

Chuck Sams Wins Over Bend Boxer

BEND, Ore., Nov. 16.—Fred Gilbert, middleweight of Bend, won a decision over Spec Woods of Portland in a ten round main event here Saturday night. A large proportion of the fans found fault with the verdict of the judges.

In the semi-final Chuck Sams of Klamath Falls took a six round referee's decision from Frankie Doyle. Sams played a safe game, changing little. Frenchie Gaspard scored a knock-out over Frank Perry in the second round after a blow to the face.

Boxers Will Finish Training Today For Wednesday's Card

Kid Starkey Arrives Home From Medford Ready For Battle With Johnnie Trambitas—Harrington and Crim to Put up Real Fight

All boxers who take part in the slug-fest at Scandia hall Wednesday night will wind up their hard training tonight and will take it easy tomorrow in preparation for their fistc arguments, which, on paper, look to be about the best assortment of battles staged here in a long time.

Kid Starkey got back from Medford today and will uncork his lefts and rights on a few sparring partners this evening. Johnnie Trambitas, who features with Starkey in the 10-round main event, has been showing the boys a few new wrinkles and is now on good speaking terms with the high altitude in these parts. He promises to do even better than two weeks ago, when he and Starkey were battling on almost even terms until the fatal foul blow he struck in the ninth.

Jack Crim's friends are looking to see him topple Wilbur Harrington in the semi-windup. Harrington was the favorite by long odds at their first meeting, but the regular he-battle staged by Crim has switched some of the "aces", and they are now figuring this an even battle with either boy liable to drop before their six rounds are up.

Bobby Allen is going to throw a flock of gloves in the general direction of Tommy Murphy in the special event, thereby hoping to win himself a berth on the next card. Since returning to Klamath Falls, Allen has started training seriously and will be in wonderful shape for this fight.

Henry Burke and Jim Fleming are scheduled to go six rounds in the opener. Burke lately has been uncorking a punch which resembles red-hot dynamite, and if Fleming is able to stand up under Burke's punches for the four rounds he must have an iron jaw.

How long they will be out has not been determined, but fans are hoping they will be in condition for the Idaho game next Saturday. Coach Schlesler ordered light practice today as a start toward preparation for the Idaho mix.

Triumph procession led by Dr. J. N. R. Bell, venerable Aggie mascot, and President Kerr formed today in accordance with long established custom and marched to Mary's river where Dr. Bell threw his hat into the river in celebration of the O. A. C. victory over the University of Oregon.

CORNERSTONE OF CHURCH IS LAID

Masonic Lodge Has Charge of Ceremonies at Episcopal Edifice

Impressive ceremonies were conducted yesterday when members of the Masonic order of Klamath Falls officiated at the laying of the corner stone of the new edifice which is being reared for St. Paul's Episcopal church on the corner of Eighth and Jefferson opposite the Roman Catholic academy.

The Masons marched in a body from the Masonic temple to the ceremonies where C. E. Dennis, worshipful master, presided in the absence of the grand master, Percy R. Kelly. Copies of the local papers, Bishop Remington's message, the program of ceremonies, 1925 coins and the Oregon Trail of Churchhood were buried beneath the stone.

The program opened with the singing of Hymn No. 636, after which the stone was raised. This was followed with a canticle, a prayer by the Grand Chaplain, after which the various articles were placed under the stone by the Grand Treasurer. The stone was then let down into its place by three gradual motions, with C. E. Dennis applying the plumb, square and level to the stone, saying: "I have tried and proved this stone by plumb, square and level and pronounce it to be well-formed, true and trusty."

The bishop's message was read and the ceremonies closed with the Recessional Hymn No. 491.

CONTROL PLAN PROVES SUCCESS

Government Entomologist Sees Success in War on Beetle in Klamath County

"So clear that even a layman inexperienced in woodcraft, can distinguish the controlled from the uncontrolled area."

This is the finding of Paul T. Keen, government entomologist of Palo Alto and formerly stationed in Klamath Falls, who has just completed an exhaustive survey of the pine beetle infestation situation in Klamath and Lake counties.

"There is no doubt about the success of control of the pine beetle," Mr. Keen emphasized. "During the past few weeks I have been engaged in field inspection work for the specific purpose of ascertaining whether or not the control work in this territory has proved a success.

"My observations disclosed remarkable success in the only successful method in controlling the menace to our pine forests. The line of demarcation between the area subjected to control operations and the area on which no control work has been instituted, is so clear that even the layman can see the difference. In some sections where there has been no control work, the loss is very serious."

Mr. Keen inaugurated the pine beetle control work in Klamath county. He is connected with the United States bureau of entomology and has for the past year achieved phenomenal success in control work in the Kaibab forest, which lies along the northern rim of the Grand Canyon, Arizona.

Hagen Addresses CattleMen Today

Under adverse conditions, the California Cattle Growers Association has secured remarkable prices for its members during the past six months. R. M. Hagen, secretary of the association told a group of Klamath livestock men at the chamber of commerce this afternoon.

Mr. Hagen is in Klamath Falls to meet with members of the association, tell them of the work of the organization, answer questions and strive to enlarge the cooperative marketing project. He will speak tomorrow at Fort Klamath in the community hall.

Mr. Hagen spoke of the rapid development of the association in the past few months and of the advantages to be gained from orderly marketing. He pointed out how the market would be glutted at times and the price would be forced down, all because there was no control in marketing. But with a central organization like the Cattle Growers' Association securing buyers and regulating the shipments, a good and steady price is guaranteed.
