

Slim And Fat Still Held By Local Police

Charges May Be Brought Against Notorious Pair

"Slim and Fat", claimed by police to be the pair that conducted one of the notorious dives of the city, it being known as the "Bucket of Blood," on Broad street, are still in jail on the charge of robbing Redfield's store, 1204 south Sixth street Sunday night.

Slim and Fat, as they are commonly known, are S. W. Carlson and J. C. James.

Not only are they still in jail, but the district attorney's office is about to file a charge of larceny in a store, it was reported this morning.

At first unable to identify the two men, later B. H. Pruitt positively identified the pair when caps were placed on their heads.

"No question about it in my mind" Pruitt told Deputy District Attorney W. A. West. "I was doubtful until I saw the caps on their heads, but now I am sure."

The two men declared to West that they had been in Klamath county for three months, and previous to that had lived in Portland six years. Later investigation revealed, Mr. West said, that the two men had been here some time ago in the Shippington district.

Slim and Fat, so called, and generally known by these cognomens, are notorious characters in the Broad street section, according to authorities.

Stories have reached the district attorney's office that the dive, which it is alleged they conducted and which bears the gory name of the "Bucket of Blood" is one of the most dangerous places in the city.

Tales have been told of men coming to have a drink, only to be at once backed up against the wall and brazenly stripped of their roll of money and then told to get out, Mr. West said.

The two men who robbed the Redfield store made way with but $50. In their haste to get the job done and make their getaway, they neglected $450 in cash.

Auto Tragedy Is Held Unavoidable

LAGRANDE, Ore., Oct. 22.—(AP)—The auto collision, in which James Romig, 27, of Baker, was killed, was found to be unavoidable by a coroner's jury last night after 30 minutes deliberation. The Romig car was hit by one driven by C. H. Getchell of La Grande.

INSPECTS O. A. C. CORVALLIS, Ore., Oct. 22.—Major General Charles T. Menoher, commander of the ninth corps area and first chief of the United States army air service, is today inspecting the reserve officers training corps personnel at Oregon Agricultural College.

Rotary cutting blades operated by powerful levers through ratchets feature a series of hand tools designed in England for cutting sheet metals.

NOTICE

Save money on Tire Mileage. The system we use is absolutely different from all other methods. Let us show you a real repair job, done by this modern repair system. All work done on a strict Money Back Guarantee. Share with hundreds of satisfied customers this new deal in Vulcanized repairs. Let us inspect your Tires FREE, before they need repairing.

Come in Today

ACE TIRE SHOP 115 South Eleventh Phone 843J

The Walton Wright Co. for INSURANCE Fire, Automobile, Casualty Phone 643W

New Items Of Interest From Oregon Cities

WATER COMPANY READY

"The Coos Bay Water company is willing to sell its property on a fair basis," Joseph N. Teal, prominent Portland attorney and president of the company, declared today upon his arrival here for a meeting of the board of directors.

Teal's statement was made in regard to the proposed Coos bay water district, plans for which are now being made by representatives of Marshfield, North Bend, Englewood Eastside, Bunker Hill and Millington. The object of the water district is to obtain a better and more suitable supply of water for the Coos bay communities.

Directors and officers of the Coos Bay Water company, including Mr. Teal James E. Montgomery, T. T. Bennett and R. H. Corey, are in session here today and an "important announcement" is expected at the conclusion of the meeting.—Marshfield News.

CHILD IS IMPROVING

Gradual improvement is noted today in the condition of Barbara, 9-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Nelson, of North Second street of this city. She was struck Saturday afternoon by the accidental discharge of a .22 caliber rifle in the hands of her small brother, 6 years old, the bullet entering her back. Della Richey, with whom the Nelson children were visiting at her home at Takilma, was struck by the bullet, which caused a flesh wound in her thigh. Her wound is not serious.

The children were playing at the Richey home at Takilma, when the Nelson boy picked up the gun which was loaded. The two girls started down the steps from the house at the same time and he pointed the gun thinking it unloaded, and pulled the trigger. The Richey girl was struck first, the bullet entering the back of the Nelson girl.

The bullet went about half way through the body of Barbara, injuring the spine and causing complete paralysis below the spot it entered her back. Drs. Stearns and Thompson were called immediately and they gave her first aid before bringing her to the hospital in a specially built litter. The accident occurred about 4 o'clock.—Grants Pass Courier.

TRAINING SCHOOL BOARD

Members of the board of education of this city will meet tomorrow morning with the members of the building committee of the normal school regents to discuss plans for training school facilities, here, it was stated late yesterday afternoon by V. O. N. Smith a member of the board of education.

The regents will be in Ashland to again go over the ground of the normal school site on a last minute inspection tour. The plans for the normal building will be completed within two weeks, and the work will progress rapidly from that time, it is believed.

The new grade school, to be built on Beach street, will be used partially as a training school for the normal pupils, and it is to work out the plans for this training that the regents and the local board will meet.—Ashland Tidings.

AGED MAN DIES

J. B. Hopkins, 88, for 49 years a resident of Eugene, died yesterday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Frank Porter, in Portland, according

Hydro Chief

The provincial government of Ontario, Canada, has named C. A. Magrath, above, to succeed the late Sir Adam Beck as head of Ontario's $250,000,000 hydro-electric system.

It Stops 9 O'clock Sharp Saturday Night This Gigantic "Once A Year" Merchandise Event

During the next two days this great store is going to hand out hundreds of dollars worth of savings and we cannot impress on you too forcibly to do your buying while these No Profit prices exist.

We are going to let our Quality Merchandise and Low Prices do most of the Talking.

All Wool Shirts $3.95

Guaranteed to be all wool and one of the best shirts you ever saw selling at $5. Two days more to go.

Jersey Jackets $1.95

A nice warm jersey knit with elastic collar and wrists, two pockets, see them in our window. They're worth $3.

Corduroy Pants $3.45

Be sure to see these. A union made garment and we want you to draw a comparison. 20th Annual October Sale.

Horsehide Gloves 95c

Little need be said about these gloves but they are the $1.50 quality. Read every article on this page.

Fleeced U-Suits $1.35

Cold weather in a few days. Be sure you have enough underwear. Compare our price with any in town. Ends Sat.

Dress Shoes $3.85

Nice new ass't of shoes in work or dress. Black or brown and size and genuine good values now at $3.85.

Stag Shirts $6.65 - $7.35

Not so bad for price, is it? You save about 20%.

Did You Ever Stop and Realize?

What other store in Klamath is giving you such high grade merchandise as Hart Schaffner and Marx, at prices like these? Too, winter has only begun and these prices come to you four months ahead of the season. 2 days left.

Suits and Overcoats

—Here are the prices
—Here are the savings
—Here is a suit or o'coat at a price any man can afford to pay.

| | |
|---------|-----------------------|
| On $25 | Garments save $ 5.25 |
| " 30 | " " " " 7.25 |
| " 32.50 | " " " " 7.25 |
| " 37.50 | " " " " 8.25 |
| " 40 | " " " " 8.50 |
| " 50 | " " " " 11.25 |

700 garments in stock — every one reduced in proportion to these.

Heavy Wool Blazers

Shipment arrived yesterday, about 75 of them and every one guaranteed all wool, including Oregon City. For quick sale, out they go—

All Sizes $5.85 8 Patterns

The one store in Klamath that has stood by the working man for the past 19 years.

K. SUGARMAN

"I Ain't Mad at Nobody"

A few of the reasons why our sale this year is twice as large as last year.

Overalls $1.45

Mt. Hood brand and others. You know these sell at $2. in any part of the country. All sizes, different styles.

Dress Shirts $1.85

About 400 shirts in this lot. Madras, prints, broadcloth etc. Fast colors, all sizes and values, worth up to $3.

66x80 Blankets $2.40

Again we ask you to compare prices. We say this is the best blanket buy in this town. They're going fast. Only two days left.

High Tops $7.25

If you want a boot for wear, for general service, an all leather boot with double sole, see this one. 20th An. Oct Sale

Ties 55c-75c

Go over them. Make your selection. You save about 1-3 on these. Saturday is the last day of this big "Once a Year" sale

Wool U-Suits $3.65

This garment contains 50% wool and is heavy enough for any purpose or weather. Is worth $5 the suit. See them.

How's Your Hat? $4.75 and $6.85

Values to $7 at the first price and to $10 at the second.

to reports received here. Funeral services will be at 2 o'clock tomorrow in the Congregational church. Rev. Fred J. Clark will be in charge. He was a charter member of the local church organization and had always been an officer of the church. He was the organizer and president of the Eugene Lumber company.

Surviving him are two sons, Dwight D. Hopkins, Eugene, and Prof. Harry L. Hopkins, Forest Grove, and a daughter, Mrs. Porter. Arrangements for the funeral are in charge of the Veatch chapel.—Eugene Guard.

HUNTERS LOSE GUNS

According to reports, deep sea divers demand that conditions be exactly right or they will not work at their trade. But Ashland has a diver, who demands nothing, and is willing at all times to dive, no matter how deep the water, nor how cold, just to accommodate his friends. The diver is Ed Coovling.

Two weeks ago, Frank Murphy and Fred Cushing journeyed up the Klamath River on a duck hunting expedition. In some manner, their boat turned turtle, and their guns were lost in twelve feet of cold, cold water. The hunters refused to tell what caused their boat to capsize, but their friends insist they dozed off while waiting for the ducks to come. At any rate, the guns were lost and the boys received a ducking.

Last Sunday, with borrowed guns, the men went back to the scene of their accident. But this time they took Coovling. They explained the entire affair to Ed, and asked him to dive for the guns.

Although ice fringed the tules, and the water was colder than ever, down went the diver. Up he came with Cushing's gun in his hand. A roaring fire was built, and after he had warmed up Coovling tried a second time. Again he was successful and Murphy had his duck-slayer back.

Today a gunsmith is working over the guns, removing the mud, but Coovling says his diving days are over, especially for sleepy duck hunters.—Ashland Tidings.

MCCARROLL SHOOTS COYOTE

William McCarroll, engineer at the state school for the blind, located in the heart of one of Salem's residential districts, this morning shot and killed a coyote in the state school's chicken pens, at the rear of the school. Mrs. Mildred Mortensen, landress at the institution, was directly responsible for the slaying of the coyote. She saw the animal in the pens and slammed a gate on it. McCarroll was called and dispatched the animal with a rifle.

The coyote was a young one, apparently five or six months old, and is believed to be responsible for depredations on the chicken pens over a period of several days. The animal is believed to have been living lurking in brush along a creek bed back of the school on state property. It is thought probable he followed the stream down from the Silver creek country 25 miles from here where coyotes still are plentiful.—Capital Journal.

AGGIES GO SOUTH

CORVALLIS, Ore., Oct. 22.—(AP)—Coach Paul J. Schlaster and 30 of his squad of Oregon Agricultural college football players, and the student football manager, N. H. Truax, left here this morning for Palo Alto, Calif., cheered by more than 3000 students and townspeople. Dave Ruby, flashy half on the light back field, was left behind in the hospital unable to make the trip.

It has been found that an oil useful in soap and a fertilizer can be obtained from silk worm cocoons after the silk has been removed.