MARSHAL CHANG REPELS TROOPS

PEKING, Nov. 30. —(AP)—Advices from Shantung report that heavy fighting occurred Saturday and yesterday five miles from Tsinanfu where Marshal Chang Tso-Lin's forces apparently succeeded in expelling the invaders from Honan province.

A telegram from Mukden, the capital of the Manchurian government, headed by Marshal Chang, states that confidence is returning there, and that preparations are being made for repelling the advance of General Kuo Sung-Lien, former Mukdenite commander, who recently rebelled.

Most of the members of the cabinet in Peking have ceased to carry out their functions.

Marshal Feng-Yu-Hsiang, the Christian general, has sent a message urging the defense commission to prevent further violence in Peking, and declaring that he will support the chief executive, Tuan Chi-Jui. It is believed that Feng is determined to oust the Anfu politicians surrounding the chief executive.

Feng desires the tariff conference to continue but opposes the idea of carrying on government by means of commissioners.

Notwithstanding the political situation, the sub-committee on surtaxes of the tariff conference met this morning.

Stanfield Scores Federal Policies

SALEM, Ore., Nov. 30.—Objection that the 11 western public land states are expected by the federal government to pay the price of conservation for the entire United States, even for the entire world, was voiced by Senator Robert N. Stanfield, chairman of the public lands committee of the United States senate, in an address before the Salem chamber of commerce at noon today.

"I am not attempting," he said, "to promote any disagreement between you and the bureau of forestry, but this federal policy is really to cloak a policy of confiscation. The bureau speaks of these lands as 'our' lands, when in fact they are the states' lands."

Portland Lumber Shipments During The Month Of October Amount To 95,000,000 Feet

PORTLAND, Ore.—According to figures compiled by the Traffic Department of the Port of Portland, Oregon, the total lumber shipments from the Columbia river during the month of October amounted to 95,657,343 feet. This is an increase in shipments of 5,000,000 feet over the shipments from the Columbia river during October 1924.

The total exports for the month amounted to 46,436,420 feet of which 25,535,236 feet were placed aboard ship at Portland, and 20,901,184 feet at down river ports. The largest shipments from the Columbia River for the month were made to Australia and amounted to 17,659,020 feet. This is not the usual order of things because the largest shipments generally go to Japan or to China. Shipments to Japan during the month amounted 9,828,021 feet which is considerably less than to Australia. Shipments to China were 3,694,185 feet. Other shipments from Portland were made to five countries in Europe, four countries in South America with an additional shipment to Cuba. This is the first shipment to be made to Cuba this year from Portland, although shipments have been made from down river points earlier in the year. The total shipments to Cuba during the past month amounted to 2,400,600 feet.

While the exports from Portland as a whole this year have not been as large as for 1924, the Domestic shipments both intercoastal and to California ports have been greater. This is particularly true of intercoastal shipments which showed 16,424,913 during the last month of which 11,577,913 feet was shipped from Portland and 4,847,000 feet from down river points.

Total shipments to intercoastal ports from the Columbia River during the first ten months of this year have amounted to 208,251,233 feet, being 136,427,840 feet and 77,823,893 feet from down river ports. As indicative of the increase this year total shipments for the entire year to intercoastal ports from Portland amounted to 116,296,921 feet, and from down river ports amounted to 45,809,504 feet, showing that the ten months of this year is considerably more than for the entire year 1924, particularly from down river ports.

IMPORTANCE OF WOODS INDUSTRY TOLD AT MEETING

Sixty Percent of Invested Capital in State Devoted to Timber

NOW 125,000 WORKERS
$120,000,000 is Value of Lumber Turned out Annually

PORTLAND.—Importance of the lumber industry in the Pacific Northwest was stressed last evening at the monthly dinner-meeting of the Portland Association of Creditors, at Benson hotel by Roy F. Morse, general manager of the Longview division of the Long-Bell Lumber company.

He gave a word picture of the company's lumbering operations, which will be doubled by next summer. Later, he said, the Weyerhaeuser Timber company's activities will add to Longview's prestige as the largest lumber producing center in the world.

The speaker said the lumber industry in Oregon and Washington represents 60 per cent of the invested capital, employs 125,000 workmen and turns out yearly $120,000,000 of finished lumber.

Insistence that goods brought from the East be packed in wooden boxes instead of pasteboard containers would widely extend demand for waste wood produced by mills in Oregon and Washington, Morse said.

He commended the West Coast Lumbermen's association's advertising campaign to encourage wider use of lumber. For this purpose $69,000 yearly for three years will be spent.

Leith Abbott, publicity manager of the Longview chamber of commerce, and J. B. Pierce, special representative of that city's chamber, told of the way Longview is developing under the impetus of a monthly payroll of $800,000 in the lumber industry alone.

Big 1926 Cut Predicted By Californian

Demand to be Greater Than Ever, Is The Belief

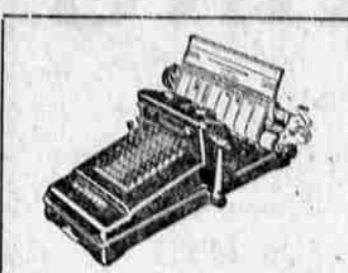

CHICO, Calif.—Although the sawmills will be shut down as usual in the lumber regions next month there will be as much and in some places more activity during the winter months as in previous years, overhauling the machinery, donkey engines, locomotives, flat cars and other equipment, in preparation for a heavy cut next year. This is according to a statement made by a prominent lumberman.

Therefore, while no lumber will be produced for about three months a considerable number of men will find employment as usual.

Demand To Be Better

Indications are that next year the demand for lumber will be greater than ever, owing to the general prosperity in all sections of the country, justifying building in all line of industrial and home activities. A great deal of the product of the California mills goes East, estimated to be around thirty-five to forty per cent.
