"Desert Gold" Great Western

What is this man Zane Grey's secret? He never seems to run out of ideas. Each picture bearing his name is always a bit better than the one which preceded it. All this sounds like mighty high praise for his latest and greatest western, "Desert Gold," which opens at the Liberty Theatre tomorrow. But, that's what it's intended to be. "Desert Gold" is a fine film.

It has all the elements which go to make for popular appeal. Shirley Mason was never seen to better advantage than as Mercedes, the sweetheart of Neil Hamilton. William Powell makes an interesting bandit, and Robert Frazer as the man who wins the girl in the end, does his best with a role that fits him like the well known glove.
