

SOCIETY

MAKE every morning a new beginning. Expect much of yourself. Expect little of opportunity unless you put your best self in it.

"The great world is a mirror in which we must look, if we would really know ourselves."

WE greet the first week of our Thanksgiving month. There is something peculiarly appropriate in celebrating the yearly Thanksgiving feast in this wonderful country of ours. Here is the home of plenty and here also is the birthplace of the Thanksgiving idea. No silk draped walls and artistically decorated ceilings encompassed that first dinner table. The deep and somber forest, rich with the golden haze of Indian summer, and the leaf sprinkled carpet of softest turf, these were the things that formed the setting of that historic picture of the three days Thanksgiving feast in old Plymouth. The first Thanksgiving celebrated earlier in the season than the time we appoint for the purpose. Historians agree that was about the first of November and the weather must have been warm and pleasant, as the Pilgrims and their guests ate out of doors. As we remember from history, the preparations for the feast were made in the kitchen of Dame Brewster. Probably because it was larger than the kitchens in the other homes, and better fitted with the conveniences for cooking.

The housewives from the settlement congregated there and baked and brewed, and otherwise made ready for the feast, the dimensions of which would appal the modern housekeeper.

I cannot give the exact number of white people at this first celebration, but there were 91 Indians, and you must remember that they were fed for three consecutive days.

What did they have?

One authority states that there was no lack of good things nor of appetizing dishes at the great feast. Our later Thanksgiving, this "rejoicing together after we had gathered the fruit of our labors," finds expression in the providing as bountiful a meal as our circumstances will warrant, and in the bidding to the feast not only kindred, but also the solitary ones of our acquaintance. Do we sacrifice by so doing, something of the coziness of the family party? It may be so, but the blessedness of giving something more than of our material substance will compensate us for it.

So let the feast be spread. Let brightness and warmth and cheer be everywhere. Let the adornments of the table and dining room embody clearly and distinctly the harvest idea.

Chrysanthemums are the flowers for November, but a few carnations or violets with fronds of ferns will do well, and even a few bright geraniums are not to be despised.

SHRINERS DANCE EVENT OF LATE NOVEMBER

ONE of the outstanding social events of late November will be the Shriners' dance, which will be held in the hotel White Pelican on Friday, November 27.

BUSINESS WOMEN DINE MONDAY EVENING

On Monday evening the members and prospective members of the Business and Professional Women's club will hold a dinner at the hotel White Pelican, at which time plans will be completed for the "Radio Carnival" which is just one week from today. Miss Jo Upp is receiving reservations at the First National Bank up until noon of Monday for those desiring to attend the dinner and help make the carnival a complete success.

FURTHER PLANS FOR DECEMBER BAZAAR

THE Women's Auxiliary of the First Presbyterian church furthered plans for their bazaar and cooked food sale which will be an event of December twelfth at their meeting on Thursday afternoon in the church parlors. Plans were made for the decorating of the basement of the church, where the bazaar will be held. Booths with various articles of fancy work and novelties will be attractively arranged. One booth will find the camp fire girls of Mrs. Paul Jackson's group in charge.

A special feature will be the tea over which Mesdames Warren Hunt, E. F. Veatch and Fred Fleet will preside. Mrs. John Sargeant and Mrs. A. M. Worden will have charge of the cooked food sale. Mrs. Virginia is general chairman of the novelty and fancy work department.

At the conclusion of the business afternoon the hostesses, Mesdames Warren Hunt, E. F. Veatch and Fred Fleet served light refreshments. Forty members were present.

Little Donald and Robert Hunt and Bobbie Veatch, dressed in sailor costumes, pleased the guests with two vocal numbers. They were accompanied by Mrs. Veatch.

POPULAR COUPLE MARRIED AT HIGH NOON THURSDAY

AT a wedding charming in its quiet simplicity the marriage of Miss Stella Setzer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Setzer, of 309 Washington, and Mr. Jack Campbell took place at high noon on Thursday, November fifth, at the home of the bride's parents. The Rev. A. L. Rice of the Presbyterian church officiated in the presence of the bride's immediate family and a few close friends. The beautiful ring service was used, and little June Setzer, sister of the bride, was ring bearer, carrying the ring in the petals of a large chrysanthemum. The bride was given in marriage by her father, Miss Ann Setzer, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and the Misses Ruth Lindsey and Ines Jenkins were bridesmaids. Miss Ann Setzer was prettily gowned in a frock of green kasha and carried pink carnations. The bride's gown which was of tan crepe back satin trimmed in henna of the latest made, brought out her blonde loveliness. Her slippers and hose matched her frock and she carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses.

Mr. C. L. Griffith was best man for the groom.

Miss Margaret Cummings played the nuptial music. Miss Ruth Lindsey sang "At Dawn's" before the ceremony. Beautiful yellow chrysanthemums were used in decoration everywhere and adorned the bride's table at which a wedding luncheon followed.

The bride is one of the most attractive young women of the city, and is employed at the First National bank. Mr. Campbell, the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Campbell of Grants Pass, is one of the popular young men of the city, being employed with the Shell Oil company.

After a honeymoon spent in Eugene, Mr. and Mrs. Campbell will be at home to their friends after Monday, November ninth, at 17 Pine.

TEA HONORS OREGON MATRON ON MONDAY

MADE attractive with personal touches from the homes of various matrons of the library club and assorted fall flowers carrying out the autumnal shades, the library club room Monday afternoon was the scene of a tea, honoring Mrs. Sadie Orr Dunbar. Mrs. John Sargeant, Mrs. C. I. Roberts and Mrs. E. H. Pike were hostesses and presided at the tea table. During the hours a large number of the matrons of the city called to meet Mrs. Dunbar.

MRS. W. J. STEINMETZ HOSTESS AT BRIDGE

ENTERTAINING with the third of a series of delightful bridge afternoons, Mrs. W. J. Steinmetz was hostess on Wednesday at her home on Klamath. Three tables were in play throughout the afternoon. Mrs. H. W. Bathiany receiving high score for the afternoon's play and Mrs. Louis Bradford the consolation. Baskets and low vases of marigolds and baby asters carried out an attractive color scheme.

On Monday, Mrs. Steinmetz will again dispense hospitality, when she will entertain with the fourth of her series.

A. N. W. CLUB WITH MRS. E. S. PHILLIPS

MRS. E. S. PHILLIPS was hostess on Wednesday afternoon at her home on Pine, honoring the members of the A. N. W. club and a few special guests. The afternoon was spent in the usual social manner at the conclusion of which the hostess served a dainty luncheon. Sweet peas and marigolds in low bowls were used in decorating. Special guests for the afternoon were Mrs. J. Simpson of Columbus, Ohio; Mrs. Ella McMillan and Mrs. W. Slough.

THE CLUB MEMBERS PRESENT INCLUDED
