1 DEAD, 2 HURT CHINESE FUSS

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Feb. 15.—(AP)—One Chinese is dead, two others, one a woman, are near death, and deputy sheriffs are scouring the country near Walnut Grove for the slayer as the result of the shooting affair last night, believed to have been the culmination of a family and business quarrel.

The snooting occurred when a man, said to be Henry Seeshow, entered the mercantile establishment of Miss Jang Shee and fired at random.

Owyang Jamsing, a customer, was killed and Miss Shee and Owyang Lum, her cousin, fell to the floor wounded.

Two Greatest Women Tennis Players To Meet Tomorrow In Championship Struggle

Helen Wills And Suzanne Lenglen to Fight it Out For Tennis Honors on French Court; Neither Makes Prediction

CANNES, France, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Helen Wills, America's youthful lawn tennis champion, will face the great Suzanne Lenglen tomorrow. She entered the final of the Carlton tournament today by decisively defeating Mlle. Didi Vlasto, 6-1, 6-4, while Suzanne came through with the other half, disposing of Mme. Contoslavos 6-0, 6-2.

In overcoming the last obstacle standing between her and Mlle. Lenglen, Miss Wills played a remarkable game. She overwhelmed her opponent in the first set. In the second, the French girl fought a bitter fight, only to go down before an exhibition of powerful driving such as was never witnessed in the women's tennis on the Riviera before.

Miss Wills appeared to be playing with much in reserve for the first two games in the second set and only uncorked her best attack when down, four games to one. She then unloosed her powerful drive and ran out five games for the set and match.

Miss Wills' victory was more decisive than in her last meeting with Mlle. Vlasto, a fortnight ago on the Metropole courts, when she was forced to extend herself to win at 6-3, 7-5. Mlle Vlasto was the finalist against the American champion in the Olympic tournament of 1924, which Helen won, 6-2, 6-2.

Mlle. Lenglen watched the entire match and seemed greatly impressed by Helen's playing in the last five games of the second set. She refused to comment.

Miss Wills also begged to be excused from saying anything before her match with Suzanne, adding that she would make a statement tomorrow after it was all over.

The match proved a spirited baseline duel, as Mlle. Vlasto's forehand is one of the strongest among the French women players.

During one of the rallies Miss Wills stumbled and fell to her knees. She staggered upon rising and a hush fell over the thousands of spectators, who feared the champion had been injured. She said after the match that she felt no ill effects from the fall.

DIVES ARE PADLOCKED

Two Klamath moonshining dives, one at 618 Willow street and another at 248 Broad street, were placed under lock and key today as the result of an order issued this afternoon by Federal Judge Bean of Portland. The house on Broad street is believed to be the one operated by Jack Miller; the one on Willow street was referred to by officers as "Congo's Old Place."

Padlocking of the moonshine joints, comes as a result of a raid, staged by federal and state officers several weeks ago, in which five were arrested on a charge of sale and possession of moonshine whiskey and of conducting a nuisance. Federal officers appeared before the U. S. district court in Portland and submitted complaints against the dives. A temporary injunction to close the houses was granted and a hearing on the closure will be granted at a later date. The five men arrested are under bond, pending trial in Federal court in Portland.

Attempt To Wreck Train Is Discovered

Longview Officials Find Pipe on Track

LONGVIEW, Wash., Feb. 15.—(AP)—What is regarded as possibly a second train wreck attempt in Cowlitz county since January 31 was discovered yesterday when a four-inch pipe used to water the locomotives was pulled down across the track about four feet from the road bed on the Hammond logging road two miles east of Kelso at the Mitchell place.

The stand pipe was discovered by G. E. Beck, who was unable to raise the pipe and notified Hammond officials. While the pipe might not have wrecked a train, it might have proven fatal to riders on a speeder, it is thought. The sheriff's office took bloodhounds to the scene, and they followed a scent to the Cowesman river frequented by fishing parties, yesterday.

CITY WILL SPEND BIG SUM IN 1926

county high school, including Sixth street from High to Jefferson, Washington from Sixth to Seventh and Jefferson from Fifth to Sixth; property holders in Fairview addition, according to word received by the city engineer are planning to present petitions for the paving of several of the main traffic arteries through that residential district; paving of south Sixth street and construction of way; improvement of Oregon avenue; and improvement of Auburn street and Pacific terrace in Hot Springs addition.

Two Sewer Projects

Of the sewer improvements which are contemplated, there are two, the assistant engineer said, but these two will equal and may exceed in expenditure the total of the paving projects.

The city council has already passed a resolution, declaring its intention to have the Fairview sewer unit completed this year. This project will entail an outlay of approximately $90,000. Then the comprehensive sewer construction and also the construction of a city disposal plant which has been hanging fire for many months, will mean the expenditure of at least $200,000. The council is about to hire a sewage engineer who will draw plans for the sewer construction program and will supervise the construction work.

To Start in Spring

The first sunny days of spring, Henry predicted, will see paving operations started, and if all goes well, sewer construction will start a short time later.

It is the hope of the city administration that at the end of the year 1926, Klamath Falls will have caught up with herself, or, in other words, will have sufficient municipal improvements to meet the expansion which has taken place here during the past three years.
