Clever Boxing Card Will Be Staged Nov. 3

Matchmaker Sylvester Announces Fast Bouts

A boxing card ought to pack 'em in any place along the coast will be dished up to Klamath fans at Scandinavian hall a week from tomorrow night, November 3, with Kid Starkey of Klamath Falls squaring away with Johnnie Trambitas of Portland in the 10-round main event.

Matchmaker Johnnie Sylvester announced today that Trambitas should arrive some time tomorrow to complete his training. He is known as a hard socker and a willing mixer and ought to put up just the right sort of a fight against Starkey.

Starkey was robbed of the decision here in his last bout with Mike De Pinto, as he was clearly entitled to the call over the flashy Portland Italian, but got only a draw. The young carpenter is every inch a fighter and wades in at a merry clip from gong to gong.

In the semi-windup, Chuck Sams, the fast coming Klamath welter, will go into action against Frankie Doyle of Bend for six rounds of torrid mixing. Sams fought a draw here a week ago with Earl Etola, and showed a world of improvement over his former battles.

Stolz will go on with "Submarine" Dean in a six-round special event. Dean will be in real condition and promises to put up a regular he-battle with the clever Bend battler.

Starting the card will be Henry Burke, ex-wrestler, who will tackle the box-fighting profession against some middleweight who will be selected by Sylvester this week. If Burke can fight like he can wrestle, he ought to build himself up into a real card.

MONUMENT WILL OVERLOOK SPOT WHERE EVANGELINE KEPT TRYST

NEW ORLEANS.—(P)—The Longfellow-Evangeline memorial when erected will be made up of three figures cut into a monument that will stand on the banks of the Bayou Teche, near St. Martinville. The monument will arise in a 50 acre park, almost on the spot where the forlorn Arcadian girl kept her unfulfilled tryst with the banished Gabriel.

For years tourists have visited the beautiful Evangeline country of Louisiana and have marvelled at the beauty of the moss hung oaks beneath which Evangeline awaited her lover. In the center of the park will be a wading pool surrounded by figures symbolic of the poem, Youth, Gladness, Love and Despair, over which will stand the monument consisting of a figure of Longfellow and his two characters, Evangeline and Gabriel.

Funds for the project are being furnished by subscriptions from school children of the South and Longfellow-Evangeline associations everywhere.

HILL HEIRS TO GO INTO COURT OVER PROPERTY

Six of the Nine Benefactors to Contest Division of the Estate

LARGE SUM INVOLVED

Railroad Widow's Legacy Will be Tied up in the Courts, is Promise

ST. PAUL, Oct. 26.—(P)—The St. Paul Pioneer Press says today it has information from "reliable sources" that the legal controversy over a part of the property of the late Mrs. James J. Hill, widow of the famous "Empire builder" will be started again this week in court here by six of the nine Hill heirs.

The six will try to wrest from Louis W. Hill, eldest son of Mrs. Hill, more than $1,000,000 in real estate and bonds which was deeded to him by his mother before her death. The property includes the James J. Hill homestead, known as North Oaks Farm, near St. Paul, valued at more than $250,000 and $750,000 in bonds.

Those opposing Louis W. Hill want an equal share in that property. They filed suit against Mr. Hill in New York City in June, 1924, but the Pioneer Press says the action will be shifted to St. Paul this week.

Disposition of the $12,000,000 Hill estate has virtually been completed in probate court here. Late last week $800,000 was divided among the nine heirs. At that time the court assigned to each of the Hills an equal share in the "legal rights, demands and causes of action" in the estate.

Welcomes Suit

This, the Pioneer Press says, was agreed to by counsel for Louis Hill to remove the technicalities in the way of the suit. Mr. Hill was represented by the newspaper as welcoming the suit because it will clear up definitely the title to the farm and bonds.

One sister, Mary Hill, is allied with Louis in the fight, while six of the other heirs will contest his claims. One of the Hills is said to be inactive in this case.

CONVICT'S WIFE WANTS DIVORCE

Mrs. Dawson Files Suit in Circuit Against Husband This Morning

When George Raymond Dawson, former Klamath moonshine vendor, gets out of the penitentiary six years hence, or before that time if he is pardoned, he will in all probability find himself without a wife and with a court order to force him to pay to his former wife the sum of $75 a month for the support of their three minor children. All because his wife, Mrs. Nettie Fay Dawson, brought suit for divorce this morning in circuit court asking for custody of the three minor children and $75 a month to be paid just as soon as Dawson is discharged from prison.

Mrs. Dawson, in her complaint, alleges that she pleaded with her husband to refrain from dealing in moonshine, but that he would not listen to her. Dawson and "Bud" Hodges were arrested last spring near Medford in the act of selling whiskey. They were sent to the penitentiary for three years by Judge A. M. Thomas. Later Dawson was tried on the charge of perjury, convicted and sentenced to another three-year term.

BOSTON THEATRE RECOGNIZED AS SCHOOL TO TRAIN ACTORS

BOSTON.—(P)—The opening of the Repertory Theatre of Boston with Sheridan's "The Rivals" gives official recognition to a theatre as an educational institution, and thus is exempted from taxation. Patterened somewhat along the lines of many civic theatres of Europe, the workers on this stage will strive not only for the perfection of their art but also to give earnest students of the drama a chance to absorb the real atmosphere of the theatre. Its educational efforts will be to present plays of artistic merit to the public, to interest high school students in the theatre, and to train and teach embryo actors and actresses. Professional actors and actresses will play the characters while students look on at rehearsals and receive their instruction from these same professionals. The theatre is the outcome of years of effort, and for Henry Jewett, who has been the guiding hand in many phases of the work, it is a vision realized. Finances of the theatre will be handled by a board of trustees and the entire project will be non-profit making. Mr. Jewett hopes eventually to buy original plays and send out road companies to show other cities what the Repertory Theatre is doing in the hope that similar projects may be launched elsewhere. The theatre itself cost $150,000 and embraces all that is modern. It will accommodate 499 people.
