SHOPPERS URGED TO 'MAIL EARLY'

Postmaster McCall Starts
Annual Christmas Slogan
Early This Year

Mail Early! That's the national publicity slogan of the post office department.

Postmaster McCall has received a letter from Harry S. Now, postmaster general at Washington, asking him to cooperate with the newspapers, the chamber of commerce, public schools, picture houses and all other available agencies for this needed publicity in the "mail early" campaign.

Twelve o'clock midnight of December 24, the local office will stop public service, with only such employees on hand as are required to make the regular dispatches of first class mail to the trains.

While Christmas day is a legal holiday, the exigencies of the postal service at this season of the year have been such that in years past it has been felt necessary to make the deliveries of mail and give substantially the same service on Christmas as any other day.

Two years ago the department made an effort to break into this custom as far as possible and set 12 o'clock noon as the time for cessation of business.

This worked reasonably well, and one year ago the time for closing was made 11:00.

This year, with the inaugurating of a "mail early" campaign of publicity local post office employees will be able to enjoy Christmas like other people, with the entire day a holiday.

Harry Poole, local theater man, volunteered to assist Postmaster McCall and is daily at each performance at his theaters, running slides, "Mail Christmas Packages Early."

REDUCED LOAD UNDER PROTEST

W. A. Foster Adamant in Forcing
Stage to Lighten Luggage Yesterday

Like moths around an arc light or buzzards hovering over their kill, did the curious populace crowd around the Howard and Grimes stage on Sixth and Main which was just about to leave for Medford yesterday afternoon.

It was an argument between the driver and State Traffic Officer W. A. Foster, over the load the stage should carry. The driver did most of the talking, and the officer, after delivering his edict that the luggage load must be reduced, the listening. The load was reduced.

Lynch and Willis Cases Are Set

It will be on December 8 that Everett Lynch and Alvin Willis will appear in justice court to fight out to the end their claims of innocence of the charge of possession of intoxicating liquor. In the mean time the two men are released under bond of $150 each.

Ed Wilkins, indicted by the grand jury on the charge of uttering a bad check for $30, entered a plea of not guilty, when he was arraigned yesterday before Judge Leavitt.

Court of Honor Holds First Meet

The first court of honor was held in Klamath Falls last evening with E. X. Kendall presiding in the place of D. V. Kuykendall. The board of examiners met in the American Legion room at seven o'clock and passed the boys. Promptly at eight o'clock the court orderlies escorted the eight scouts, who were to appear into Circuit Judge Leavitt's courtroom. Then the court commissioners filed into the jury box. The color guard took their stations, the judge went to the bench, the salute to the flag and the pledge of allegiance was given.

The following boys, all of troop one, under the direction of Julius Mueller, scoutmaster, were advanced in ranks as follows: Thomas Massey, George Massey, Robert Morrison, Chester Hamaker and Hubert Totten to second class scouts; Elmer Wilkerson and Robert Hunter to first class scouts; Merle Swanson received merit badges and advanced to star scout. Swanson received badges as follows: Firemanship, safety first, first aid to animals, path finding and swimming.

At the close of the court, Judge Kendall gave a talk on scouting to the boys, while Dr. Massey told them of the wonderful opportunities before them and urged each boy to advance as rapidly as he was able.
