

Death Claims D. A. Nichols

Funeral services for Daniel A. Nichols, who passed away Sunday morning at a local hospital, after an illness of several days suffering with double pneumonia, will be held Tuesday afternoon from Whitlock's parlors. Rev. Davis will conduct the services at the parlor. Klamath Falls Masonic lodge will take charge of the burial ceremony at the cemetery.

Mr. Nichols, with another brother who is 19 years of age, had been in Klamath Falls for the past four months, both being employed at the Pelican Bay Lumber company. They lived at Red Deer, Alberta, where Mr. Nichols was a member of Red Deer lodge No. 12, A. F. and A. M.

Within the past three months, both the mother and father have passed away in Canada. Mr. Nichols is survived by several brothers and sisters in Canada.

Expect to Obtain Federal Building

Claiming Klamath Falls to be in the center of a vast territory which is governed by federal lands and agencies, the Klamath Falls chamber of commerce is using this as one of its strongest points in the effort now being made to establish a federal building in Klamath Falls.

That this community is growing rapidly is evidenced by the rapid growth in the business of the local post office, which forced the office to seek larger quarters.

With but one federal building in southern Oregon, that located in Medford, it is felt that Klamath Falls could and should be the location of a federal building to supply the demands of southern Oregon.

Letters and data have been mailed to Senators McNary and Stanfield, who have written the local chamber to give all possible information. It is believed that an appropriation will be approved for the state of Oregon during this session.

Time To Move Out Christmas Tree, Warning Dry Limbs Now Source Of Fire Dan- ger

Move your old Christmas tree out of the house today, if you haven't done so before.

This is the warning of Fire Chief Ambrose today, following passage of four uneventful days at the city fire station, with no alarm turned in.

"If you brought your tree" into the house Christmas Eve, it is dry as tinder by now and a potential source of danger. Best play safe and move it out now. You wouldn't leave a pile of oil-soaked rags lying around, and a dry Christmas tree is just about as great a fire menace," the chief said.

FROM MODOC POINT

Mrs. S. W. Engline, well known resident of Modoc Point, is among the business visitors in the city today.

DIVORCE SUIT FILED

Suit of Grace Hamm vs. Jack Hamm, a divorce action alleging desertion, was filed this afternoon. Wm. Marx is attorney for the plaintiff.

VISIT IN ASHLAND

Mrs. R. B. Amicke, Miss Evelyn Amicke, Miss Addie Jenkins, Miss Genevieve Hensley and Kenneth Maller motored to Ashland Saturday evening to spend the week end with friends. They returned home last evening.

OFFICIALS FIND LITTLE TO DO HERE

City Quiet Following Christmas Ac- tivity

Saturday night and Sunday found Klamath Falls apparently stuffed too full to permit of any laws being broken by anyone.

No drunks were garnered in by the police and the sheriff's office found little to occupy itself. Two speeders were expected to appear this morning.

Dry enforcement officials took a layoff, though not an intentional one. They reported being on the job, but said they could find no one to arrest.

Several Packages Are Unidentified

If you were expecting a Christmas package that did not arrive, perhaps you can call at the general delivery window of the post office and identify one or more of the half dozen packages that reached the local office frapped in a thin coating of tissue paper, from which the address had been torn off.

Letters poorly addressed have also reached well up into the thousands, which means that the local office will have to spend many hours looking up proper addresses in the Klamath Falls directory.

By two o'clock this afternoon practically all the Christmas mail which arrived in the city late had been delivered and the office was back to normal again with the regular staff handling the work.

Local Couple Are Wed in Portland

Surprising their many friends in Klamath Falls, George McIntyre of the First National and Miss Eloise McPherson, director of music in the Klamath high school, were married in Portland at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. and Mrs. C. T. McPherson, of Portland, on Christmas day.

They were attended by Miss Rosalia Keber of Salem, and Alexandria Brown, of Portland. Rev. W. W. Youngson performed the ring ceremony in the presence of a few relatives and friends. The bride's father gave her in marriage.

In time for the opening of school, January 4, they will return to Klamath Falls. Mrs. McIntyre to resume her position.

Both have been prominent in the social life of Klamath Falls and have hosts of friends here.

Two Being Tried on Robbery Charge

Case of the State vs. Liddy and Reagan was being heard this afternoon in justice court, with testimony not concluded at 3 o'clock. The two are charged with having stolen bedding from the Buesing rooming house and with having entered Hale's market and stealing a ham.

Love's blind. That's why they park by the side of the road. They can't see how to drive the car.
