FIRST LADIES OF LAND AND MANIKINS FOR HISTORIC COSTUMES

How many of you ladies have ever visited the National Museum at Washington and regarded with interest the series of glass cases that contain manikins, stately, demure, fascinating, as the case may be, representing the wives of the Presidents, beginning with Martha Washington, and observed the amazing changes in costume and coiffure? And how many of you—listen, carefully, now—have noticed the astonishing fact that all of these manikins have faces exactly alike?

Don't be embarrassed—not one person in a thousand notices that, but it is true. Their hair, you understand, is sculptured but arranged very differently, each in the style affected by the First Lady she represents. When the manikins were being made, their creator decided to give them all similar faces, thereby avoiding a storm of criticism and historical data proving that the ladies in question did not look like that at all.

And perhaps it was thought, too, that since several ladies must occupy one glass case for centuries and centuries, there had better be an arrangement to forestall all vain disputes and possible beauty contests among them. Accordingly they were all given classic faces in the Greek sculptural style.

At any rate, here we have a large group of creatures with more than a strong family likeness, but differently coiffed, differently posed and differently dressed. They are intended to illustrate the feminine costumes of various periods of American history, and the gowns they wear are their very own. Each one has a dress which was actually worn by the lady she represents, and you may be sure she is most proud of it.

We strongly believe that the astounding similarity of countenance among the glass case population is the one and only reason for the unbroken amicability in which these wax ladies have dwelt.

HOUSE PLANTS RETURN TO WINDOW BASKETS

The return of the house plant season brings up the always puzzling question "where shall we put them?" If potted plants were able to thrive in any situation it would be easy enough to locate them satisfactorily, but since the great majority of them must have both sunlight and fresh air we must put them in or very near good sized windows.

For the plant that demands abundant light, a hanging situation directly against a southern window offers decorative as well as physical advantages. An iron collar around the pot below the rim will serve as a good attachment for the supporting wires. Here in a pretty basket of ivory wicker, which is so popular and yet not too expensive the plant may hang with perfect safety all winter, providing of course that you move it back a foot or two during extremely cold weather.

A Well-Planned City House

Six-Room House No. 638. Designed for American Face Brick Association

Many houses of today have only glazed sun porches, while the old ones had only open porches. This design has both an open one for shade on hot summer days, and a closed one for warmth and cheerfulness during the winter. The open porch on the front of the house is an especially attractive feature of this design.

This has been designed for a small inside city lot, yet thought has been expended on the appearance of the sides so that in exposed locations they may present a good effect from all quarters. Flemish or Garden Wall Bond will give a delightful finishing touch to the brickwork.

A study of the floor plans will at once reveal the fact that nothing has been omitted to make a modern home. The main rooms are large, the living room opening on one side to a screened porch, while a sun parlor opens from the dining room, to which space is added by a good bay, useful for flowers and the like.

The kitchen is well lighted and ventilated, with the windows over the sink on one side and the built-in breakfast nook on the other. The refrigerator is placed in the pantry and iced from outside. There is a connection from the kitchen to the front hall passing the lavatory, coat closet, and basement stairs, and giving convenient access to the front door.

On the second floor are three large bedrooms, all well lighted and ventilated, an ample bathroom, and numerous closets. Stairways to the attic and to the kitchen are very desirable features.

The basement contains heater and fuel room, laundry drying space, vegetable cellar and a garbage incinerator. There is an outside entrance to the basement.

The ceiling heights are 8 feet 6 inches, and the content is 36,000 cubic feet.

With a driveway at one side as shown, forty-five to fifty feet would be the minimum lot. The first floor is well above the ground, giving good basement light.

STOLZ AND SAMS BOUT WILL SHOW LOTS OF ACTION

Nearly as much interest is being shown by local fight fans in the semi-windup between Earl Stolz of Bend and Chuck Sams of Klamath Tuesday night as in the main event between Mike De Pinto and Kid Starkey.

Both Stolz and Sams have been showing a world of stuff in their work-outs, and with both boys heavy hitters it looks almost certain that one of them will lose by the K. O. route. Stolz worked out last night before more than 100 fans and impressed all of them with his speed and general ring ability. He went four fast rounds with Kid Alcorn and gave the fans a real line on his ability. Both boys were given a big hand after their workout.

The De Pinto-Starkey argument will bring together a pair of hard hitters and speedy boys. Starkey's string of victories here make him a favorite, although he will have to travel at top speed if he expects to go the distance with the flashy Portland Italian.

More real interest is being manifested in Tuesday night's card than has been shown here in a long time, and with real fights promised in every event, it appears almost certain that Scandinavian hall will be packed when the first bout is called promptly at 8:30.

Prices Sweep Up in Stock Session

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—(P)—The flood gates of speculation staggering under the load of swollen streams of buying orders, pouring from all sections of the country burst upon the floor of the New York stock exchange today and swept prices upward in one of the wildest sessions witnessed in recent years. The deluge reached its maximum intensity in the motor stocks, which were whirled upward 1 to 7 points on sales running into the hundreds of thousands of shares. Total transactions of all stocks in the first hour probably ran over 700,000 shares, with the official ticker at least eight minutes behind the market.

Coolidge Hopes Russia Will Pay

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—(P)—President Coolidge has followed with interest reports that Russia might be willing to recognize her wartime debt to the United States.

No official information to this effect has come to the White House but the American government has indicated that in the past no acknowledgment has been received.

Russia is held by the treasury to be indebted to the United States to the extent of $192,000,000 in principal and $63,000,000 interest.

At The LIBERTY

If the man you had picked out for a father-in-law was trying to jail you, would you keep a crook from robbing him? The answer comes in "Bustin' Through." Blue Streak Western now being screened at the Liberty theatre with Jack Hoxie as the star. It is a slashing picture of western life with just the proper proportion of love to make it interesting.

Hoot Gibson, the star in "Spook Ranch," which will be shown at the Liberty Sunday, found himself up against such a "tough egg" in a little town on the edge of the Mojave desert when he wandered into town, tired, broke and hungry.

In "Spook Ranch," Gibson plays the part of Bill Banks, a Texas cowboy who has spent his last $500 for the mining rights to the Mojave desert. Bill knows there is gold there because the man who obligingly took his money assured him there was lots of it. The only reason he sold his rights was because he was in a hurry. Bill was told that left the proposition a cinch. All he had to do was dig—and dig he did.

He chose a spot in the middle of the desert where the sun beat down and dug a large hole. He turned up enough sand to build a mountain but didn't find a trace of gold. He and his colored valet struggled back to civilization and tried to work for a meal.
