Drifting Fishing Boat Is Picked Up

ASTORIA, Ore., Oct. 29. (AP)—The unmanned fish boat G-473-A was picked up drifting in the Columbia river channel last night near Flavel by the customs patrol boat Robert N. The craft was fully outfitted but no crew was found. Reports of its occupants were found.

SEVERE WEATHER HITS MID-WEST

CHICAGO, Oct. 29. (AP)—A proposal to change the name "Indian" summer to "Eskimo" would find no objection today in the shivering mountain states and mid-west while the east also might be persuaded in its favor by arguments of snow and cold. The Christmas weather belt today extended from the Rockies, where from Rapid City, S. D., thermometers stood at 14 below zero to New York where overcoats were in order after rain, hail and a gale sent the mercury skidding.

Federal Expert To Investigate Duck Epidemic

The man who bore the principal burden of responsibility during the hoof and mouth disease in California, Rudolph Snider, connected with the federal bureau of animal husbandry, is investigating the mysterious Klamath duck epidemic. Mr. Snider arrived last night with George Tonkin, United States game warden of Sacramento, and today is conducting a survey tour in Tule lake.

Belief was expressed by Snider and Tonkin that the ducks expired from the effect of a stagnant pond in northern or central Oregon.

Accompanying Mr. Snider and Mr. Tonkin today were Game Warden Marion Barnes, Stanley G. Jewett, head of the U. S. biological survey work in Oregon, and Elmer Williams, his assistant.

Mr. Tonkin and Mr. Snider will spend several days investigating the epidemic.

THE WEATHER

The Cyclo-Stormograph at Underwood's Pharmacy showed a slight fall in barometric pressure yesterday afternoon but was rising again this morning. No change in weather conditions seems probable.

Forecast for next 24 hours: Fair with moderate temperatures. The Tycoos recording thermometer registered maximum and minimum temperatures today as follows: High 53; low 33.

U. S. Weather Report Oregon—generally cloudy tonight and Friday; no change in temperature; light westerly winds.

Klamath Farmers Don't Bid High Enough at Hilt

Full bred young Hereford cows and young Hereford bulls left their home at the Mount Crest ranch, near Hilt, Calif., this week, led by a number of proud owners who successfully bid for the fine livestock when bids were opened at Hilt by C. Reginald Parsons, owner.

Klamath Farmers were present at the auction sale, and submitted bids, but the price went too high. Among those who attended the sale were E. H. Hammond, Will Hammond, Hugh McNeary and Dale Mattoon. Hammond and Mattoon went north after the auction sale to attend the Pacific International Livestock Exposition at Portland. Young Herefords sold for from between $130 and $135. "Beau Shasta," the bull that won the Junior Grand Championship at the Klamath county fair, was sold for $300.

Lives of great men oft remind us that our lot is more sublime.

TYPICAL ENGLISH CHURCH UNDER CONSTRUCTION

To Resemble Old Parrish of England When Building Is Complete

Klamath Falls will have another house of worship completed by early February in the prediction of Architect H. R. Perrin, with the staking of ground for the new St. Paul's Episcopal church, which took place today.

Of all shingle finish, typical English type, resembling the old parish house of England, the new church which will cost $22,000 when completed will be the efforts of hard work on the part of Episcopalians of this city.

In the parish house, which will be unusually attractive, will be found a huge fireplace, large comfortable rooms with a reception hall across the front.

The plans were drawn by Architect H. R. Perrin, and W. A. Stevens and son are in charge of the contract.

Rev. J. Henry Thomas is to be pastor of the new church.

Elk Dance Proves to Be Enjoyable

Members and friends of the Elks, numbering close to 400 gathered at Elks temple last evening for the initial dancing party of their fall and winter activities. Gingham aprons for the ladies and overalls for the men were in vogue.

Delightful dance music for the evening was furnished by Gallo-way's orchestra. During the winter months a number of parties have been planned by the lodge, which give promise of being outstanding events in society.

Lyle Appreciates Friends' Support

To the voters of the second ward. I want to express my sincere appreciation of the loyalty of my many friends who stood with me for a principle in the councilmanic election yesterday. I am not embittered by my defeat. On the other hand, I am truly grateful for the unswerving support of my friends; men and women who stood firmly with me in spite of the fact that I did not receive the support of either daily newspaper. I made a clean fight and was defeated. I bow to the will of the majority. A. J. LYLE

BEND, Ore., Oct. 29. — Joseph H. Fred Duke Sued on Two Counts

Fred Duke, connected with the Central Auto Service company, was made defendant Tuesday afternoon in two suits filed against him, one charging that he had failed to pay for some sheep and the other setting forth that he had not paid the man who had milked his cows and stacked his hay.

J. W. Moorman is the man who has brought action for recovery of $305, alleged due for sheep he says he sold to Duke last spring. Joe Oris wants $149.75, which he claims is due him for herding Duke's sheep and an additional $25.00 which he says is coming to him for stacking hay.
