RULES FOR LIMERICK CONTEST

Everybody likes to write limericks now and then. Through the cooperation of these nine local merchants, The Herald gives you a chance to display your originality and at the same time compete for valuable cash and merchandise prizes.

In each of these advertisements is an uncompleted limerick. Fill in the last line. Your complete limerick should in some way or other be an argument as to why you should advertise with these merchants. This, however, is not essential, as originality and cleverness will guide the judges in making their decision.

Any Herald reader can compete for one or all of the prizes. Clip out the advertisements on this page, fill in the last line and mail or bring your answers to the Contest Editor of The Evening Herald.

The contest opens today. All answers must be in The Herald office by six o'clock next Friday evening. The winning limericks will be printed on this page a week from today.

It's fun to write limericks. It's good mental exercise and you may win one of these valuable prizes.
