

Medford Baptists Continue Lawsuit

MEDFORD, Ore., Jan. 20.—(AP)—Difference between the beliefs and practices of the Baptist church, and the "Aimee McPherson Four-Square Gospel, new movement," relative to "divine healing" and the "Baptism of the Holy Ghost" were testified to by high churchmen at the Tuesday hearing of the suit between the Ashland Baptist church and the First Baptist church, Inc. for a settlement of property rights.

Dr. W. B. Hinson of Portland, pastor of the East Side Baptist church and prominent theologian of the northwest declared the "Tarry meetings" of the "Four-Square Gospel" followers, when healing was performed, the process, in the minds of "good Baptists" was fanatical and unauthorized, and readily lends itself to the charge of hypnotism.

CORRECTION

The step-father of one of the young boys who ran away from their homes Saturday night, bound for California, denied this morning that his stepson had been brought before County Judge R. H. Hurrell at the time of his last misbehavior. He asked that a correction be made in order that his friends and neighbors be not misled and The Evening Herald takes this opportunity to grant the request. In the article in last night's issue of The Herald, it quoted the sheriff's office as stating the young boys had been brought before the county judge before.

Workmen Must Be Protected

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 20. (AP)—Warning that construction companies must either accept responsibility for protection of workmen or have it forced upon them by law, was given in a report today at the convention of the Associated General Contractors of America, in session here. W. F. Croighton of Nashville, Tenn., presented the report. He declared that safety regulations which are too complicated defeat their own ends. He said that experience of the building industry had resulted in conflicting opinions as to the practicability of a proposed code which has been under consideration. "Accident prevention," said Mr.

Croighton, "is primarily a matter of education. Almost any careless workman can endanger the lives of his fellow workmen, irrespective of a contractor's safety instruction and experience has clearly shown that this condition is not curable by legislation. This, however, is not suggested as any evidence that legislation will not come if we fail to reduce the frequency and severity of industry accidents."

OFFICIALS WILL ATTEND HEARING

SALEM, Ore., Jan. 20.—(AP)—H. H. Corey, member of the Oregon public service commission and J. M. Devers and W. P. Ellis, attorneys for the commission, will leave for Washington, D. C., about January 28 to appear before the I. C. C. in the final hearing on the Central Oregon railroad case. The attorneys will present oral arguments before the commission.

JOHNSTON IMPROVES

John Johnston, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Johnston of 1146 Canby avenue is slightly improved today. His condition has been serious for the past few days, the result of a severe cold which he contracted.

BELLMAN RETURNS

L. H. Bellman has returned to Klamath Falls from a month's visit in the east with relatives and friends. The greater part of Mr. Bellman's visit was spent at Winfield, Kansas, with his children and sisters. He reports a delightful trip but is happy to return to Klamath Falls. A. A. Bellman, his brother, is still enjoying a visit in Cuba leaving Klamath Falls at the same time, a little over a month ago.

ATTENDANCE REPORT SOON

The attendance report from the various schools will be completed the first of this coming week, principals of the various schools getting their reports into City Superintendent J. Percy Wells' office the end of this week.

At The LIBERTY

The greatest rider of them all, Yakima Canutt, world's champion roper and bulldogger, sweeps like an avenging Nemesis through a thrilling story of the western ranges in "White Thunder," which will be shown for the first time here at the Liberty theater on Thursday. Taking the part of a mysterious night rider who is running down the murdered of his father, Yakima has a splendid opportunity to indulge his world-famous horsemanship in sensational chases, relays, and break-neck stunts. This is unquestionably the best picture starring the head of the cowboy country, and Kingsley Benedict's story makes a corking vehicle. Nell Brantley proves delightful in the heroine's role, while the rest of the cast, which includes Geo. Lenox, Lew Meehan and William H. Turner, are all fine.
