

M'PHERSON CASE LONG WAY FROM SOLUTION STILL

No Indictment Returned by Grand Jury; Pastor's Followers Jubilant

LOS ANGELES, July 21.—(AP)—The case of Almeda Beale McPherson today was no nearer a solution than when she dramatically reappeared at Agua Prieta, Mexico, June 23, after being missing 36 days and presumably drowned, and told her story of having been kidnaped and held for ransom.

The county grand jury which yesterday finished an exhaustive investigation lasting three weeks, reported at the conclusion of its inquiry that the evidence produced to date was insufficient to warrant an indictment against the three unidentified persons—two men and a woman—named by Mrs. McPherson as her abductors. Had the grand jury returned a blanket indictment against the alleged kidnapers this action would have been construed to substantiate the evangelist's story. The only official comment on the grand jury's failure to find a true bill came from Deputy District Attorney Joe Ryan, who directed the investigation.

The action of the grand jury "explains fully the weight of evidence in the case," was his brief explanation.

Attorneys for Mrs. McPherson, however, see a vindication of the evangelist's kidnaping story in the findings of the grand jury.

"The official investigation not only bears out her story and proves it true, but reveals her to the world as a faithful, upright woman, who has withstood the attacks in a religious, God-fearing manner. Mrs. McPherson's story, related time and time again to officials and others remains as firm and unshaken as the first time it was told," her three lawyers declared in a statement filed out last night at Angeles Temple.

That the investigation of the strange disappearance of the woman pastor would be continued until the mystery is entirely cleared up was indicated by Mrs. McPherson's attorneys and by the district attorney's office. The grand jury also paved the way for further investigation when Foreman William H. Carter, in reporting the findings, announced that the grand jury would be open at all times to receive such evidence as Mrs. McPherson might submit "should she continue efforts to substantiate her story further."

The evangelist's attorneys, in their statement, announced that the close of the grand jury investigation only marked the close of the first phase.

Dance Managers Make Statement

We wish to express our appreciation to those who attended the snowball dance at the Altamont Saturday night, and to offer an explanation. As announced, we had secured the services of one of the best traveling orchestras on the road. This organization informed us on the eve of the dance they could not appear and at the last minute we were required to substitute another orchestra which we know was not the best.

We are new in the community, and wish the public to know this is not our way of doing business.

More feature dances are to be given, and we wish to announce that misunderstandings of this kind will not occur in the future. We want public patronage and we realize that to do so we must live up to our advertising.

In future, when you attend a dance at Altamont, you will be assured of seeing what was advertised.

of the search for her kidnapers, which would result in the capture of the kidnapers and the conclusive demonstration of the conspiracy against this good woman."

From District Attorney Keyes came the statement that his office would not let up in its efforts to solve the mystery until Kenneth G. Ormiston, former radio operator at Angeles Temple, and said now to be in New York, returned for questioning. Ormiston in a letter to Keyes informed the district attorney that he was afraid he could not oblige him.

Following the statements from Angeles Temple and the district attorney's office, it was learned last night that 14 of the 17 members of the grand jury had refused to vote for kidnaping indictments. Two of the three jurors who voted to indict were reported to have done so merely to keep the case open for possible further developments.

FRENCH ROWDIES HOOT AMERICANS

rants and cafes. Seemingly it is the "open season" for Americans. A bus filled with Americans visiting the heights of Montmartre was surrounded by a mob, the members of which tried to dare the Americans out of it. There was a lively mixup until the police arrived and dispersed the crowd.

Owing to the excitement over the fall in the value of the franc the government has prohibited radio-casting of the rate on the dollar and pound sterling. It also is considering the question of preventing the rate being posted in places visible from the street.

During the closing hours of the bourse yesterday extra police were called to hold back the great rush of people to buy foreign issues with dividends payable in stable currency and to sell domestic securities of which they feared a capital levy was to be made.

EAST SWELTERS IN HEAT WAVE

Hottest Weather of Year in Middle West; Relief in Sight

(By the Associated Press)
Easterners mopped their brows and scowled into the west today. For out of the west had rolled the summer's greatest heat wave.

But appealing glances of hope were turned to the west, too, for relief from the humid heat was scheduled to come from the same source.

As the heat mounted prostrations were reported and the list of drownings, indirectly attributable to the weather which caused a general rush to lake and seashore, mounted steadily.

Showers were reported at Galveston, Sault Ste. Marie, Duluth and St. Paul. Although high temperatures continued yesterday throughout the central valleys and upper lake region, reaching 100 degrees in Iowa and Nebraska, signs of relief were apparent today. Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska and Colorado were reported cooler, with indications existing that the cool wave will spread rapidly eastward.

Showers were predicted for the sweltering eastern states tonight and resulting cooler weather was promised for tomorrow.

Temperatures which yesterday passed 90 degrees in portions of Pennsylvania, New England, and New York were expected to be generally surpassed today.

New England seemed uniformly in the grip of the heat wave, and New York state bade fair to prove a lusty rival for high honors.

State Police Force Urged

MEDFORD, Ore., July 21.—(AP)—The Medford post of the American Legion, at the state convention at Marshfield next month, will introduce a resolution favoring the establishment of a state police force, modeled after those now operating in 21 states. The resolution holds that such an organization would tend for efficiency, economy and eliminate overlapping of authority in enforcement.

Sheik Challenges Without Results

CHICAGO, July 21.—(AP)—Rudolph Valentino's pugilistic aspirations today seemed doomed to die unborn. The movie sheik wanted to fight the anonymous writer of a Chicago Tribune editorial in which cosmetics and pomades for men, as vended by a slot machine in Chicago's newest ballroom, invoked the use of exclamation marks. Valentino sent out a challenge to the writer who had termed Rudolph the prototype of the model American male, and "the beautiful gardener's son," and asked why he had not been drowned years ago. Valentino intimated that he could give a good account of himself at fist-cuffs but the writer of the editorial has taken no notice of the movie actor's adner.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal.—Mrs. Anne Eastman attempted to shove her auto up an incline into a garage. The machine backed against her and she was crushed to death under the wheels.

When One Dies They'll Drink the Wine

When one of the three men shown above dies, the other two will drink the wine that they're exhibiting. These are the only remaining members of the Last Man Club, formed in 1885 by 24 Civil War veterans, who bought a bottle of wine and agreed that the last man should drink it. Now, with only three men left, they have agreed that the last two men must drink. The Volstead act, incidentally, hasn't cramped their plans at all. Left to right they are John S. Goff, Peter Hall and Charles Lockwood. They hold their annual banquet July 21 at Minneapolis, Minn.

NINE KILLED IN GAS BLAST

BLOCTON, Ala., July 21.—(AP)—Nine men were killed in a gas explosion at the Dixie mine of the Moffatt Coal company at Moffatt today. The dead include three white miners and six negro workers. Seven of the bodies were removed soon after the explosion.

Representatives of the United States bureau of mines and state mining officials stationed here hurried to the mine. The men were working a short shift and every man in the mine was killed.

It was believed by officials that the explosion of a "gas pocket" which occurred at daylight was responsible for the blast.

FIGHTING AGAIN

SEATTLE.—Politics assume a highly personal aspect over in Kelso. Former Mayor A. Ruric Todd and Commissioner E. D. Holbrook, political opponents, met yesterday. In the altercation that followed Todd was reported to have hit the canvas twice.

LOS ANGELES—Unpressed suits are in order here. Officials of the cleaners and dyers union called a strike yesterday.

Buena Vista Addition
Fastly being built up with comfortable, modest and slightly homes, Buena Vista addition offers decided advantages to prospective home owners. California avenue, center of Buena Vista addition, is to be paved. Water mains are being laid. Electric lights and power available to practically every lot. Stanford avenue, on the heights overlooking Klamath Lake, has been laid out and graded. Close in, yet distinctly appealing as a residence section in its topography, quality of soil and separateness, Buena Vista addition growing rapidly as a desirable investment for home building and increased property values.

Hillside Addition
Joining a residence district where fine homes are being builded, with streets laid out and graded, and prospects of some streets being hard surfaced and graveled, Hillside addition lots are being sought for their ideal value as an exclusive residence district. Laying exceptionally well for landscaping and model homes, gentle slope, cooled in summer by breezes from Klamath Lake and protected in winter by the wood capped hills, Hillside addition presents an unexcelled appeal in its altitude above the valley and away from the heavy traffic section of the city. Buy, build and reap with Klamath Falls' growth.
