Newspaper Adv. to Carry Christmas Greeting Notice

SEATTLE, Wash., Dec. 19.—(AP)—An advertisement in a newspaper, and not cards, personally engraved or ready printed, will, it was announced today, convey the Christmas wishes of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Revels of this city to their friends. Revels is United States district attorney for western Washington.
"Cards," explained Revels, "are too cold and impersonal. Then, they are expensive. Again, if someone is overlooked, he feels hurt."
"A nice, snappy ad. in the paper will reach many persons I would like to remember, but probably would not have time to favor with individual greetings. Then there are friends whose names I don't even recall, but who will read my card in the paper and know that I mean them also."

4 LOCAL HEAVIES SIGNED TO FIGHT HERE NEW YEARS

Effort now Being Made to Sign up Two More for Big Feature Card

Preliminary plans for a New Year's card to be staged here on the afternoon of January 1 were announced today by Matchmaker Sylvester, including a six-round semi-windup in which Knockout Hogan and Jim Fleming will meet and decisively settle their argument which went four slugging, slambang rounds to a draw on the last card.
As a special added event two giants have been signed, one "Kid" Short, towering son of Barrell Short, county commissioner, who will weigh in six feet four inches tall and 295 pounds, against Buck Weaver, local transfer man, 210-pounder. This match is the outcome of a friendly kidding match between the two and should please those who like to see heavyweights in action.
And by the same token, those fans who saw the last card are praying that Matchmaker Sylvester will be successful in his efforts to match up Sugar Willie Keeler, victor on the last card, with Frank Farmer, Nick Yeager or some other coast heavy of like calibre, so that Keeler will be given a real opportunity to extend himself.
