THE LEGAL ARENA

"The American court of justice," says a prominent lawyer, "has become an arena in which attorneys combat while the judge looks on and acts as umpire. Incidentally justice may or may not be done in the case on trial."

He declares that the public has lost confidence in the present system of administering justice, which is certainly not far from the truth.

What is to be done about it? The lawyer quoted says the remedy lies mainly in the hands of the judges and attorneys themselves. It is up to the legal profession to correct the evils it has created and tolerated.

Judges, he explains, are badly handicapped by state laws and rules of the higher courts which limit their authority and action. Yet judges ordinarily could use much more authority than they do in curbing the improper activities and delays of trial lawyers. The lawyers themselves owe it to their profession and to the cause of justice to stop treating a court trial as a sport, and labor more to promote justice and save time and money for clients and public.

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER

NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON — Why shouldn't an internal revenue auditor conceive the idea of a $5,500,000 Woodrow Wilson Memorial university? Why, having thought of it, shouldn't he go to work to raise the money and found the university? There doesn't seem to be any reason why not, except that raising $5,500,000 is rather a large order for a not particularly prominent and only moderately paid government employe.

Yet the fact that such an individual—R. Moulton Petty—is said to have been the original promoter and certainly is now the president of the Woodrow Wilson Memorial association, appears to be the only basis for a lot of none too friendly publicity the organization is receiving on the eve of its proposed countrywide drive for funds to endow an institution of learning near the capital in the war president's honor.

Nobody says a word, out and out, against Petty. All they do say is that he's just a special auditor for the internal revenue bureau — and here he is, trying to raise $5,500,000. Having said that, they appear to think they've made out a strong case. But have they? Ask Petty if the story is true, and his answer is "Certainly." What of it? Does a man have to be a notability to work for a Woodrow Wilson memorial? Laugh that off.

Petty isn't widely known and doesn't profess to be, but some of his association's executive committee members are. They include Secretary of the Navy Wilbur, Major General Hines, Mayor Walker of New York, 16 governors and half as many senators. The drive starts Dec. 7. I can't see anything the matter with the enterprise unless somebody has something better to urge against it than that R. Moulton Petty is a treasury department auditor.

WOMAN APPLIES FOR REHEARING

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28. (AP)—Charlotte Anita Whitney, convicted of violation of the California syndicalism law today applied to the supreme court for a rehearing. The court dismissed her appeal last month for want of jurisdiction.

The petition for rehearing declared the court was in error when it ruled that no constitutional question was involved.

GERMANY WRITES PEACE TREATIES INTO LAW BOOKS

Government Now Awaits Hopefully Similar Action From Other Nations

LOCARNO, Berlin, Nov. 28. (AP)—Germany has written the peace treaties of Locarno on her statute books and now rests her hopes in anticipating an era of good will so far as her relations with her western and eastern neighbors are concerned.

Chancellor Luther and foreign secretary Stresemann will depart for London tomorrow to be present and with the representatives of the other interested countries sign the documents officially.

The adoption of the Locarno bill, 221 to 174, in the Reichstag late yesterday was due to the widespread conviction that expediency made ratification indispensable.

This argument prevailed over lack of evidence of readiness on the part of the allied governments to ameliorate the conditions of occupation of the Rhineland.

Frank expression was given to the hope that Germany's relations with soviet Russia would continue on a basis of political amity and cordial economic relations.

With political animosities eliminated from her relations with France and Belgium by virtue of the security pact and arbitration treaties with these nations, it is believed in political and industrial circles that Germany is now in a better position to give thought to her interests in Russia.

When they arrive in London to sign the treaties, the German delegates will give the Allies notice that the German people are impatient over the measures of concessions accorded Germany by the Allies and will seek to have them enlarged.

Setubal, opposite Lisbon, was under water and the only transportation was by boat.

Kelly was injured about a week ago at Vancouver, Wash., where he is stationed. Infection developed in the cut and he entered the hospital today for treatment.

PASS RECEIVER FOR AGGIES TO BE OUT OF GAME

Dallas Ward, Elusive and Fast End for O. A. C. Cannot Participate Today

CORVALLIS, Ore., Nov. 28. (AP)—Dallas Ward, Oregon Aggie first string end and star pass receiver, is definitely out of the lineup for the game with Southern California. Coach Paul Schindler announced today. Ward was injured in the first half of the Oregon game and was not used at all against Idaho. It was thought the injury was healing satisfactorily, but hope of his return next Saturday was abandoned when his attempt to participate in play revealed it could not safely be used.

With Ward out, Robbins and Logan, both in their first year on the regular squad will fill the wing positions. These two performed creditably against Oregon and Idaho. The loss of Ward, however, materially lessens the Aggie's chances against the strong Trojans. Every other first string man is expected to be in top form.

TEXAS GOVERNOR IN CONTROVERSY

ment, "tacitly admitted" that he is the ruling power.

Ferguson is quoted as having attacked the earlier intimation of speaker Satterwhite, that the legislature would not be reluctant in possible impeachment proceedings, because the governor is a woman, charging that Satterwhite is motivated by political ambitions.

After he had ministered to the wants of the visiting reporters, Mr. Ferguson had a talk with the local newspaper men and told them that "men with political bias in their bonnets" are responsible for special session agitation.

Ferguson Scores Evening The former governor reviewed his recent challenge to the disqualified to bring their "whisperings" to the grand jury and rounded out his statement with the avowal that Attorney General Dan Moody and Speaker Satterwhite have their eyes on the governor's chair. He declined to say what the governor will do about the special session demanded for "impeachment" and investigations. Neither would he say whether she will run for re-election.

In the meantime the Texas capital still was wondering from which source the demanded special session call would come—the governor's office or speaker Satterwhite and fifty-eight supporting representatives who in an ultimatum have given the governor until December 10 to convene to legislature.

Creamery Robbers Enter Amity Store

SALEM, Ore., Nov. 28.—Creamery robbers who have been successfully operating through the Willamette valley for months added another coup to their long string last night, when they entered the cheese factory at Amity, belonging to the Marion Creamery of Salem, and took about 1000 pounds of triplet and loaf cheese, a portion of which was ready for shipment. Considerable cheese carried the brand name of the firm and was properly labeled and wrapped ready for sale.

Robbers broke the padlock on the creamery door to effect entrance, took about ten cases of triplets and filled a number of triplet cases with loaf cheese. The company a few months ago took out burglary insurance on its factory following the epidemic of creamery robberies rampant throughout the valley. All cheese marked carries the "Marion" brand.

At the PINE TREE
Richard Barthelmess has been enjoying the life of a regular job on an American battleship recently.
He sailed from New York on the U. S. S. Arkansas, aboard which scenes for "Shore Leave" were filmed.
These scenes were taken on the way to Hampton Roads and off Annapolis. Accompanying Barthelmess was his director, John S. Robertson; his chief cameraman, Roy Overbaugh, and Robertson's technical staff.
Prior to sailing, much progress had been made on the production of "Shore Leave" at the studios in New York. With the special permission of the Navy Department, a squad of forty sailors, commanded by two petty officers, were permitted to appear in scenes taken in a large ship set at the studio. At sea Barthelmess was enabled to avail himself of the services of even a greater number of gobs.
The picture is booked for the Pine Tree tomorrow and Monday.
