HERE IS SOMETHING TO REMEMBER

Idle Dollars Do Not Produce Wealth

They must earn interest or the community suffers.

Here are a few thoughts about credit—a real convenience if rightly handled—but a hardship for all when abused.

Many of our friends in and around Klamath Falls would be astounded to know how many thousands of dollars are "carried on the books" of local business and professional men—earning for them not a cent of interest.

The loss from this huge amount of idle capital affects not only the creditors, personally, but everyone in the community as well. It handicaps the merchant—prevents him from saving money through cash discounts on his own purchases.

When he sells for cash or short credit these losses are eliminated, prices automatically lowered and service improved.

When borrowing money at the bank we think nothing of paying a good rate of interest for its use. When we borrow money, however, in the form of merchandise or professional services, we accept it as an accommodation and may "forget to remember" that while these funds are tied up without interest somebody is losing the income they should produce.

If some circumstance should occasionally arise which makes it impossible to meet an obligation in full when due, a part payment will help. It will show, too, that the confidence and the favor is appreciated.

Credit abused strains friendships, weakens confidence and slows down the wheels of progress all along the line.

The undersigned business interests—whether doing business on a cash basis or partly credit—heartily endorse these principles.
