CHRISTIAN MISSIONARY SOCIETY WITH MRS. OWENS

MRS. D. F. OWENS was hostess on Thursday afternoon at her home at 1234 Lookout to the ladies of the Christian Missionary society. Lengthy plans were made for the bazaar which the society will sponsor in the near future. A committee was appointed to consider the memorial window for the new church. At the conclusion of the business matters the ladies enjoyed a social hour with sewing, making articles for the bazaar. Mrs. George McCollum assisted the hostess in serving dainty refreshments at the close of the afternoon.

Among those present were Mrs. J. T. Telford, Mrs. H. L. Wickersham, Mrs. H. P. Thomas, Mrs. J. Judkin, Mrs. R. Hale, Sr., Mrs. Charles Whitmore, Mrs. A. Pardue, Mrs. R. Hale, Jr., Mrs. E. A. Wetz, Mrs. R. Smith, Mrs. S. H. Hanson, Mrs. R. H. Dunbar, Mrs. George

MEET WITH MRS. RICE ON THURSDAY AFTERNOON

TUESDAY afternoon the group of the American Association of University women studying the child of pre-school age met with their leader, Mrs. A. L. Rice. Mrs. H. F. Matthews gave an unusually interesting book review on the Mental Development and Education of the child, by O'Shea. At the next meeting which will be held on December third with Mrs. Rice, Mrs. Heber Radcliffe will give a review on the "Nervous Child."

TO MEET ON NEXT FRIDAY AFTERNOON

FRIDAY, November thirteenth will be "Culinary Day" at the regular monthly meeting of the Women's Library Club. The program will be under the direction of Mrs. D. V. Kuykendall and Mrs. Francis Olds. At this time recipes will be exchanged.

An interesting feature of the afternoon will be the talk by Miss Esther Martinson in charge of the Home Economics department of the high school on "Vitamins." Miss Martinson having received her master's degree on dietetics at the University of Washington.

The meeting is called for 2:30 and an invitation to the matrons of the city is extended by the club.

EVERYDAY ETIQUETTE ALONG THE AVENUES

WHEN meeting a friend on the street is it proper to stop and chat?

No, one should not stand still in the middle of the sidewalk and talk, thus blocking the way for other pedestrians. He should walk slowly with the friend with whom he wishes to chat.

Will you kindly settle a point of etiquette? In meeting, or passing in the street, should the younger woman salute the elder, or vice versa?

When two women pass on the street it is proper for the younger woman to wait until the elder woman greets her before speaking. The greeting is practically simultaneous but in actual fact it is the elder woman's place to speak first.

When leaving a street car or bus does a man precede or follow a woman?

A man should always go out first when leaving a street car or bus, in order to offer assistance to his companion in alighting.

I have sometimes noticed a man holding a cigar in his mouth while he is talking with a woman. Isn't this considered very rude?

It is an outstanding mark of rudeness for a man to smoke a cigarette or a cigar when he is standing talking with a woman.

Where should a woman sit in a motor or carriage having a driver? That is, is there any rule as to which side she should sit on?

According to European etiquette, whether it is a private carriage, a car, or a taxi, a woman must never sit on a man's left. This is the rule because in Europe a woman "on the left" is not a "lady." This etiquette, however, is not observed in America and usually the woman takes the far seat upon entering a taxicab or private car. This eliminates the necessity of the man stepping in front of her.

SMALL WALL BRACKET OF EARLIER PERIOD

THE swing of interior decoration's pendulum has brought back a considerable degree of interest in the small wall bracket of an earlier day. As a result we see these little conveniences in some of the smartest of modern rooms, where their pretence is accepted as a genuinely decorative feature.

So long as its design and material are in harmony with the rest of the scheme the wall bracket can be successfully used in almost any room. It should never, however, be installed merely for its own intrinsic appearance; remember that unless it serves the practical purpose of supporting a bowl, vase or other object it misses half the point.

Wrought iron trimmings make up some of the smartest ones to be seen in the art shops now. The ivory wicker combined with pastel shades is always popular.

KLAMATH HI BEATS MERRILL AT SOCCER

Klamath high's soccer team defeated Merrill high school, 1 to 0, at the fair grounds yesterday. The local boys played a good passing game throughout. The lineup of Klamath high follows: Louis Stewart, goal keeper; Herbert Dennis and Eldon Baker, fullbacks; Archie Kraneburg, Bryant Williams and Leland Gull, halfbacks; Arthur Moore, Bill Kaykendall, Loren Osborne and Norvel Hamilton, forwards.

LITERARY DEPARTMENT OF UNIVERSITY WOMEN

MRS. R. E. GEARY and Mrs. G. A. Krause were hostesses this afternoon for the Literary department of the American Association of University Women, at the home of Mrs. Geary, on Cedar. The subject under discussion was Henry L. Mencken, critic.

Each of the women in attendance contributed to the interesting study by giving their personal estimate of the writer or by giving some outstanding feature of his life. A somewhat longer paper was read by Miss Maybelle Leavitt, who during her college career made a special study of contemporary critics in America. Burton Rascoe, associate editor of McCall's magazine and editor of the New York Tribune, has written a book about Mr. Mencken in which he says: "When H. L. Mencken unpacks his idiomatic brasses, tunes up his verbal strings, and gets in readiness his phrasal woodwinds to orchestrate a fugue in damnation or in praise of man, or god, or book, his all too meagre audience cancels all other engagements to be on hand at the initial presentation."

The above quotation gives one an idea of the force of Mencken. His style is most vigorous, individual and hence frequently copied. It is the style of a satirist and humorist of no mean order, according to the opinion voiced by many present at the Literary club meeting.

On the other hand there were those who felt the great Henry L. Mencken, with his jibs and constant tearing down of American social and political customs has about reached the limit; and that many things said in praise of him come in the form of apologies. Many readers feel that a man should not take upon himself the sacred business of reviewing just for the fun of it. And this charge is one most often laid at the door of H. L. Mencken.

IT'S THE LITTLE THINGS THE SMART DETAILS THAT COUNT

WHEN shopping, did you notice the newest belts, called the "Charleston Belts?" They're made of fine gold mesh, about one inch wide, and have a strip of suede the same width in the front to make a strong foundation for a smart girl buckle. The suede is of various colors—blue, rose, purple, green, etc.

That they are using that "zipper" fastening on any number of things now? On little handbags, for instance, about ten inches long, shaped like old-fashioned roller bags, and particularly attractive in purple leather lined with gray moire.

Boston bags have the zipper fastening, too, as well as brief cases, small and large.

A striking vest of bright orange suede with white pearl buttons to be worn under a dark riding habit.

A charming little spectacle case of blue brocade material lined with peach moire that has a pocket for glasses and another, divided, for your mirror and powder puff.

A very chic slicker of red and green plaid, with capacious pockets and high mannish collar.

We noticed that the necklace that combine long colored glass beads with a rope of twisted strands of tiny silver and gold beads and have for a pendant a medallion about an inch and a half long, made on a loom after the fashion of the sautoirs that were popular some time ago. The medallion is of tiny gold beads with a design woven in the center. These necklaces are made up in various colors.

Those Peter Pan collars of crepe de chine with long tie of the same material attached are very soft and pretty.

Also the smart tie of crepe de chine, about six inches wide, that winds around the neck once and ties under the left ear. There's a band of gilt about an inch wide at the bottom of one end, with a flat flower stitched on a few inches above it.

SECRETS WHISPERED ALONG THE AVENUES

DRESSES—afternoon, evening, and even the negligees—are being heavily trimmed with fur for this winter. A white and gold negligee seen in one of the smart Fifth avenue shops recently was bordered with mink.

The black shoe, whether it be satin or patent leather, seems to be the popular color this fall. It is a foundation for any costume, no matter what the color of the dress or hose may be.

A new bob which is extreme in every sense of the word was recently seen in one of the smart cafes on Broadway. One side of the young lady's hair was waved and came to the tip of the ear. The other side was cut man-fashion and from the exposed ear hung a long pearl earring.

Gay plaid silk is featured in a gray cloth dress as a vestee and two pleated tiers.

Here is a message of great importance to those who have never experienced the superior comfort of riding on genuine low air pressure tires.
TODAY car owners want to know just two things about balloon tires—their ability to give greater comfort, and ability to give long wear.
In too many instances one characteristic is found without the other.
That is, many balloon tires must be run too hard for comfort, in order to save them from excessive wear.
Or if the tires are run soft enough to give full balloon cushioning, they wear too rapidly.
In U. S. Royal Balloons this trouble has been entirely avoided by two outstanding achievements in tire building.
Achievements which make it possible to run U. S. Royal Balloons at true low air pressures with absolute safety to the tires.
The new flat "Low-Pressure Tread" distributes the weight evenly over a much larger tread surface than a round tread balloon. The wear is slow and even.
Latex-treated Web Cord construction gives this famous tire that exceptional combination of strength and flexibility which permits perfect balloon cushioning.
As a result of these U. S. Rubber Company developments, U. S. Royal Balloons have been established as "the Balloon Tire Principle at its Best."
