

"Caseys" Will Hold Hi-Jinks

The Knights of Columbus will stage their annual hi-jinks at Lyceum hall tonight to raise funds to provide Christmas cheer for all students of Sacred Heart Academy. The "Caseys" will have a big Christmas tree for the pupils and will furnish presents for all.

The hi-jinks is one of the big entertainments of the organization and always furnishes plenty of real amusement. The one tonight will be better than those of before and there will be plenty of prizes to distribute among those upon whom Lady Luck casts her smile.

LIQUOR SELLER GETS 60 DAYS

Sentence and Fine Given Man Believed to Have Furnished Boozie to Jackson

Lewis Costello, the man who is suspected by prohibition authorities of having sold the moonshine which underpinned the hand of Ted Jackson of Sprague river last week, was sentenced to serve 60 days in the county jail and fined $250 by Justice of the Peace E. X. Kendall this morning. Costello pleaded guilty to sale of intoxicating liquor on November 21. He was arrested by State Prohibition Officer William Cole.

Authorities were led to watch Costello because they believed his whiskey was responsible for the terrible accident last week in which one was killed and others hurt. Ted Jackson was at the wheel of the ill fated automobile.

MAY POSTPONE PATCHING WORK

With the prospects of another winter of jarring bumps and stone bruised tires before them, the chamber of commerce board of directors decided to take immediate measure toward having the Warren Construction company repair the city streets. Accompanied by Councilman Balziger and Councilman Roberts two members of the board of directors were to have called upon Major Arnold, in charge of the street paving here, to ascertain whether or not the Warren Construction company had any intention of patching the city streets of Klamath Falls.

John Boyle, division manager of the California Oregon Power company, informed the directors that Arnold had informed him that no repair work could be done this fall because there was not sufficient paving material on hand.

Arrest Man on Serious Charge

Suspected of passing bad checks on local stores W. Lewis was arrested early this afternoon by deputies from the sheriff's office and was being held this afternoon pending further investigation. According to complaining merchants he passed the checks on pay night.

CROWN ARMY SHIRTS

This Horse Is On Us, Assert City Fathers

It's a horse of a different color when angry housewives and others begin calling their favorite councilmen by telephone and demanding why in the name of common sense and a few other things the city can't take care of the stray horses and cattle which roam the city.

If you don't think so, ask Fred Cofer, city councilman, and some of his fellow members about the august council table.

Following a "tip" in the Evening Herald a couple of weeks ago, householders have been making life miserable for the councilmen because the stray horse nuisance had not been abated.

Last night Cofer capitulated and so did his fellow members.

"I'm getting tired of all these phone calls about cattle and horses," he complained. "So I move, you, Mr. Mayor, that we authorize the street commission to purchase a horse and second hand saddle and have somebody take care of all stray cattle."

A chorus of happy sighs heaved about the council table. Without protest the motion carried by unanimous vote.

Councilman "Doc" Powell had for two weeks been trying to get the council to do that very thing, but they had pleaded economy. But somehow the economy platform went bluey when they decided it was a lot of work answering phone calls and answering kicks.

MISS LINSMERE LEAVING

Miss Virginia Linsmere who for the past year has been office manager for the Chevrolet people, is leaving the first of December for Daytona, Florida, where she will spend the winter months. She will make her home with Miss Grace Conboy, who formerly lived in Klamath Falls and was in the advertising department of The Evening Herald. She is now living in Florida with her people. Miss Linsmere plans to spend next summer with her parents in Wisconsin and return to the Pacific coast again next winter. She is considered one of the most capable business women in Klamath Falls and will be missed by a host of friends.

SCOUTS LEAVING FOR CONFERENCE

20 Local Boys Depart at Noon Wednesday for Third Annual Meet in Portland

Tomorrow at noon, four cars will leave Klamath Falls, carrying 17 boy scout patrol leaders and four scout leaders to Portland to attend the third annual "All Oregon Patrol Leaders' conference." While in Portland the scouts will be the guests of the boy scouts of Portland. Lectures, demonstrations, talks, discussions, banquets, parades, nature hikes and various other sports have been arranged for the visiting boys by the Portland troops.

Friday Governor Pierce will present Eagle medals to ten Eagle scouts. More than 300 boys, all scout patrol leaders will attend the conference.

Troop Three—Hubert Maguire,

Scout Master Everett O. Nord, with Edward Livingstone, William Mueller, C. A. Kieler and Dr. G. A. Massey will accompany the boys. They plan to stop in Roseburg tomorrow night and plan to leave early Thursday morning for Portland, reaching there early Thursday afternoon.

Upon arrival in Portland they will be assigned to the homes in which they will be guests. Each scout is expected to keep note of all the happenings so they can report the events at the next meeting in Klamath Falls. Each delegate will write an essay on the conference which will be counted in on their school work and which will be submitted in an essay contest, the winner receiving a prize of something worthwhile in scout equipment.

Charles Loomis to Return to Klamath

After having been examined by sixteen of the leading physicians of Los Angeles, Charles Loomis is expected to return to Klamath Falls the latter part of the week, after learning that medical treatment will be of no avail for his paralytic condition, from which he has suffered for more than two years.

Mr. Loomis went south several weeks ago hoping that nerve specialists would be able to help his condition. His many friends in Klamath Falls, who have been awaiting word of his condition, will be more than sorry to learn that medical assistants can in no way improve his present condition.

Irrigationists To Seek Relief

Two Projects Will Appear Before State Board

SALEM, Ore., Nov. 24.—Representatives of the Jordan valley irrigation district will today appear before the state irrigation securities commission and ask for the certification of $30,000 additional district bonds, which it is supposed to exchange for an equal amount of north side bonds. The north side and the Jordan valley district are to be merged and the bonds of the former canceled.

Representatives of the Eagle Point district of Jackson county will ask for an extension of 1 1/2 years in the state's guarantee of interest on the district's $100,000 bond issue. The guarantee is now for 3 1/2 years. Five years is the maximum allowed by law.

CONDUCTOR DIES FROM INJURIES

LAGRANDE, Ore., Nov. 24.—(AP)—O. G. Hamilton, 55, conductor employed by the Oregon-Washington Railway and Navigation company, died this morning of injuries sustained last night when the automobile in which Hamilton and his wife were riding plunged 125 feet over an embankment on the Old Oregon Trail.

Mrs. Hamilton was seriously injured, but physicians say she will recover.
