HAPPY NEW YEAR
 May It Be A Day of Mirth
 May It Be A Day of Worth.
 May It Be A Day of Cheer,
 Each and Every Day This Year
 This Is My Wish to You!

YOU know the old saying: "The man worth while is the man who smiles when everything goes dead wrong." Really that applies to the woman who is striving for beauty more than perhaps anyone else, because if she allows herself to get discouraged, especially if she values her looks, she just does not dare give herself the pleasure of being miserable, nor give way to long sulks of depression and worry for these indulgences are harmful to beauty. They influence the expression to such a degree that the frowner becomes a different human being, lined and mellowed and old, in a short time.

Every facial expression works some muscle of the face for good or evil, that is for the continuance of beauty of the development of ugliness. One should cultivate the optimistic disposition, develop a jolly, amiable generous personality. Try to overlook the unkind things people may say about you. All this adds to beauty besides preserving it, for everyone is attracted to those who have a smile ready and who can look trouble in the face without cowering. Joy, good cheer and every bright thought and feeling keep the muscles working upward in a healthy manner. Having something to do they become firm and flexible and the flesh retains its youth and smoothness a little longer.

Happiness is just as much a business as doctoring, mining, writing, or anything else. It doesn't come to you unless you make it a point to get it. Insist on having happiness and you will get it, for you will find the way. Each woman's life is as she makes it, so if you want health, love, life, beauty—make yourself happiness, for it lies within you only.

Turbulent emotions that constantly irritate the body cause premature age.

It is said that violent emotions have a disastrous effect upon the health, that certain remarkable chemical changes take place, each evil emotion having its own particular poison, which can be discovered by analysis.

It stands to reason that an accumulation of poison in the body must have its effect in some undesirable way. The life-loving, life-filled, life-giving person is the one who will hold onto life, youth and beauty the longest, for her attitude is strengthening. Mentally, physically and morally she gains in power, and what power is not fascinating, alluring and even dominating, especially when backed by happiness?

Keep your temper—no one else wants it.

When you sow seeds sow the best that you have. You never know the great extent to which beauty, happiness and well spent thoughts and deeds may influence. Never mind if you are missing real things in your life which you think you ought to have. There is a wonderful compensation that comes to the disappointed. If bitterness doesn't enter to tear things down. Don't try to get in the last word. Be too proud to lose your pride.

When judging another, remember that you do not like to be judged. The Golden Rule will always have the same amount of gold in it, no matter with what or how you try it out.

Keep doing many things each day for the mere pleasure of having done them. Try to build heart dignity. It is a rare trait. And what I mean by this, is a sort of glow which you are able to carry with you that will make people like you and instinctively follow you in all your fine aspirations.

Learn to get up alone when you are thrown down. The strength thus handed to you will enable you to stand up against double odds the next time.

Do your day's work gladly—whatever it may be.

PAST NOBLE GRAND CLUB TO MEET

MRS. W. J. STEINMETZ will be hostess on Tuesday afternoon, January fifth to the matrons of the Past Noble Grand club at her home on Walnut. A social hour will follow the regular business meeting of the club.

CHRISTMAS PARTIES AT CALEB JONES HOME

TWO lovely affairs of the past week were presided over by the Misses Hillis McCall and Martha Jones, when they complimented a coterie of the high school set at the Jones home on North Fifth. Dancing and games carried out the main diversions for both evenings. The Christmas season decorations were used throughout the Jones home, a large brilliantly decorated tree, holding gifts for the guests placed in the living room was the cause of much merriment when Mr. John McCall acted as "Santa" delivering the gifts from the tree. A buffet luncheon was served each evening by the young hostesses assisted by their mothers.

On Wednesday evening Edward Swanson played a number of dance numbers on the banjo.

Among those who attended the affairs were Mr. and Mrs. Don Fish-ton, Eda Jones, Jean Rogers, Lydia Charlotte Grover, Marguerite Cummings, Gertrude Lindley, Marjorie Peyton, Joy Evans, Virginia Peyton, Sda Jones, Jean Rogers, Lydia Vonbertheldorf, Fake Grizzle, Thelma Grizzle, Zepha Rogers, Jennie Grover, Ruth Cofer, Leota Beal, Nadine Brearcliffe, Venice Moore, Alma Massey, Dorothy Rumore, Mildred Rideout, Merle Swanson, Rudolph Jacobs, Edward Swanson, Marie Crystal, Howard Graham, Paul Campbell, Arthur Moore, Virginia Beal, Bryant Williams, Lester Cofer, Elbert Stiles, Roland Cofer, George Bennett, Leslie Elmore, Harold Jensen, Melvin Engle, Wallace Uhring, Carrol Gray, John Kuykendall, John Uhring, John Morgan, John Bessler, John Hawkins, George Conroy, Frank Hall, Nathan McMullen, Bill Kuykendall, Joe Painter, Oliver Painter, Frank Hall, Joe Evans, Kinton Hamaker, Norval Hamilton and Carl Yancey.

EASTERN STAR OFFICERS INSTALLED

INSTALLATION of officers for the ensuing year took place on Tuesday evening, when Aloha chapter, No. 61 of the Eastern Star held its regular meeting. In a most impressive manner the work was carried out with vocal and musical numbers.

Mrs. Wilbur Jones presented the past matrons pin to Mrs. Marion Hanks, who retired from office after one year's faithful work.

Following installation a banquet and social hour took place.

The following elective and appointive officers were installed: Dorothea Wortley, worthy matron; Marion Hanks, worthy patron; Lena Dennis, associate matron; Nellie Wattenburg, conductress, Harriett Hunter, associate conductress; Dolie Virgil, secretary; Mollie Belding, treasurer; Hazel Noble, Adah; Maude Hood, Ruth, Fernie Hanks, Esther, Virginia Eller, Martha, Zella Jones, Electa; Orva Beard, Warden, Robert Wattenburg, Sentinel; Alma Cofer, organist.

Mrs. Ella McMillan was installing officer and was assisted by Mrs. Kate Peyton as installing marshal, Francis Boyd as chaplain and Georgia Shive as organist.

CHRISTMAS PARTY AT JOHNSTON HOME

A NUMBER of the friends of Miss Anna Mae Johnston were guests at the Johnston home on Canby on Christmas night when Miss Anna Mae entertained with a Christmas party. Games and radio music passed the hours. In the drawing room a sparkling Christmas tree and clusters of pine boughs and cones, artistically placed, made this room especially lovely where gifts to each guest were placed. Concluding the evening the hostess served a buffet luncheon.

Among those present were the Misses Vera Houston, Florence Porter, Mary Ball, Hazel Noble, W. Bell, Dolis Clemens, Cressie Tilly, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mills, Frank Moser, Percy Murray, Edward Livingston, A. L. Barnhisel, Lloyd Porter, Frank Metcalf, Ned Metcalf and the hostess.

TOUCHES OF COLOR

There is a tendency to brighten up with touches of bright red or blue the dark frock of black or blue.

MARRIED AT HIGH NOON CHRISTMAS DAY

CHRISTMAS day at high noon. Mr. Warren C. Bennett of this city and Miss Frances O. Randella of Portland were married at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Parker, of Crescent avenue. Standing beneath an improvised altar of holly, arch bells, pine boughs and mistletoe, the wedding ceremony was read by Rev. A. L. Rice of the the First Presbyterian church in the presence of fifteen immediate relatives and friends of the young couple. Miss Frances Bennett and Mr. John McAndrews were the attendants.

The bride was gowned in a white satin model fashioned in the latest mode and her shower bouquet was of opheila roses and lilly of the valley. Miss Bennett was prettily gowned in crepe satin of salmon color trimmed in gold lace, and carried an arm bouquet of tea roses.

Immediately following the wedding Mrs. Parker served a wedding dinner, the beautifully appointed table being centered with an arrangement of glistening green leaves and red berries, blended with lighted red tapers.

After a tour of southern California, Mr. and Mrs. Bennett will return to Klamath Falls to make their home at 1167 Crescent avenue.

For the past few years the bride has taught in the schools at Summers and has made many friends in this community. Mr. Bennett is manager of the People's warehouse of this city.

SLEIGHING PARTY ENJOYABLE AFFAIR

ANOTHER enjoyable out of doors party of the past week, when Klamath Falls residents enjoyed their first real snow storm of the winter, was that of Sunday evening when a four horse sleighing party left early in the evening for Pelican City, stopping long enough to roast wienies over a huge bonfire. Those enjoying the affair included Misses Zepha Rogers, Virginia Ball, Marguerite Cummings, Jennie Grover, Beatrice Pearson, Lorane Mordoff, Eda Jones, Eva Miller, Joy Miller, Dorothea Hawkins, Edna Dunbar and Dehila Hawkins, John Hawkins, Ren Hollister, Harold Johnson, Robert Oliver, Irvin Keller, James Grover, Frank Hall, Kenton Hamaker, Percy Murray, Forrest Miller, Earl Mack, Ralph Adamson, Bryant Williams, and William Williams.

STEBBINS' ENTERTAIN WITH CHRISTMAS DINNER

MR. AND MRS. G. I. STEBBINS were host and hostess at a Christmas dinner at their home on north Ninth. Centering the dinner table was a center piece of holly and ferns with one glowing red taper. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Raymond, Miss Nell Raymond, Mr. G. Eckman and the host and hostess and their daughter, Patsy.

ANNUAL CHRISTMAS PARTY AT PELICAN BAY

THE annual Christmas party over which Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Mortenson preside each year, honoring the youngsters of the employees of the Pelican Bay Lumber company, was held in the clubhouse on Christmas afternoon. In one corner of the main club room a huge Christmas tree, sparkling with brilliant colored lights was placed, upon which gifts for some hundred kiddies were arranged. The clubhouse was decorated throughout with clusters of evergreen, pine boughs and cones.

Assisting Mr. and Mrs. Mortenson in greeting the youngsters, and their parents were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pike, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Bridgeford, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Albertson and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Johnston.

D. A. R. TO MEET WITH MRS. WATTENBURG

THE regular meeting of the D. A. R. members will be held on Monday evening, January fourth at the home of Mrs. R. E. Wattenburg, regent of the order. Regular business matters will be taken up at this meeting.

On account of the holiday season and the recent epidemic the luncheon which was planned for this date was cancelled.

She's the Golden Rule Girl

Eve Southern, 29, of Los Angeles, has been chosen in a nation-wide contest as the Golden Rule girl of America. As such she will preside over Los Angeles activities in the Near East Relief Society's Golden Rule week.

ELK ANNUAL CHRISTMAS DANCE LAST EVENING

THE annual Christmas party of the Elks, marked the outstanding event of Christmas night, when several hundred members of the order and their friends enjoyed dancing from nine until midnight. Galloways orchestra furnished the dance music.

MRS. JOHN BOYLE TO GIVE BOOK REVIEW

PROMPTLY at the hour of two fifteen o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, January fifth, the Delphian club will hold their regular monthly meeting. Miss Marion Martin will give two piano numbers during the afternoon's program. Mrs. John C. Boyle will give a book review on "The Perennial Bachelor" by Ann Parish. Recently this novel took first prize in Harpers contest and is considered one of the outstanding books of the year.

The evening class of the Delphians, under the leadership of Mrs. Rachael Solomon will meet at the home of Mrs. Wilbur Jones on Wednesday evening.

YOUNGER SET HAVE SLEIGHING PARTY

A SLEIGH coasting party which proved one of the most enjoyable affairs of the past week for a number of the young set of Klamath Falls was that of last Sunday. The party included some eighteen and coasted to Keno where a huge bonfire was built and a wienie roast was enjoyed. Among those enjoying the winter sport were Misses Edna Dunbar, Dorothea Hawkins, Dehila Hawkins, Joy Miller, Eva Miller, LaVerne Thomas, Charlotte Grover, Jennie Grover, Lorane Mordoff, Eda Jones and Phillis Whitcomb; Ralph Adamson, Forrest Miller, John Hawkins, Earl Mack, Irvin Keller, Kenton Hamaker and Ren Hollister.

COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING COMING WEEK

TO further plans for the luncheon given by the American Home Department of the Library club for matrons who have kept house for half a century, the committee will meet early this coming week. The luncheon will be held in the dining room of the hotel White Pelican. In charge of the affair are Mrs. John C. Boyle, Mrs. Don J. Zumbart, Mrs. Z. Powell and Mrs. R. E. Wattenburg.

Anyone knowing of a matron who is eligible to attend the luncheon as a guest of the library club will favor the club by calling Mrs. R. E. Wattenburg at phone 559-R.

DINNER PARTY AT BUSSMAN APARTMENT

MRS. A. H. BUSSMAN presided over a delightful Christmas dinner at her home in the Sunset on Christmas day. Centering the dinner table was a centerpiece of poinsettias and holly. Christmas candles in red were placed at either end of the prettily appointed table. Dinner was served at five and covers were laid for: Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Rogers, Misses Zepha and Jean Rogers, James and David Rogers, Mr. C. H. Underwood, Mr. T. Knott and the hostess.

DOESKIN GLOVES

The most fashionable gloves are those of doeskin, made all-over and worn very loose and comfortable and generously wrinkled.

JOBS ARE WHAT YOU MAKE THEM, SAYS CYNTHIA

If I had time, there is nothing I would rather do than hunt for jobs, was the declaration to me of a capable stenographer. "I think it is the best experience in the world. There's nothing you can sell that is half so interesting as selling yourself."

This particular woman has never hunted a job, except the first one she landed after she finished a course at business college. But she is continually selling herself to people with whom she comes in contact and is frequently offered better positions and raises, without conscious effort.

When it comes to punching the keys of the typewriter, she may not be any more swift than the average stenographer, but she is very quick when it comes to using her head.

She gets messages correctly. She knows how to handle people who want to see the boss. She knows how to handle the boss so that he keeps his correspondence up each day, so that she can keep her own desk clear.

And last, but certainly not least, she knows how to look very capable and businesslike, but attractive at the same time. She never appears at the office in a sleazy silk dress that is no longer good enough for evening wear. She doesn't wear sleeveless frocks or exaggeratedly short skirts or cheap jewelry.

Usually she wears a dark, simple dress of easy cut, and invariably has immaculately fresh white collars and cuffs, which I happen to know she launders herself each evening. Her shoes always fit perfectly and are never run down at the heel or crying for a shine. Her bobbed hair is always smooth and suggests frisky neat washings and careful brushings. That's as much as I could tell you about her appearance, because one never really notices what she has on particularly, instead one sees an animated, intelligent face and senses a winning personality.

This girl would never have to look for a job. She is the type that adjusts itself marvelously to the demands made on a business woman.

When she marries and has a home of her own, as she inevitably will, she will be a capable housekeeper and a delightful hostess. She will merely change her environment, but will retain the qualities that have made her a successful business woman.

It is enough to be just a good stenographer, with the ability to read shorthand notes correctly and transcribe without too many erasures. Every successful business woman has to be a success personally, and has to have a personality outside her job.

She must be able not only to fill the position she holds, but be ready for a better one. She must be not only a good worker, but a good salesman. Jobs in the business world are pretty much the same, but differences in people make great difference in them. One woman will remain a stenographer at the call of her employer's buzzer, and another will rise to her own private office and her own pushbuttons in five years. It depends largely on the individual.

If you have a hard time finding a job, and you stay down at the bottom of the ladder, don't blame bad luck, or don't belittle those who rise when you don't. Just take stock of yourself and you will find out what is the matter with you. If you can't find this out for yourself, ask your employer to tell you where you don't register.

Learn to sell yourself. Just remember that there are more good jobs than there are good workers. You might as well have one of the big ones yourself.

NEW YEARS EVE DANCING PARTY AT COMMUNITY CLUB

THURSDAY evening marks the New Years dancing party at the community house of Pelican City, which gives promise of being the outstanding event of the coming week. A novel program has been arranged for. Galloway's orchestra will furnish music from nine until midnight. Several vaudeville acts through the courtesy of Mr. Poole of the Pine Tree theater will appear to entertain the guests. Favors and novelties for each guest are to be distributed. Close to six hundred invitations were issued for the affair.

MARRIED CHRISTMAS EVE AT RICE HOME

CHRISTMAS Eve at the hour of five o'clock, Mr. William H. Smith and Miss Edith Quibell were united in marriage at the home of Rev. and Mrs. A. L. Rice. The wedding was simple yet most impressive and the young couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. William Jarman. Until one year ago Mrs. Smith was a resident of England and since coming to America has made her home in Klamath Falls.

They will be at home to their friends on North Second.
