NORDEN FARMS BEING PLOWED; WEATHER HELPS

C. J. McCollum Dragging Roads; Light "Flu" Epidemic Hits

(Special To The Herald)
WORDEN, Ore., Mar. 28.—The farmers of the Worden neighborhood are taking advantage of the good weather to plow and put in their crops. On account of so much stormy weather the seeding will be retarded more than a month later than last year.

C. J. McCollum is dragging roads in and near the Worden neighborhood this week.

Visit at Worden
Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Gordon of Chillicothe, drove down to Worden to visit a few days with Mrs. Gordon's parents Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Gordon, and with Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Gordon, on Monday.

The St. Patrick's dance given by Ben Gay at their home at Worden was a complete success. A large crowd was present and all enjoyed themselves until a late hour. The ladies served sandwiches, cake and coffee.

Returns home.
"Chad" Gordon returned home Monday evening from Midland where he has been assisting Mr. Travers in remodeling and refitting the old hotel building. Mr. Travers is making a dance hall of the building.

D. P. Daugherty, who owns a ranch west of Dorris, California, was a guest at the C. J. McCollum home Tuesday night. Mr. Daugherty was formerly a resident of Worden. He will visit for a few days in our neighborhood.

Herbert Gordon is helping C. McCollum with the road grading and dragging between Worden and Kenos.

Ben Gay is able to be around again, after being laid up over a week nursing two broken ribs.

Flu Epidemic.
There is quite an epidemic of flu prominent among the various families of the neighborhood. Henry Chapman took a four day load of supplies up to the Grinnett logging camp the last of the week. The roads were too soft and too much snow was at the upper end to travel with the camp tracks.

Receives Chicks.
Last Tuesday evening Miss Montgomery received a shipment of one hundred White Leghorn baby chicks from the Henry Tarratt chicken farm at Corning, California, of which she is justly proud.

Quite a number of young people from the Grinnett and Bray logging camps, located four and five miles west of Worden, attended the St. Patrick's dance at the Gay home last Friday night. The snow at the camps is from a foot to two feet deep, so perhaps Mr. and Mrs. Richie of the Bray camp had the most difficulty in navigating through the snow and out to Worden, having walked the entire distance.

C. J. McCollum, accompanied by his son, Harold, were on a business errand to Midland Monday evening.
