MAYOR FIRST TO BUY MEMBERSHIP

Annual Roll Call of Red Cross Starts Off Auspiciously Beginning Today

Mayor Fred R. Goddard is the first person to answer the annual Roll Call of the local American Red Cross chapter. A check to cover his membership for the year 1925 and 1926 sent in anticipation of the membership drive which formally opens tomorrow, was received this morning by local chapter officials.

"It gives me pleasure," said the Mayor, "to tender you my annual membership fee, and to know that through it I am doing my part in the work of helping thousands of unfortunate people."

"Everybody should be proud to have a part in the work of your organization. With my membership, I want to assure you of my personal interest in the progress of the approaching membership campaign."

Plans have been completed, and the necessary organization perfected for a thorough canvass of the community beginning on Armistice Day. With a corps of helpers, under the direction of Mrs. Howard Perrin, Roll Call chairman, every person will be visited and personally asked to join.

PAVE IT, DON'T MACADAMIZE, IS COUNCIL EDICT

Main Street Residents Told to Prepare Petition asking for Bitulithic

"Pave it!" "Don't macadamize—unless assessed valuation of the property is not high enough to bear the improvement."

This is the message from the city council that Dr. A. A. Soule carried back to his neighbors on Main street, between the S. P. railroad tracks and the government canal bridge. Dr. Soule appeared before the councilmen last night for the purpose of urging a preliminary survey and estimate of cost on Main street, with the view to macadamizing the street next spring.

"I do not favor macadamizing," Councilman Cofer announced to the council and he received a general nodding of heads from the rest of the members. "That property out there can stand paving and it should be done."

The council thought that the street from the Big Basin Lumber company to the intersection of Michigan and East Main street should be between 40 and 50 feet wide and from that point east to the canal bridge it should be narrowed down to 30 feet or less. Dr. Soule will circulate a new petition among the residents of his district, asking for paving instead of macadamizing.

R. M. Butler appeared before the council to ask for a sewer extension from Pacific Terrace to Melrose street. The council favored the matter and referred the request to the city engineer who will settle the matter of cost.

Major W. E. Arnold, local representative of the Warren Construction company, told the council of his proposition to repair Tenth street between Pine and Lincoln free of charge, but asked the city to have the street closed while the work was in progress. His request was granted.

Those people who desire to put over street improvements for the next year, had best prepare their petitions and have the survey and preliminary estimate of cost completed this winter in order that work may be started the first thing next year, was the advice of the city council to the general public last night.

SALMON DEPEND ON TWO RIVERS

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 10. —(P)—Both the Deschutes and John Day rivers are important units for further development of Columbia river salmon runs, according to findings of Hugh C. Mitchell, field representative for the salmon protective association, which is cooperating with the government in conducting a survey of the river tributaries.

A report on these surveys filed with the United States bureau of fisheries says in part:

"The Deschutes will never be cut off entirely by hydro electric and irrigation dams and is an enormous body of water well suited to carrying larger salmon runs. The demands of irrigation have destroyed much of the spawning area of the upper reaches of the stream but salmon were found spawning in the lower reaches of such tributaries as the Crooked, Metolius and Warm Springs rivers."

RADIO WILL BE A REAL FACTOR

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10. —(P)—Radio, grown to its full stature of a vital force in American life, has developed problems which must be solved with governmental cooperation. Secretary Hoover declared today in an address opening the fourth national radio conference.

More than 400 delegates representing national and international interests were on hand to hear the secretary present to the meeting at his call, his views on the vital problem of ether congestion by the multiplication of broadcasting stations and suggestions for their solution.

"We must face the actualities frankly," he said. "We can no longer deal on the basis that there is room for everybody on the radio highways. There are more vehicles on the roads than can get by, and if they continue to jam, all will be stopped."

While disclaiming and fixed ideas as to the best solution, Mr. Hoover declared there must be "Federal responsibility" in traffic control on one side of the problem and on the other he suggested a large share of control for the community itself as to who shall serve it in broadcasting.

LIBRARY PLANS MAY BE CHANGED

Representatives of Women's Organizations to Meet Council and Mayor

If there is one single thing that the city council wants to avoid, it is a disagreement with the women of Klamath Falls, whose indefatigable efforts were largely responsible for the financing of the city library.

It has come to the ears of the council that dissatisfaction over certain phases of the library plans, is manifest among women's organizations that sponsored the library building.

"Before we proceed one step further on this project, I feel that the women should be heard in this matter," Mayor Goddard announced to the council at the close of last night's session.

"Very, by all means," Councilman Cofer agreed. "We want to consider their wishes. I suggest that the mayor set a meeting for the near future to which the women be invited. Then we can discuss the situation in all its angles and come to some mutual agreement on the plans."

Construction on the new library to be erected on the corner of Fifth and Klamath, will not start until next spring. The $50,000 bond issue financing the project was approved by the people one year ago.

Wants Autoists to Mind Own Business

OMAHA, Nebr., Nov. 10. (P)—The Omaha Street Railway company is appealing in newspaper advertisements to automobile owners not to offer lifts to persons awaiting trams on street corners.

"Picking up prospective car patrons by courteous automobile drivers reduce the operating income of the street car company and that affects the necessary rate of fare."

The company's adopted, headed "Unfair competition" asserted.
