And just a tip—one of the surest ways is to give another happiness, feel the thrill of another's gratitude—this giving of the very things for which we seek has a magic in it that works wonders.
 Adopt the gentle art of finding beautiful in the sordid—the commonplace. Assuredly, there must be stars in your sky, but—"On a dark night and in a dangerous place, where the footing is insecure, a lance is worth a dozen stars."

THREE GENERATIONS CARRIED OUT IN TABLEAU VIVANT

PERHAPS the most unusual and interesting gathering of the Library club, was that of Friday afternoon over which Mrs. W. W. Mc-Neely and Mrs. Allen Soan presided. The matrons had chosen as their subject "Three Generations of Housekeepers," which was carried out in tableau vivant in a most clever and capable manner by a number of the matrons of the city. "Colonial Days" being carried out by Mrs.
 Fred Murphy, Mrs. Carey Ramsby and wee Betty Jeanne Brown. "The Covered Wagon" days by Mrs. Harry Ackley and Mrs. R. A. Emmitt. Coming to the "Modern Day", Mrs.
 Charles Martin, Mrs. S. E. Martin, Mrs. Merle West, and Mrs. Mary Moore took parts.

An enjoyable musical program by a number of the city's talented musicians was greatly enjoyed, including Piano solo, Colonial Period, Pad-erweski Minuet—Mrs. R. Austin.
 Violin solo, Covered Wagon period Old Songs—Max Brown.

Vocal solo, Modern period, Contentment—Mrs. C. R. Lucas, accompanied Mrs. Don Zumwalt.

Through the kindness of over 30 many donors the matrons were able to make the tableaux a success and they are more than grateful for the assistance given them.

Among those who contributed were Mrs. L. L. Truax, Mrs. Elinor Yarden, Mrs. A. B. Epperson, Mrs.
 E. S. Phillips, Mrs. Amanda Hammaker, Mrs. R. E. Wattenburg, Mrs.

 ton, Mr. Claude Davis, Mr. Harry Borrell, Mr. R. I. Hammond, Mr.
 Dick Murdock and Mr. and Mrs.
 Peasley.

THURSDAY MARKED THE BIRTHDAY OF THREE CHUMS

THURSDAY, October eighth, marked the birthday of three girls of the younger social set. The girls, Mary Ellen Bradford, Alexis Lyle and Jane Garcelon, who for the past eight years have been school chums, each year plan some social function which will honor all three. This year Jane Garcelon was hostess at a theatre party at the Pine Tree Theatre.

STUDY CLUB HEARS INTERESTING REVIEW

IN a most capable manner, Miss Maybelle Leavitt reviewed "The Scarlet Cockerel" by Sublette, before the members of the Study club of the Library on Monday afternoon.
 Those present feeling that her review was much more interesting than the book. At the next gathering of the club members on Monday, November second, Mrs. Bernard Rea will give a book review of "The Carolinian". Much interest has been shown by the women of the city in the meetings of the club this fall and it would appear that this season will be the most successful the club has known.

Stabilizing the Farm Income

ALTHOUGH but one of several important ways of stabilizing the farm income, diversification of crops, combined with the addition of a well balanced dairy herd, is of no doubt the most important. The workability and saneness of this method is the same as that exemplified by the business man who scatters his investments so that a single failure cannot exhaust his resources.

In our cooperation with the farmers of this section, the First National bank has seen the benefits of diversified farming indelibly impressed upon the progress of this community. We believe that more general practice along this line will do much to permanently better local agricultural conditions and are therefore unsparing in our encouragement in this regard.

Are you going to the Pacific International Livestock Exposition at Portland, October 31st to November 7th? It is an unequalled opportunity to benefit in livestock raising by the experience of others. The very best in the country will be featured in Beef and Dairy Cattle, Horses, Hogs, Sheep, Goats and Poultry; also Land Products Show and the thrilling Horse Show.
