

When the students' year book at the Oklahoma State Agricultural college conducted a beauty contest it sent pictures of forty-three co-eds to Cecil De Mille, movie director, asking him to select the most beautiful. He rejected all but these two, saying he couldn't decide between them, so they'll get equal prominence in the book. They are, left, Miss Mary Janet Turnbull, Woodward, Okla., and right, Miss Lorene Rayburn, of Clovis, N. M.

Pelican City Dance Party To Be Whiz

Vaudeville And Other Features Are Secured

With no expense spared to make the affair one of the most lavish ever staged in Klamath Falls, the committee in charge of arrangements for the monster New Year's Eve dance at the Pelican City Community club is expecting the greatest crowd in the history of the institution.

More than 600 invitations have been issued. The affair is scheduled to begin at 9:00 o'clock and to last long after the New Year has dawned.

With Galloway's orchestra engaged for all night, it is expected that before dawn even the most enthusiastic Charlestoneer will have had a plenty.

The floor at the Pelican Bay community is one of the best, if not the best in this entire district, and this fact alone is expected to be a drawing card that will appeal to many.

Harry Poole of the Pine Tree theater has promised that all of his vaudeville acts will be in evidence.

Theater to Have New Year's Party

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Poole will preside as host and hostess on New Year's Eve at the annual midnight theater party to be held at the Pine Tree theater.

Special vaudeville, refreshments, smokes and noise makers and other types of amusement have been arranged for to help the midnight guests usher out the old year and welcome in the New Year.

Each year residents of Klamath Falls looked forward to this affair which gives promise of surpassing any such affairs held in Klamath Falls on previous years.

Criminal Trial to Start January 11

Circuit Judge Leavitt has called his trial jury for January 11, at which time the trial docket will be resumed, with the prosecution of R. W. Carlson, under the indictment on a charge of assaulting B. H. Pruitt with intent to rob. An alleged accomplice in the reputed assault has not yet been apprehended, so Carlson will face trial alone.

Judge Leavitt will call the same jurors who served during the last term of court, he announced.

New Panatrope to Be Demonstrated

A demonstration of the new Panatrope music reproducing instrument will be staged at Gurrin's Drug store, Ninth and Klamath, tomorrow afternoon. This machine has provoked a widespread discussion throughout the world of music.

The Brunswick Panatrope reproduces music solely on the electric principle. It in no way resembles the phonograph except in the use of a needle. A magnetic pick-up takes the vibrations off the record and generates a very weak electrical current. This current, in its weak state, is carried to a series of radio tubes and is greatly amplified. The powerful amplified current is then carried to the Panatrope Cone where for the first time the electrical vibrations are converted into musical sounds.

The sound waves originating in the Panatrope Cone are not confined within any restricted area such as the phonograph horn. Nor have the musical sounds, converted from the Panatrope electrical vibrations, come in contact at any point with wooden, metallic or composition surfaces of any kind. So all traces of the tinny, artificial colorings of phonographic sounds are eliminated.

Fort Kiamath Team Wins Fast Contest

The Fort Klamath basketball team defeated the Klamath Cardinals of Klamath Falls, 30 to 29, in a hotly contested game at Fort Klamath last night. The game was fast and in doubt until the final whistle, with both teams having a slight advantage at different times during the contest.

The two teams will meet in a return match at Altamont auditorium next Friday night, starting at 7:30.

Malin Principal Is Interested in Many Activities

A. E. Street, principal of the Malin high school, is a busy young man, judging from the various activities in which he is engaged in the lower part of the county. Following is an account of the Malin educator's work as noted in the News-Item, official publication of the Oregon state board of vocational education:

It is over the Cascades a hundred miles by stage from Medford to Malin. We found A. E. Street teaching eight hours a day, coaching all athletics, shooting ducks and geese of evenings, chasing bootleggers and serving as police judge on Saturdays.

If his nerve holds out, he will yet make a model American community out of Malin. His school is not large and the two year course in agriculture is alternated, but it is functioning so well that 62% of the boys are in his agricultural class, and all of the remainder except one have had the two years of the course in previous years. Mr. Street has a sufficient equipment of tools to conduct shop work, and the boys are getting excellent training in all lines. Some day soon the irrigation project will be fully completed and there will be a dense population occupying this reclaimed lake bed. As the school house is located but one mile or so from the California border and is drawing pupils from that state, a joint arrangement has already been made for co-operation.

Post Office Will Keep Sunday Hours On New Year's Day

The regular Sunday schedule will be observed on New Year's day at the post office, according to announcement made this afternoon by Assistant Postmaster, R. L. Griffith.

The letters which were mailed to residents of Klamath Falls during the Christmas rush, not addressed properly are being given directory service at the rate of close to 1,500 a day at the office. Those which cannot be located through the directory and which have the address of the sender on them are being returned. Those just addressed to Klamath Falls will be returned in seven days, while general delivery will be sent back at the end of the tenth day. In cases where no return has been placed upon the letters, they will be sent to the dead letter office in San Francisco.

A few of the Christmas packages received at the local office, which were thinly wrapped in tissue paper from which the addresses had been lost have been claimed by local people at the general delivery window. A few such packages still remain at the local office unclaimed.

Pioneer Dies at Home of Relative

Isaac J. Straw, 62, died last night at the home of his brother, James Straw, in Shipington. Anemia was given as the cause of death. Deceased was formerly a stockman, with large interests in the MacDoel section. He is survived by his brother in Shipington and by another brother, Dr. E. E. Straw of Marshfield; a niece now residing in San Francisco and two nephews, C. S. Currin, local druggist, and C. C. Currin of Portland.

Log Falls from S. P. Train, Breaking Leg of U. S. Mail Carrier

A moving train, a falling log—crash! And a broken leg for E. T. Roberts, proprietor of the K. F. Transfer company, last night at 8 o'clock.

Roberts, who has the contract for carrying mail between the post office and the Southern Pacific depot, had just completed his run and was walking home from his garage. As he neared the Hot Springs bathhouse, walking near the railroad track, a log from a flat car of the moving freight train rolled off and struck him, rolling him over with it once or twice.

Roberts' cries for help were heard by Mr. Mann, of the bath house, who came to his aid and took him to the Klamath General hospital where it was found he had suffered a compound fracture of his right leg below the knee.

Pelican City Man Not Held for Coos

Eddie Matthews of Pelican City isn't the same Eddie Matthews wanted in Coos county for non-support.

No sir. The Pelican City Eddie Matthews who recently paid a $500 fine for conducting a roadhouse in that thriving community wants his friends—and patrons, perhaps—to know that he is still in Klamath county and intends to remain here.

A confusion of names caused a mistake in yesterday's Herald, because Pelican City Eddie's name-sake had been arrested here for the Coos county authorities.

But Eddie Matthews of Pelican City is still in business—at Pelican City.
