PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 4.—(AP)—The Oregonian today celebrated its 75th anniversary with a special program and dinner in the Auditorium at which early residents of the Northwest, and particularly old subscribers of the paper, were guests.

William Duncan, attorney for Grove, attacked the legality of the proposed garbage contract ordinance. He pointed out that the charter stipulated that all matters pertaining to garbage should be handled by the city health board. He also questioned the right of the city to let a contract for more than two years. He pointed out to the council that they were trading dangerous ground when they proceeded contrary to the charter.

The council held that the charter stipulation included only the execution of matters pertaining to garbage, not garbage legislation. Duncan's theory scouted.

'Surely the city health board can not pass an ordinance,' Alderman Hulsiger ejaculated. 'That is an action only the council can take. It's my idea that the garbage ordinance is perfectly fair. There is no discrimination against Grove or anybody. We need a better garbage system and this is a good way to get one.'

'I haven't heard many klicks,' Powell returned. 'Those people that are crabbling haven't gone to the trouble to contract with Grove for the disposal of their garbage. I think the present garbage ordinance is all right.'

'Well,' Charley Roberts spoke up. 'Nothing can be done tonight, so let's let it go over until another meeting night.'

BACK FROM HEARING M. Mettschenbacher and C. T. Darley returned today from Salem where they attended the drainage district meeting held in the capital city.

Longfellows Club Meets Saturday Eve.

Klamath Falls chapter No. 6, of the Longfellow club, will hold its first organization meeting at the chamber of commerce office on Saturday evening, December 5, Everett O. Nord, acting as chairman, has called the meeting.

All men who are six feet or over, who have by this time gotten tired of having their hats knocked off by low awnings, or who have suffered tortures in sitting or trying to find repose in a bed a foot or two too short, who find trouble in taking a bath, who have to crush their bones for lack of knee room when seated in a moving picture theater, are asked to become charter members of the Longfellow club.

Officers are to be elected tomorrow evening, constitution and bylaws to be drafted and songs to be adopted.
