Get Ready To Go

San Francisco has invited Klamath people down to see her. The invitation came through the Chamber of Commerce but it also means that others than those belonging to the Chamber are invited. When San Francisco holds "open house" for Klamath Falls and Klamath Basin that means all the people who care to go are welcome.

The date has not yet been set but when it has been then prepare to mark the calendar for the trip. It will be a dandy and no mistake, for the Southern Pacific will run a special train and Klamath Falls will decorate it from cowcatcher to rear end. Jim Miller of the Ess Pec says anything goes that the people here desire, and that means a good time for everybody.

Stops will be made at all California towns on the way down and the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce will entertain the party at some sort of a function.

It will be this community's first special train over the main line and the event will be worth participating in. Likely this will not occur for several weeks, but be ready when it is announced for we want at least 200 Klamath Basin citizens on the Klamath special.

Positively

In the order of May 3rd issued by the Interstate Commerce commission, a copy of which is printed today in the Evening Herald, there is nothing left regarding the Klamath Basin railroad situation to guess on. It is made clear that this railroad building shall begin by June 17, 1927, and that three years given railroads to finish the job includes the year already spent by the railroads in rooster fighting.

That they have seen fit to squander a year in making faces at each other and strategic movements does not seem to be of consequence to commission, for it is plowing a straight furrow and is not swerving from its original plans and specifications.

There must be something doing on all the railroad projects by the 17th of this month. This is positive, hence the recent quick work of all railroad corporations in marshaling their forces and deciding on plans.

The commission is not trifling and it does not propose to be trifled with. True, there is an appeal from its decision. Either side can carry its case to the Supreme court of the United States but since the Interstate Commerce commission has been active no railroad has seen fit to appeal from its decision. It is therefore hardly likely that such will be the case in any of the railroad matters which affect this Basin.

Building, Always Building

Despite the past uncertainty—up until a few weeks ago—of a speedy solution of Klamath's railroad puzzle, building operations in this city have continued to mount, even exceeding the record for the first five months of last year, according to a news story this week.

Does this indicate a feeling of apathy on the part of the rank and file of the people of Klamath? Does it indicate, as some have tried to make us believe, that times are dull and that there must be a paring of expenses up and down the line?

The cold figures of local building operations are a stern rebuke to the would-be calamity howlers. Klamath continues to grow. So far this year building operations have totalled nearly a million dollars. And the building season is only now upon us.

With the new railroad now assured and with the assurance that the Weyerhaeuser people will soon build their gigantic mill in Klamath, we can confidently look forward to one of the greatest eras of development that this city and country has ever experienced.

The building weather-vane for the first five months of 1927 points straight toward continued development. Klamath has every reason to be contented over the outlook for the future.

Nice To Have A Critic

Some place, somewhere there lives a good, kind soul who reads every word in the Evening Herald and ponders over it. So earnestly does he read each editorial utterance that he catches us up on hurried errors that occasionally creep in. Recently he discovered the word "enervating" used in place of "invigorating" and his chuckled with glee as he penned a correction on the clipping and sent it in marked, "private." But in the same envelope he chided us severely for having the temerity to suggest a matter to the San Francisco Examiner.

We would love to meet this good critic of ours, for he is all right even if he does love to pick us up on errors. We have him pictured in our mind as a kind, lovable soul who knows everything there is to know. Perhaps has blue eyes that are dreamy or brown eyes that are sharp, a pointed chin that moves with great regularity as he chews his favorite tobacco. Come in, old timer, and let us shake your hand.

A PREDICAMENT.

A teacher was instructing her class about idols.

"The idol had eyes," she said, "but it couldn't—"

"See," cried the children.

"It had ears but it couldn't—"

"Hear," said the class.

"It had lips but it couldn't—"

"Wipe it," replied the little ones.

Wanted: A depot waiting room that is well lighted; a church that is adequately ventilated; a theatre that is not full of draughts.

"Say, my wife wants to know what you do at the bank."

"Teller."

Misery loves company and company causes misery.

Ella (aged six): "Auntie, were you ever in a predicament?"

Maiden Aunt: "No, dear, but heaven knows I've tried."

Nearly everybody seems to have enough knowledge of the Bible to misquote it.

Aunt Grumpy: And what brought you to town, Arthur?

Arthur: Well, I've come to see the sights, and thought I'd call on you first.

Boss: "Have you ever done any hard work?"

Clerk after job: "Yes, sir, I courted a girl for two years."

"Laugh that off!" cried the Doc, as he fastened up the straight-jacket.

Money may talk, but it never gives itself away.

Mrs. Mandy Johnson: "I want to see Mistah Hamlin."

Office Boy: "Mr. Hamlin is engaged."

Mrs. Mandy Johnson: "Go long, boy. Ah don't want to marry him. Tell him his washlady wants huh money."

Lloyd Wilcox, publicity manager of the Oregon State Tuberculosis association has arrived in the city and is completing plans for a tuberculosis survey, which is to be held on the reservation within the coming few weeks.

Members of the local health office will work with Mr. Wilcox and Miss L. Grace Holmes, nurse in charge of the survey, who arrives in the city on Thursday from Portland. Miss Holmes will remain here throughout the survey, which it is thought, will take in the neighborhood of three weeks.

World's Happenings

We read the first of happenings of the day and note that De Pinedo has been taken on board a ship after his airplane bungled on him, thus causing our boy Lindbergh's prominence as an ocean aviator to be more pronounced.

Down in Visalia, California, a grandmother died to save babies from fire, demonstrating that old, old story of woman's love for children.

Paris, we note, is about over its frenzy for the young American flyer, and he may well be happy while the band is playing for France has a national habit of loving devotedly today and hating earnestly tomorrow.

California is just entering into her tax boost on gasoline and people continue to be happy in paying that tax. It is the only tax ever levied in a western state that was paid with a smile.

Great Britain, by a vote of 357 to 11, supports its break with Russia, all of which means those Englishmen had thought it all out before hand as is their usual custom. When a nation abuses its diplomatic privileges in England that nation is in bad and no mistake, for diplomacy in Great Britain is even more sacred than the church of the land.

The "dash" by air from San Francisco to Honolulu, according to the Bay City press, is to be of nation-wide interest. Maybe, but since Lindbergh and his little flivver have done their stuff it will take more than a Honolulu flight to cause anyone to miss his dinner to hear the news of it.

And Coolidge is to start on June 13th for his summer home in the Dakota Black Hills. Very interesting, for Coolidge is going into the edge of the farmers' zone to spend his summer. He is also going into the former home of Calamity Jane, if that means anything.

Someone has dug up a textbook on surgery that is 4,000 years old and it is to be printed in English. According to reports on the old Egyptian volume the doctors of that day had wonderful knowledge of the human body and "operated" with remarkable skill. What a pity to dig up such a book, for it will upset a lot of late hatched wisdom about surgery and again demonstrate that there is nothing new under the sun.

Will Hays, the movie censor and boss, has turned his attention for a brief time to another line of work. He has just finished gathering in fifteen million dollars for a reserve and sinking fund for that church. As a money-getter and a stifle dispenser, Will Hays beats the world. He is a Presbyterian from the top of his head to the soles of his feet and works at it even during his hectic days in Hollywood.

PERFECTION MILKER

and it is all apart for quick and easy cleaning—there are only two parts.

THESE days everyone admits that a good mechanical milker does the work in one third the time of hand milking. But the cleaning has in the past been a bit of a chore. The new simplified Perfection teat cup solves this problem. Only 2 parts—one pull—and it is all apart for quick and easy cleaning. Furthermore users find that the new teat cup milks faster, cleaner and with less vacuum.

If you have one of the thousands of Perfection Milkers which have given such enthusiastic satisfaction since they were put on the market 13 years ago you can make it still better at a small expense with these new teat cups.

If you are still milking by hand consider the cost in hours wasted and in drudgery. Let's talk it over. Easy monthly payments if desired. Ask for the new Perfection catalog.
