

Appeal in Dixon Case Is Denied

Word was received today from Salem that the state supreme court, in an opinion of Chief Justice McBride, has dismissed the appeal of Hensie M. Dixon in her suit against Benson Dixon, administrator of the estate of Louis B. Dixon, deceased.

Eastern Star to Stage Election

Annual election of officers of Alaha chapter of the Eastern Star of Klamath Falls will be held this evening in Masonic Hall, the regular meeting night of the local chapter. Mrs. Marion Hanks, worthy matron of the order, has called the meeting for eight o'clock.

associate matron: Mrs. C. E. Dennis, conductress; Mrs. R. E. Wattenburg, associate conductress; Mrs. Dollie Virgil, secretary and Mrs. Mollie Belding, treasurer. Installation of officers for the year of 1926 who will be elected tonight, will take place at the next regular meeting of the Star on December 23.

COUNCIL SEEKS $300,000 BONDS FROM O. C. & E.

Powell and Cofer to Confer With Mayor on Steps to Recover Money

A step toward the recovery of the $300,000 which the city of Klamath Falls invested in the O. C. & E. railroad was taken last night at the city council meeting with the appointment of Councilmen Powell and Cofer to meet with the mayor and devise plans by which it would be found what moves would be necessary to gain that end.

"Hasn't all this been investigated before by previous councils?" Councilman Roberts inquired. "Is it necessary for us to go to this trouble?" "I don't think it has," Mayor Goddard replied.

Muddy Barnyards Cut Down Score of Many Dairies

Muddy barnyards, unavoidable because of winter weather, brought down the October ratings of Klamath dairies for October approximately 2 points, it developed last night when the report of Leo Craft, special sanitary officer, was read.

Table with 2 columns: Dairy Name and Rating. Includes entries for Lost River, Mountain, Holliday, Palace, Bradley (a), Hales, Premius (a), East Side, Manera, Del Fatte, Ayrshire, and selling to Creameries.

KLAMATH LEADS ALL IN AMOUNT OF PROHIBITION FINES

Juice of Grape Flows Freest in This County, Records Show

The juice of the grape, the brew of the malt and the powerful mixture of the still apparently flow steadily and in greater quantity in Klamath county than in any other single county within the state of Oregon.

This fact, although hard to assimilate by local people, is nevertheless true, if a three month report of prohibition work in Oregon, just received from the state prohibition department by District Attorney E. L. Elliott, is to be interpreted literally.

Klamath's total fines collected from liquor violators during the three month period amounted to $7488.50, which is $200 more than the amount collected by Umatilla county, her nearest rival for this doubtful honor, and $4000 more than the amount collected in Multnomah county, in which Portland, the metropolis of Oregon, is located.

Next Wednesday, December 16, E. F. Carleton, former deputy superintendent of public instruction, will be the speaker of the day and shortly after that Denton G. Burdick, speaker of the house, will address the chamber of commerce.

Linoleum Is Laid For Post Office

Completion of the furnishings in the post office are today under way with new linoleum. In rosewood shade being laid throughout the office of Postmaster McCall and the financial department.

A ruling from the postal department prohibits clerks of the department from working on concrete floors, but this is being done away with today by the laying of the in-laid linoleum.

"The Christmas rush has not started yet," Postmaster McCall declared, but we want to keep it in the minds of people through the press that "Mail Your Christmas Packages Early" should be kept in mind and now is the time to start sending packages.

Posters from Washington were received by the local office yesterday which have been placed in the lobby, such as "Shop Early" and "Mail Early," all of which are used in conjunction with the national campaign which will enable postal clerks to have Christmas day at home.

Powell Takes Over Second Hand Store

H. S. Gooding, who for the past seven years has been engaged in the second hand business, has disposed of his store at 236 Main street to A. J. Powell, the deal having been consummated yesterday. Mr. Powell has been a resident of the city for many years. He was interested in the Pelican Mineral Springs company prior to its sale to the Klamath Ice and Storage company, and later was engaged in the automobile business in the firm of Powell & Dale. He states that he will conduct the business along the same general lines followed by Mr. Gooding, enlarging and improving it as the growth of the city will demand. Mr. Gooding has made no definite plans as to the future.

Advertisement for Women's Store featuring 'Annual December Disposal of Coats and Dresses' with illustrations of various styles.

Advertisement for 'DRESS COATS' with price tags $19.50, $29.50, and $49.50.

Advertisement for 'NEW DRESSES' with price tags $16.75, $24.50, and $37.50.

Advertisement for 'Moe's THE WOMEN'S STORE' with the slogan 'All Higher Priced Coats and Dresses Greatly Reduced.' Includes the store logo and 'Truth in Advertising'.

City's Home A Day Record Is Bested Again

Preliminary Work For Nine Dwellings Started Last Week

December is eight days old, the weather is gradually getting colder and yet Klamath Falls not only maintained her "Home a Day" record during the last week but actually bested the record.

In other words, foundations for nine new homes in Klamath Falls were laid by Klamath residents during the past week, according to building applications received at the city council meeting last night.

Permits were let to the following: Erick Johnson, garage on the corner of Mt. Whitney and Mitchell streets, to cost $450; Mrs. Frank Ankeny, re-roofing dwelling house on Main street, to cost $400; Arthur Robertson, garage on Morton street to cost $100; Nellie Latta, wood house on Martin street to cost $90; R. M. Butler, a dwelling on Front street to cost $2500; C. W. Stanley, garage on Lincoln street to cost $175; Charles Grove, a dwelling on Wantland avenue to cost $2000; T. K. Harper, dwelling on Lowell street to cost $550; Stanley W. Martin, dwelling on First street to cost $4500; C. Raymond, a dwelling on Loth street to cost $5000; Foster and Kleiser company, two steel structures on Tenth street to cost $100; J. S. Cardoza, finishing interior of building on Oregon avenue to cost $1300; R. E. Herman, dwelling on C street to cost $700; D. H. Hancock, a dwelling on Michigan avenue to cost $2000; Ray Barron, garage on Dolores street to cost $250; John Carstenson, dwelling on Lewis street to cost $2500; Ed Bottomley, dwelling on Wantland avenue, to cost $3000; W. J. Nicholson, a dwelling on Melo Way to cost $1200.

MRS. RUYKENDALL BETTER Mrs. D. V. Ruykendall is able to be about her home after an illness of several days and is improving steadily. Her many friends will be glad to learn of her continued improvement.

ROME—Some Italians are irritated because Rudy Valentino is seeking to become an American citizen; a boycott of films in which he appears is proposed. An announcement thrown on the screen in Rome of a coming Valentino film was hissed and booed.

Large advertisement for K. SUGARMAN featuring 'To Women Seeking Men's Gifts, We Say—' and 'Buy it Where He Would Himself and You Will be Sure it Pleases'. Lists various gift items like Hickok Belts, Underwear, and more.