THE ROADSIDE TREE

From time immemorial Christmas trees have grown in Oregon with the romping abandon of pigweeds in a barn lot. Anybody at any time could go out and chop down any symmetrical little fir tree and thank you at that. Oregon fathers fought trees as their grandfathers fought Indians. Trees stood stiff and stubbornly high between them and a living, and they were pleased to lay them and all their kind low upon the fire pile and kill all their little progeny.

Times have changed. Today trees are worth more than the dirt in which they grow. Whoever unauthorized, cuts a roadside Christmas tree commits a misdemeanor in the eyes of the law and an offense against society. Upon these young firs our posterity must depend for housing and home heat. Their growth along the roadside or near it may make all the difference between decoration and desolation. They may have a landscape value far greater than their value as lumber or fuel. Trees are now our friends and not our enemies.

Therefore, woodsman, spare that tree! — Portland Telegram.

LORELLA

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Harper of Woodburn, Ore., Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Young and Mrs. Bradbury of Klamath Falls visited with the T. F. Dooms family on Monday.

W. M. Fordney is building a new house on his property at the top of Lorella Hill, formerly known as the Billy Sheehan place.

Sam Head of San Diego visited in Langell valley last week. He was accompanied by Mr. Monroe, who will remain and visit with his brother and family who are located on the Henry Vinson place which they bought last summer.

A collection was taken through Lower Langell Valley school district to obtain money for the Christmas treat for the children. Twenty dollars was raised and part will be used for new records for the new phonograph which was recently purchased by the school.

John R. Diefer, who has been staying with his father at the Gerber farm for several weeks, has returned to Bonanza to attend school. John was compelled to be absent from school on account of having whooping cough.

R. Hopkins will discontinue his relations with the U. S. R. S. at the beginning of the year, having been elected to be district manager of the Langell Valley irrigation district. From the beginning of the new year all board meetings will be held at Lorella instead of Klamath Falls as in previous years.

Miller brothers and R. Bischoff and family spent Thursday evening at the H. J. Tichnor home enjoying a play given over the radio.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Shifflet visited at the A. Keller home on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Ferris of Klamath Falls, but formerly of Owens valley, attended the Langell Valley community meeting at Lorella last Saturday night. He expressed his delight at the big crowd gathered at the community meeting.

R. M. Teare will leave for Bishop and Los Angeles, Calif., where he will spend the holidays looking after business interests.

The Langell Valley Ladies' club is to meet with Mrs. Dave Turner on Thursday, December 17. A good attendance is desired as reports will be given pertaining to finances for the support of the Near East orphan in which the club is interested.

Lower Langell Valley school was closed for a few days last week on account of Mrs. Dearborn suffering from a cold.

The Langell Valley community club held its regular meeting on Saturday night at the Community house. A short business meeting was held, after which a play entitled "The Trials of Ezra," was given by members of the club. The play was declared a success by all and was played to the largest crowd of people that had assembled in the community house for a long time. Refreshments were served after the play, after which some of the younger men put on several boxing stunts. Several Owens valley families were present, and were given the hand of good fellowship and rousing cheers by the community.

The community meetings will be held twice a month in the future. During the winter months, the second Saturday night being the regular business meeting, while the fourth Saturday night will be given over to social affairs. Plans are being perfected to remodel the building, as the younger people have expressed their wish to have a place to hold basketball and gymnasium stunts. All Langell Valley people are urged to take an interest in this work and to help boost the plans.

Mr. Henderson and Mrs. Jameson attended the community meeting at Lorella on Saturday evening.

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 18. (AP)—The county clerks association of Oregon today unanimously adopted a resolution urging the United States senate to vote in favor of the world court.
