Signs of Spring in Evidence; Tree Planting Is Latest Fad

(Special to the Herald)
BEATTY, May 12.—Work is being completed by Mr. Ogden on the building of a number of fences in this section.

J. L. Sparreton of Bonanza spent the greater part of last week at the Syca store, while the rush was on following the recent pay day.

En route to Klamath Falls, Al Swainey visited in Beatty on Monday.

Signs of spring are in evidence everywhere in this community. At the Beatty store they are planting a lawn and putting out trees. A number of old buildings have been moved away.

John Lee Ball arrested Jessie, Pete and Orville Davis on Sunday morning. Pete escaped and is believed to be in California.

The Ladies Aid held a box social last Friday evening and enjoyed a splendid profit. An enjoyable program was given, which everyone enjoyed.

A. C. Olson of Bonanza has been conducting the Sunday services at Beatty while the church is without a pastor. Everyone is glad to have Mr. Olson here.

At The Pine Tree

What a riot! Laughs by the score, pretty girls galore and thrills that'll make your hair stand directly on end are seen in Wallace Beery's new comedy vehicle, "Casey at the Bat," which came to the Pine Tree Theatre yesterday.

Beery is once more the same lovable sap he was in "Behind the Front," and "We're in the Navy Now," but this time he wears the uniform of a baseball batter. The action starts in a small town near New York. Ford Sterling delineates a scout for the Giants; ZaSu Pitts, the village milliner; and Sterling Holloway, a newcomer on the screen, the villainous village barber.

Both men love the same girl, with Beery holding the inside track, until the scout discovers that Wallace is a whole team in himself and signs him to a Giant contract. He becomes one of the famous figures of Gotham and is idolized by an entire nation but at the pinnacle of his colorful career, the frivolous life he leads proves his undoing. Casey achieves a dramatic failure as great as was his success until—Fate steps in.

Stewart's WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—President Calvin Coolidge is among those who do not call Pullman porters "George."

The porter who takes care of Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge during their travels is Herbert G. Williams, and the president calls him "Williams."

Few men are heroes to their valets, but the man whose wants are simple and whose disposition is agreeable is the greatest man in the world to his porter, and that's what Mr. Coolidge is to Williams.

On the other hand, Williams is just about the world's greatest porter else he wouldn't have been assigned to serve the president on every trip since he was just a vice president. Between presidential trips Williams works on private cars for millionaires.

Easy to Wait On

"One of the easiest men to wait on you ever saw," says Williams of President Coolidge. "You can tell when he's pleased when he doesn't say anything. Never says a word except he'll tell you when he wants anything."

"He don't want no airs. He don't want no unnecessary like a lot of people. If he wants anything he wants that, but he never puts on any airs."

Williams also recommends J. P. Morgan, John D. Rockefeller and W. L. Mellon, whom he has also served. Not that the bigger they come the nicer they are, for Williams finds some the wealthiest to be the meanest.

"Only time I ever heard him complain was when the car was too warm," Williams said, getting back to Coolidge. "He never calls for anything at night except two years ago when he asked to open a ventilator. Yes sir, when that man goes to bed he's gone!"

"Lots of men you got to keep a running and jumping and making all kinds of fuss over 'em. Most Mr. Coolidge wants is a glass of water, or me to get his valet or for a menu, because he valet writes his order before he goes to the dining car."

You mustn't get the impression that Williams is gossipy. He told all this in answer to questions after being assured that it was all right with his superiors. Williams is a very intelligent colored man.

"Wonderful woman!" he exclaimed when asked about Mrs. Coolidge. "Just pleasant comments and ways. I never seen her in my life without a smile on her face. Always a pleasant smile and that goes a long ways when you have to wait on 'em. You never get tired as long as you live doing things for that lady. Very little she asks for. Always says thank you for the least little things."

Always a pleasant smile and that goes a long ways when you have to wait on 'em. You never get tired as long as you live doing things for that lady. Very little she asks for. Always says thank you for the least little things."

How did Williams get this super-portering job and what does he think of as he sits through the days and evenings waiting to be called to his high duty?

"I'll tell you how come," says Williams. "I never in my life done nothing but give service and first-class work. They want men for a private car that knows how to do all kinds of service. You have to be refined and polite on the job and know your place. A private car porter has to do washing, ironing and cooking and everything else down to washing the baby's clothes."

"But the president wasn't any trouble even when he had a private car—not the least in the world."

PRICES ON WOOL REMAIN STEADY

BOSTON, May 13. (AP)—The Commercial Bulletin tomorrow will say: "A fair volume of wool is being sold in the eastern seaboard markets in a quiet way, including both foreign and domestic wools. Prices generally have been maintained without material change, except that bright wool prices are slightly lower for the week."

"In the west the market is moving moderately but apparently activity is increasing slightly with prices maintained fully on last weeks level. Shearing has been delayed in the bright wool sections latterly and the movement is slow."

"The goods market is moderately active with some indications of improvement."

"Mohair is slow and without quotable change."

The Commercial Bulletin tomorrow will print the following quotations:

Scoured basis: Oregon—Northern 1.05 @ 1.07; fine and f m clothing 99 @ .95; valley number 1 90 @ .95.

Mohair: Good original bagfull Texas 77 @ 78; Texas Kid 68 @ 70; good original bag Arizona and New Mexico 52 @ 53; original bag average 12 months Oregon 50 @ 52.
