Purple Flashes - Two Nights Only

Elks' Show Will Be Greatest Event of Theatrical Season

We are not going to tell you much about the Elks' show, "Purple Flashes," which will be staged at the Pine Tree theater, Thursday and Friday, February 24th and 25th, for we know, you know it's going to be a wonder, and why spoil it all by letting you in on the fun before the big night?

There will be snappy musical numbers and beautiful revues, which are reviewed in another column, and as for the farce comedy, we have a cast the like of which has never before been assembled in this district. It opens with John Houston as Jack Temple, a liar, a light comedy part that carries a lot of clever lines. C. J. McNaughton, professional producer, who is directing "Purple Flashes," will play opposite Mr. Houston as his chum, Frank Fuller, a bigger liar. They are a team that cannot be beaten when it comes to high, wide and handsome classes of the truth.

Paul Dalton will appear as the English army officer, Captain Sharpe. Paul is certainly there with the monocle, and his love scenes are a work of art. They win great applause from the audience.

Ed Moon will take the role of John Brown, a ladies' hairdresser. This part is a riot of fun, and it is worth the price of admission alone, just to see Ed in his famous role. Then we have Harry Meisner one of the premier actors of the community, in the character comedy, laughable part of Wigson, the decidedly talkative English butler. It is expected that after the show the community will insist upon erecting a statue of Harry as a monument to his art.

As for the ladies: We have Mrs. Ura McNaughtan in the leading role of Mrs. Jack Templeton, a temperamental wife. This gives her great scope for her natural ability, going in a mixup of comedy situations from laughter to tears; from the sublime to the ridiculous.

Two dainty attractive parts are those of Mrs. Frank Fuller, the Ferris Wheel lady, and Miss Dorothy Gladson, a romantic girl. They are played by Miss Elma Jensen and Mrs. Dorothy La Prairie and they are appearing with all the ease of professionals.

One of the funniest roles in the play is that of Mrs. John Brown, Christian name, Martha, a human cyclone. It is effectively portrayed by Mrs. G. L. Baxter, who, through her clever characterization furnishes much of the plot of the show. And we Editors as authorities, insist that every good show should have its plot.

The scenic effects and costuming were both made at an expense of $5000 especially for this show, and we guarantee that "Purple Flashes" will be the finest show ever seen in this district.

Musical Acts, Show Fun, Fashion, Show, Revues and Girlies

The Klamath Falls Elks' show will hold the boards at the Pine Tree theater Thursday and Friday, and it will carry a cast of 50 people. And not satisfied with giving full money's worth in the laughable farce comedy, which is explained in another column and which is one of the greatest hits of recent years, the Elks are putting on a number of musical revues, that are a riot of fun, color, pretty girls and effective costuming. They open with the Elks' Jazz Pony chorus composed of the Misses Beattie Darley, Evelyn Beckley, Addie Jenkins, Esther Noel, Gertrude Lindley, Thelma Grizzle, Grace Bennett, Allean Loomis, Louise Bell, Alisa Massey, Goldie Lewin and Lucile Conway. Also the Elks Ballet Chorus composed of the Misses Myrtle Collister, Evelyn Frances, Evelyn Amicke, Inez Jenkins, Genevieve Hensley, Pearl Collister, Juanita Dodge, Marie Engle, Fay Grizzle and Rose Darley. The song numbers heard in the opening are "Just Pack Me Up in Your Heart," "The Twinkle in Your Eye," "Bye Bye Blackbird," and two solos offered by Mrs. Lucile Conway and Miss Evelyn Amicke, "A Little Cottage for Two," and "Kentucky's Way Of Saying Good Morning."

In "The Old Fashioned Girls Revue," the song numbers "You're Just A Flower From An Old Bouquet" and "When You And I Were Seventeen," are offered by Mr. Willard Smith, and Mrs. Marjorie Olds will appear in "The Old Fashioned Girl." They will be supported by the Elks Ballet chorus as crinolaine girls.

One of the peppiest revues of the show will be "The Eskimo Baby Revue" which is led by C. J. McNaughtan, supported by the Elks Jazz Pony chorus and the whole flock of Eskimo babies—and that isn't all. He will introduce "Six Girls Of Other Lands," "The Spanish Girl," "The Oriental Girl," "The Hula Hula Dancer," "The Bride," "The Vamp," etc., impersonated by the little Misses Barbara Bentley, Phyllis Foster, La Wanna Thylor, Virginia Budd, and Dolores Runda.

"The Girls Of My Dreams Revue," led by Mr. Jack Whitney, will introduce the two chorus groups as fashion models, and also will contain the following cast of characters: "Juliet," Mrs. Freda Lucas, "The Spanish Girl," Mrs. Betty Glover, "The Southern Girl," Miss Elvera Eltrein, "The Chinese Girl," Mrs. Clara Houston, "The Peasant Girl," Mrs. Lucile McMillan, "The Broadway Girl," Mrs. Madge Dalton, "The Gypsy Girl," Mrs. Dorothy Reed, "The Follies Girl," Miss Pearl Behn.

In "The Jazzland Revue," the Elks' Pony Chorus will introduce the sensational song hit of the Duncan sisters in "Topsy and Eva," called "Um-Um-Da-Da." In the same revue the Misses Evelyn Francis and Marie Engle will offer the interesting musical reading "In The Usual Way," and the Pony Chorus will offer, "Give Me A Little Kiss."

Because of the size of this paper, it was necessary to go to press a week ahead of the publication and there will be several acts, and a good many people that will be seen in "Purple Flashes," that are not seen here.

There will be a special orchestra in the pit, and the show will be staged in the same style as was maintained in the many coast cities where "Purple Flashes," scored the hit of the season.

PURPLE FLASHES
FAIR ENOUGH

Jack Jewett was trying to sell Bill Tingley a cow and the dickering had been going on for some time. Bill asked: "How much milk does she give?"

Jack replied: "I don't just know exactly, but she's a darned good natured cow and she'll give you all she can."

Fun and Foolishness

A "GOOD ONE"

When W. H. A. Renner and his bride were on their honeymoon, they went into a restaurant and while busily engaged in looking over the menu the waitress, who was a much calmed and peroxidized young miss, came up to take their order. W. H. A. looked up from the menu, smiled sweetly at the waitress and said: "How is the chicken today?"

"Pretty good, kid," she retorted, "how are you?"

PURPLE FLASHES

There was a young man from the city,
Who met what he thought was a klitty.

He gave it a pat,
And said, "Wee little cat!"
And they buried his clothes out of pity.

(The above verse was written by George Doran Masduel.)

PURPLE FLASHES

IN PHARMACY

Girl—Mr. Underwood, can you fix me some castor oil so that I can't taste it?

Major—Sure. You better sit down and have a nice soda while you wait.

Girl (After drinking soda)—Is my castor oil ready?

Major—You've already taken it. I put it in the soda so you would not taste it.

Girl—What? Good Lord, I wanted it for my brother.

GOOD IDEA

"This is my car," shouted the irate motorist to the garage man, "and what I say about it goes—see?"

Just then "Pat" McCollum crawled from under the car and pleadingly said: "Say 'engine' mister."

Ariet Edsel—"What part do you think I could play best on the stage?"

Jack Ryan—"A decayed gentleman."

Ariet—"And why a decayed gentleman?"

Jack—"Because you are such a rotten actor."
