YOUTH BELIEVED SLAIN BY RIVAL WHO STOLE GIRL

Sensational Clue Uncovered in Murder Mystery at Eureka, California

INTERCEPT LETTERS

Posse Starts for Camp in Hills on Information Gleaned from Missive

EUREKA, Calif., Oct. 15.—(A.P.)—Evidence that Henry Sweet, Dyerville youth, who was mysteriously shot to death in his auto on the highway south of here, was slain from ambush, and that his companion, Carmen Wagner, Eureka manicurist, was abducted, developed today. An empty rifle shell was found behind a rock near the scene, and a bullet hole was found in a fence rail on the opposite side of the highway.

Search for the girl is being continued today throughout the hill regions. An intercepted letter from an unnamed Eureka suitor developed a fresh clue indicating that the girl and her supposed captor may be at Morgan camp, an isolated point 25 miles northeast of Eureka. An armed sheriff's detail has been sent to that place.

Other evidence is apparent indicating that Sweet might have been murdered with his own hunting rifle. The gun was found fully loaded, but one shell had been extracted from his cartridge belt, and apparently placed in the gun. The calibre of the shell found behind the rock was the same as Sweet's rifle.

LUMBER WORKER PICKS DAY AND STEALS MACHINE

L. O. Arens Left in Klamath Holding Sack; 48 Hour Head Start

He picked his day, did George Morton, formerly a workman at the Algoma Lumber company box factory.

He picked it with taste and discretion and as a result he is far, far, away with a neat Chevrolet roadster while Lou Arens, owner of the Chevrolet garage, is "holding the sack" with a worthless check of $375.

Morton, a nice appearing chap, signified his willingness to buy a small second hand car last Sunday morning. One of Arens' salesmen hesitated and then took Morton's check for the full amount.

Monday was a holiday, Columbus day, and the banks were closed. Tuesday morning officials at a local bank gently but firmly informed Arens that Morton did not have an account at the bank.

Morton with a head start of 48 hours might be anywhere, authorities admit. A warrant has been issued for his arrest. He had been working for a week at Algoma. Nothing is known of his record before taking a job at Algoma.

Newell, Dalton Henderson Are On New Board

Local Body to Probe Qualifications Of Settlers

To insure the best type of settlers for Klamath, a board of examiners whose duty it is to investigate the qualifications of settlers desiring to file on government agricultural land, has been created by Secretary of the Interior Hubert Work and Reclamation Commissioner Elwood Meade, according to announcement here today. The board is composed of W. C. Dalton, Malin rancher, C. A. Henderson, county agent, and H. D. Newell, project manager of the Klamath irrigation district.

In the instructions to the new board, it was brought out that ex-service men were to be given precedence in filing on the land. Bearing out his policy as expressed here, of selective settlement, Secretary Work instructed the board to examine settlers who wanted to file on the following points: available capital to support the land; industry; character and previous experience in agricultural pursuits.

The members of the board will not be reimbursed for their work on the board, Mr. Meade stated.

O. T. CONFIDENT; SHOWN BY BUY- ING PROPERTY

Van Riper and Alphonse Fitch Sell Holdings to North- ern Rail Lines

Just as if there were no question of their being allowed to enter the Klamath territory, the Oregon Trunk railroad acquired yesterday another piece of property on south Riverside owned by Garret Van Riper and Alphonse Fitch for a consideration of over $1000.

The piece of property, which faces on South Riverside street, is 80 by 100. The deal was negotiated by G. B. Richmond, land agent for the Northern lines.

According to reports, but one piece of property remains to be purchased by the Northern lines to complete an unobstructed right of way up South Riverside to Main street, and that is the land owned by Ella Lewis, adjacent to the property formerly owned by Charles DeLap.

O. A. McCOURD DIES SUDDENLY ON S. P. TRAIN

Man Passes Away 24 Hours After Passing Physical Examination

Twenty four hours after he had passed a perfect physical examination, O. A. McCourd, Southern Pacific railroad construction clerk, dropped dead shortly before noon today in a caboose at Paunina. McCourd had secured a job, working under Assistant Chief Engineer C. H. Beatle and was on his way to assume his new duties when death laid its hand on him.

Yesterday, according to reports at the county coroner's office, McCourd had been examined and adjudged in perfect physical condition by a local doctor.

Little was known of McCourd by Southern Pacific authorities here. The body was scheduled to arrive here from Paunina this afternoon. An autopsy will be performed to determine the cause of his sudden death.

TODD READY TO START TROUBLE IN DOVERY CASE

Deposed Mayor of Kelso Wants to Stage Mass Meeting at Eugene

ALLEGES FRAME-UP

Says he Will get Clarence Darrow to Appear Dur- ing Murder Trial

EUGENE, Ore., Oct. 15.—Emphatic disapproval of A. Ruric Todd, deposed mayor of Kelso, Wash., and his proposed mass meeting at the Eugene Armory tonight has been voiced by Mayor E. B. Parks of this city.

"I am against anything of this kind," Mayor Parks said. "I cannot say that an address by Todd on the subject of the Dovery murder will be of any benefit to the citizens of Eugene. What he expects to gain by coming here is beyond my comprehension. It is Kelso's fight, and it should stay there."

Todd, when questioned directly as to his purpose here said:

"This is Dovery's home town and I want to awaken public sentiment to the true situation. The newspaper stories have been colored by correspondents and were not true accounts."

Todd is contradicting the hold-up theory in the Dovery murder case, and declares that Luke S. May, Seattle criminologist, is bungling the case.

Todd stated yesterday that efforts would be made to get Clarence Darrow or some other lawyer of equal prominence to handle the case as soon as his investigations were completed.

Death Claims Sen. Ralston

Junior Solon From In- diana Succumbs to Disease

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 15.—(A.P.)—Samuel Ralston, 67, junior United States senator from Indiana, and venerated patriarch of Indiana democracy died at his estate, Hoosier Home, near here last night, after an illness of six weeks.

Death came to the senator after 22 hours of unconsciousness climaxing an attack of uremic poisoning which had confined him to his bed since September 5, and which had impaired his health since early this year.

Fans Go Wild In Last Game At Pine Tree

Nearly 500 Hear Her- ald's Play by Play Report

Nearly 500 Klamath fans cheered and yelled and groaned and laughed and cried and kidded each other at the Pine Tree today while the Pirates were trouncing the Senators, 9 to 7, in perhaps the most wretched world series game ever staged.

The Herald's Associated Press report as received direct from the playing field gave the fans each and every play within a second or two from the time they were made in Pittsburgh.

With the score alternately tied and then in favor of Washington until the eighth inning, Klamath fans got more real tense excitement crowded into two hours that ever before in their lives.

The Herald was able to give Klamath people this up to the minute service because of the loyal cooperation of Harry Poole, and so successful was the service that the Herald and Mr. Poole desire to assure the baseball fans that this service will become an annual institution at the Pine Tree.

There was every evidence during the progress of the play that quite a sum of money was due to change hands here on the result, and when the flash came that the Pirates had won the world series, one luckless Washington fan straddled the piano stool and began playing a funeral dirge.

Klamath Falls 2nd In Number Of Buildings

Best in Number But Fourth in Capital Ex- pended, Report Says

Klamath Falls leads the state in the number of buildings erected during the first nine months of 1925, with the exception of Portland, according to a building survey report made public today by the S. W. Strauss company.

But in point of capital invested in building, Klamath stands fourth in state building, the report discloses.

Which indicates that small frame buildings have predominated in this city this year.

The actual capital invested in building the first nine months was quoted in the report at $1,379,387. This figure is slightly under the report for the first nine months of 1924 when it was revealed that $1,483,565 was expended, but many hundred per cent greater than the first nine months of 1923 when but $289,755 was invested in building.

The number of buildings erected since the first of this year in Klamath Falls was 701, 96 more than Eugene, Klamath's closest competitor, not considering Portland.

Following is a brief chart of state building for the first nine months.

City	No.	Per.	Invest.
Portland	11,868		$32,277,930
Eugene	605		2,161,745
Salem	416		1,596,765
Klam. Falls	701		1,379,387
Astoria	266		828,140
Medford	274		614,382

PINE INCREASE WILL NOT GO ON KLAMATH ROLLS

Board of Equalization Turns Down Advice of County Court Yesterday

DeLAP VOTE DECIDES

Vote is Two to One; Judge R. H. Bunnell Dissenting Member of Board

County Judge R. H. Bunnell and the new county timber cruise of 100,000 acres, were turned back by the board of equalization at its last meeting yesterday afternoon.

The board refused to follow the advice of the county court to force the 3.58 per cent of pine timber found on the 100,000 acres of timber land, on the tax rolls.

It proved a mixed up affair at best. County Judge Bunnell, who was the moving spirit in having 100,000 acres of Klamath timber cruised this year, is one member of the tax equalization board. County Assessor W. T. Lee, who refused to place the increase on the rolls, is another member.

DeLap Decides

So, with Bunnell and Lee at swords' points over the issue, and not amenable to compromise, the question of whether or not the increase should be placed on the rolls depended upon the decision of the county clerk, C. R. DeLap.

County Clerk DeLap by refusing to even consider the matter, threw in his hat with the county assessor, and the equalization board adjourned without the timber increase being added to the rolls.

It developed that the increase of the new cruise over the old cruise in pine timber was but 3.58 per cent while the increase in the entire timber stand, including larch, cedar and fir, was 12.4 per cent. The pine timber increase on the tax rolls would amount to only $700, Mr. Lee informed the board.

Murray Trial Nearing Close

SALEM, Ore., Oct. 15.—At 2:30 this afternoon Will H. King, attorney for Tom Murray, convict who is accused of the murder of John Sweeney, one of the guards who was killed in the prison break of August 12, was approaching the end of his long address to the jury. With the exception of the noon recess King had been talking steadily since 9:10 this morning.

Near the conclusion when King averred that up to the time when he became a fugitive from law officers, Murray had been a "home boy" and the convict's aged father wept and his mother pushed away her spectacles and gently wiped her eyes. Murray himself sat most of the time as he has done throughout the trial, nervously scribbling with a pencil. His parents and sister have listened to every word of the long trial.

District Attorney Carson indicated that his rebuttal speech would be brief and the case is expected to go to the jury this afternoon.

State Highway Man Inspecting Roads

The responsibility of keeping the highways in good shape after they are built, falls on the shoulders of R. H. Baldock, state highway maintenance engineer who is a Klamath visitor today. Mr. Baldock is spending the day with C. C. Kelley, division engineer of the state highway department, in inspecting Klamath and Lake county state highways.

Pittsburgh Trounces Walter Johnson; Is Wild, Wierd Contest

Game Is Played During Steady Downpour; Cuy- ler Brings in Winning Runs with Terri- fic Drive in 8th; Many Hits

FORBES FIELD, Pittsburgh, Oct. 15.—The Pittsburgh Pirates took the baseball championship of the world today from Washington by battering Walter Johnson and scoring their third straight victory over the Senators 9 to 7, in a furious battle fought out in a drizzling rain on a soggy field.

The Pirates touched Johnson for 15 hits, four of which were made by the veteran Max Carey, who poled out three smashing two baggers. Several times during the game it appeared as though play would be called because of the continual rain, but in their excitement fans and players alike forgot the moisture as the game went into its final thrilling stages.
