Are Alligators Poultry?

Here's the evolution of an alligator and the pictures show that this repair is born exactly like a chicken. The lady "gator" has just started to force its way out of the egg, while the "chicken" is just beginning to explain how so much alligator can be packed into such a small egg.

HEAT POSTPONED SCHOOL FOR A WEEK

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Forty-five thousand of the city's population refused to join in the universal petition for cooler weather and the end of the drought. They were the school children, who were given an added week of vacation on account of the unreasonable heat.

COST OF LIVING SEEMS TO HAVE STRUCK MODERN ART

PARIS.—The high cost of living seems to have hit modern art a hard blow. The searchers for some new school of painting have had to so economize in canvas and paint the Autumn salon is reduced to about half its usual proportions. What there is of it is sufficiently striking, however. The full length portrait of a woman in the role of Oedipus with indigo blue blood running out of her eyes, is the chief monument, accompanied by the usual debauches of flesh—athletic and obese.

There are some ambitious exhibits that are highly estimated by their authors. Two of the pieces are ticketed 75,000 francs each and it is declared that they have sold at that figure. Several critics say that the show gives evidence that modernism in art is going stale and that perhaps since canvas and paint come so high extravaganzas will become less predominant in the Autumn show.

PARIS — News now leaks out that Reed Smoot put his feet on the table as the French negotiations in Washington ended.

FARTHEST NORTH COLLEGE OPENS WITH 54 STUDENTS

FAIRBANKS.—The Alaska Agricultural College and School of Mines in Fairbanks, located 100 miles from the Arctic Circle, opened its fourth year with an enrollment of 54. More than 150 students are expected by February. Last year 69 attended.

The Fairbanks College was founded September 18, 1922. A faculty of 14 was required this season, compared to half that many the first year. Charles Ernest Bunnell, former federal judge here, is president of the college.

Courses include agriculture, civil engineering, mathematics, mining, metallurgy, geology, mineralogy, English, French and business administration. Gymnastic training was offered this year.

STONEHAM, Mass. — Horrors of Sunday's storm: Ten polecats escaped when the gale blew down a barn.

SIR KNIGHTS: ATTENTION.

Members of Calvary Commandery No. 16, and their ladies, are requested to be in attendance Wednesday evening at the Masonic Hall. The Royal Arch Masons will be our guests upon this occasion and a banquet will be served at 9:30. The evening will be spent in various diversions. Please attend—Garrett Van Riper, Commander. 25-27 (Adv)
