PRODUCE THE AFFIDAVITS

Publication has been given to a statement containing what purports to be the number of bootlegging joints, bawdy houses and other establishments doing business in this city in violation of the law. That statement is either untrue, or the person making it knows the facts. If he knows the facts, then it is his duty as a law-abiding citizen, to furnish the authorities with the affidavits necessary to enable them to make the proper investigation. It is one thing to say that such and such a place is operating contrary to law, and another to have the power to go in there and ascertain the facts.

Most people believe that there are places in this city where the law is being violated. Many people know it by personal patronage. If the person making the statement that was published can, as provided by law, make the affidavits necessary to empower the officers to make the raids, then it is up to him to do so or keep still. No officer has the right to enter any home without a search warrant. If he does, then the courts have no right to permit his testimony, nor the evidence he secures, being used at the trial. That is the law as interpreted by the federal courts. If, however, the evidence is procured legally, then the doors of the courts are opened wide for prosecution, and it is the duty of every citizen to help the officers procure this evidence and procure it in such a manner that it may be used.

Seal Sale Is Declared Good

The Christmas Seal sale being conducted by the Oregon Tuberculosis association, under the chairmanship of Mrs. G. A. Bellman, is progressing with unusually good results. At this early date there have been no cash returns outside of those several business houses and mills, but letters arrive almost daily from rural school districts asking that they be allowed double their original allotment. Beatty is the most recent outlying community to ask that the children be given more seals to sell.

J. Percy Wells, superintendent of city schools, reported this morning that the enthusiasm of the pupils in the five city schools was most gratifying. He also asked that they be permitted to make an intensive drive up until December 17, in order that the children might bring in their unsold seals and from sales to the teachers on Friday, December 18. This request was granted by the local workers as it is felt that an intensive drive covering a short period is more effective than one stretching out over a long tiresome length of time.

Miss Lydia Fricke said this morning that she credited the success of the sale to the fact that the children in the schools are fully cognizant of the far reaching effect of these pennies gathered in the seal sale. That they feel personally responsible for the health conditions of humanity as a whole, not just those afflicted with tuberculosis.

APPLIED EFFICIENCY SUBJECT OF ADDRESS

In furtherance of a program that the Merchants' association has mapped, the purpose of which is to increase efficiency and promote better service to the public, Mrs. Elsie Baxter addressed the business men of the city last evening on "Business in Relation to Applied Efficiency."

The relations between employer and employe, together with that of both of them to the public, was discussed by Mrs. Baxter and she suggested many valuable ideas that, if put into force, will be of value not only to the merchant but to the public generally.

K. Sugarman gave a very interesting talk on the method of approach of the clerk to the customer. Building his theory upon his own experience, Mr. Sugarman brought to light the mistakes so often made by clerks and his remedy for correcting them, with the end in view of creating a more cordial feeling upon the part of the patron towards the establishment. The other speaker of the evening was L. N. Woodside, local advertising man.

A committee consisting of H. N. Moe, K. Sugarman and N. B. Drew, was appointed for the purpose of making arrangements with the California Oregon Power company to keep the strings of lights on Main street lighted until after Christmas.

Mrs. Delzell to Give Book Review

The last of the fall meetings of the study club of the Women's library club was held yesterday afternoon in the club rooms of the library, with one of the largest attendance the club has enjoyed throughout their fall meetings.

In a most capable and interesting manner, Mrs. Thomas White Delzell gave a book review of "The Matriarch" by G. B. Stern. The book, which has proven one of the most popular releases of the year, has been talked of a great deal among literary circles of the city and for this reason was looked forward to with much interest.

"The matrons of the city have shown such unusual appreciation in the reviews that the members of the study club feel most grateful," declared Mrs. Del Gammon this afternoon.

The opening of the winter series will be held on January eleventh and Mrs. Levant Pease will review "Mark Twain's Letters."

DALTONS IN

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Dalton were in from their ranch home at Malin today on business. They returned home late this afternoon.

REPUTED WOMAN SPY ARRESTED

The governments are going to continue in peace time the miserable game of spying and counter-spying with its long record of swindles and hoaxes.

"The league of nations council," it adds, "has not to make peace between the English and the Turks. It is a good opportunity to add to the agenda peace between the espionage services."

Henry De Kerillias, the air expert of the Echo de Paris, expresses amusement over the situation. He marks that if Mlle Morouil sought information at the places mentioned she was wasting time, for all facts there are public property.

To Take Films Of Scenery In This District

State Motor Association Will Boost Klamath

For the purpose of securing pictures of Klamath county, especially films of duck and goose hunting and scenery throughout the country, to be released through the Westfoot weekly and the Oregonian Screen Review, Otto M. Jones, manager of educational publicity, and George O. Brandenburg, secretary of the Oregon State Motor association, will arrive in Klamath Falls on Wednesday evening.

According to the letter from Mr. Brandenburg sent to the chamber of commerce, which recently wired the association asking them to include Klamath county in the publicity, the local pictures will be used in connection with the regular program of the association for exploiting the scenic attractions of the state. It is the plan to show the pictures through other states in the endeavor to influence tourist travel coming to the coast to come via the Old Oregon Trail. This the association deems necessary because of the fact that for two or three years, southern California has succeeded in diverting a great deal of travel over the inferior roads leading to that section.

Harry Poole of the Pine Tree, who has been on a number of expeditions with Jones, will cooperate with the association men, helping them in every possible way to secure good pictures.

Mr. Jones and Mr. Brandenburg will spend Thursday and Friday in this county.

Dread Malady Claims First Victim Today

John H. Donnell Succumbs From Spinal Meningitis

Spinal meningitis claimed its first victim in Klamath, with the death this morning in a local hospital of John H. Donnell, aged 45, homestead rancher of the Bonanza district.

Donnell was single and lived in a cabin alone some distance from Bonanza. Several weeks ago he came to Klamath Falls, suffering from what he thought to be hay fever. His condition gradually became worse until a friend, perceiving his condition, insisted that he go to a hospital.

Immediately suspecting meningitis, hospital authorities sent specimens to the state health board to ascertain whether or not their suspicions were correct. A wire received by Dr. G. S. Newsom, medical director of the county health unit, yesterday afternoon from the state board, carried the message that Donnell was suffering from the dread disease.

Shortly after Donnell's entrance into the hospital five days ago, he lapsed into unconsciousness, from which he never emerged.

Funeral services for Donnell will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Bonanza cemetery. Stringent quarantine regulations will be observed and the casket will not be opened.

According to the county coroner's office, Donnell is survived by a brother-in-law in this county, whose name is not known. He is a native of Kansas.

The condition of the six year old child, pupil of Pelican City school, who is stricken with the disease in a local hospital, remains unchanged today. According to report, the child's condition is serious.

Rebekah Members Leave for Ashland

The officers of the Rebekah lodge, with about thirty other members of the order, left this noon for Ashland, where they will put on the degree work in the valley city tonight.

The local officers will be in charge of the meeting in Ashland this evening, among whom are Mrs. W. L. Sanders, noble grand; Mrs. Mary Walker, vice grand; Mrs. Viola Jones, past grand; Mrs. C. D. House, chaplain; Mrs. R. E. Wattenburg, financial secretary; and Mrs. J. F. Goolier, recording secretary.

Following the meeting a banquet will be given and the local matrons plan to return home late this evening.

MRS. REED OUT

Mrs. Ray Reed was able to be about the streets today for the first time since her serious major operation of several weeks ago. While still weak, she is gaining steadily.

Bandits Enter Bank At Shedd

More Than $10,000 Taken by Gang of Yeggs

SHEDD, Ore., Dec. 8.—(7)—The Shedd Savings bank was entered by robbers early this morning and after blowing the safe and deposit boxes they escaped with bonds and other negotiable securities. The loot will "probably total more than $10,000," said C. J. Shedd, president of the bank.

The burglars entered by the front door, and after working on the combination carefully placed a charge of nitro-glycerin on the vault combination. The combination was blown off and chisels were then used to break into many of the safety deposit boxes. The robbers did not get into the main vault where the money on deposit was secreted.

country is for disarmament, and it ought not to hesitate to adopt any practical plan that might reasonably be expected to succeed. But it would not care to attend a conference which from its location or constituency would in all probability prove futile."

For World Court

That American participation in the World Court would not mean involvement in the League of Nations, but would "contribute greatly to the advancement of our ideals."

That debt settlements already negotiated "impose no undue burden and are mutually beneficial" and that "every reasonable effort will be made to secure agreements for liquidation with the remaining countries."

Turning to domestic issues the president advocated anew enactment of a selective service act for mobilization of materials as well as men in emergencies. The report of the air board ought to be "re-assuring," he declared, adding that the departments of War, Navy and Commerce "should each be provided with an additional assistant secretary, not necessarily with statutory duties but who would be available under the direction of the secretary to give special attention to air navigation."

Better Air Service

"We must have an air strength worthy of America," he said, "provision should be made for two additional brigadier generals for the army air service. Temporary rank corresponding to their duties should be awarded to active flying officers in both army and navy."

With reference to agriculture, the president regarded its position as a whole improved although many localities and individuals still are in a distressing condition. In his opinion farmers generally do not wish meddling by the government or direct or indirect price fixing "which would result from permitting the government to operate in the agricultural markets" and power should be given the department of agriculture to aid marketing associations without undue regulation.

In his analysis of the merchant marine problem, he took the view that while elimination of the regional representation feature of the Shipping Board is not desirable, "it has become apparent that without centralized executive action the management of this great business will founder in incapacity and languish under a division of council."

Pointing out that the federal government has little to deal with the situation in the coal industry, he advocated authority for appointment of temporary boards with authority to call for witnesses and documents, conciliate differences, encourage arbitration and in case of threatened scarcity exercise control over distribution.

Better Enforcement

As for prohibition, the president said: "Under the order's processes of our fundamental institutions the Constitution was lately amended providing for national prohibition. The congress passed an act for its enforcement, and similar acts have been provided by most of the states. It is the law of the land. It is the duty of all who come under its jurisdiction to observe the spirit of that law, and it is the duty of the department of justice and the treasury department to enforce it. D. A. R. Members at Jones Home Monday Eve held at the home of Mrs. Wilbur Jones, with Mrs. H. M. Ackley presiding.

The Pilgrim Fathers and the Mayflower Pact were discussed on last evening's program of the D. A. R.

Mrs. Sarah Harsberger and Mrs. Ambler were special guests of the meeting. Mrs. Ambler is vice regent of Willamette chapter, of Portland, and gave an interesting talk on the work the northern chapter is doing.

Mrs. D. V. Kaykondall will have the members with her at their next meeting on January four.

What is the Harmonic Balancer?

Why is this new Oakland feature creating such wide-spread interest? Why is it regarded as the year's outstanding advancement?

The Harmonic Balancer is an entirely new engineering development, pioneered by Oakland, and rendering the Oakland Six engine unmatched in freedom from vibration at all speeds.

This remarkable feature does not merely dampen vibration—it prevents vibration. It makes use of a simple natural law to neutralize any twisting of the crankshaft under repeated piston impulses and thus stops torsional vibration at its very source.

But the Harmonic Balancer is not all. The new Oakland Six embodies more than 100 other improvements including Four-Wheel Brake refinements, Air Cleaner, Oil Filter, and Full Pressure Oiling System—yet prices are $70 to $350 lower.

transportation in interstate commerce, abuse in the use of permits, and existence of sources of supply for illegal traffic is almost entirely imposed upon the federal government.

"Through treaties with foreign governments and increased activities of the Coast Guard, revenue agents, district attorneys, and enforcement agents effort is being made to prevent these violations. But the Constitution also puts a concurrent duty on the states. We need their active and energetic cooperation, the vigilant action of their police, and the jurisdiction of their courts to assist in enforcement. I request of the people observance, of the public officers continuing efforts for enforcement, and of the congress favorable action on the budget recommendation for the prosecution of this work."

Rail Consolidation

With reference to railroads he recommended authority for consolidations under the supervision of the Interstate Commerce Commission and expressed gratification that railroad employers and employes are in substantial agreement as to legislation necessary to regulate and improve their relationship.

Along with development of inland navigation, the president held should go every possible encouragement for development of waterpower. He advocated investigation of expenditures and the success of laws in Alaska to determine whether too much money is being spent for administration and urged increased authority for the governor of the Philippines with a view to preparing the islands for "ultimate independence."

He also expressed the view that the time had come to consider civil service classification of all postmasters, collectors of customs and internal revenue and prohibition agents, and advocated passage for the District of Columbia of a mothers' pension law that would serve as a model to the states.
