NOTED BARRISTER FULFILLS PROMISE MADE BY HIS SON

CHICAGO, June 4. (A.P.)—Clarence Darrow has agreed to use his efforts on behalf of a condemned Vermont slayer and thus make good a promise made by Darrow's son to the condemned man's family 23 years ago.

An age-yellowed paper induced the noted Chicago defender, who has all but retired from law practice, again to employ his skill in behalf of one facing death for murder. It was given in 1904 to Arthur Cooley, then and now chef at Dartmouth College, Hanover, N. H., by Paul Darrow, the lawyer's son.

Young Darrow was attending the college and while driving his horse and buggy ran down and killed Cooley's five year old son. Moved by the grief of the child's mother, Paul gave Cooley a note which read: "If ever any member of the Darrow family can be of aid to any member of your family, you have only to ask and the service will be rendered."

Last month, 79 year old Clarence Darrow, visiting his son's alma mater, delivered an address urging abolition of capital punishment. Afterwards he was approached by a white haired woman who pressed upon him the note Paul had written.

"My nephew is John C. Winters," she said, "and they found him guilty of killing a girl at Windsor, Vt. He was sentenced to the electric chair. I know he is innocent, and I know that you are probably the one man sufficiently skilled in the law to save him. Will you do it. Will you make good the promise of your son?"

"And of course I told her I would," Darrow said.

Salaries Increase For State Offices

SALEM, Ore., June 4. (A.P.)—In making effective salary increases authorized by an act of the 1927 legislature, it was ascertained here today, the state board of control voted an increase from $3000 to $3600 each for the deputy secretary of state, deputy state treasurer and state tax commissioner, but, because Governor Patterson voted against all of the increases, the board did not increase the salary of the governor's secretary who also was included in the act. The act authorized an increase to $4000 for the tax commissioner, but the board did not go the limit.

The fact that the salary of Hal Hoss, the governor's secretary, was not increased, is considered here as lending strength to the probability that Hoss may be appointed secretary of state if Secretary of State Koser resigns to become state budget officer. It is understood that Hoss accepted the position of secretary to the governor on condition that the salary of the position be increased.

Under another act the state printing board, also composed of the governor, secretary of state and state treasurer, increased the salary of State Printer H. S. Bossard from $2400 to $3000 a year.

ANSWERS IN LIMERICK CONTEST

Currins For Drugs has a prize that will appeal to all. It is giving a $13.50 combination electric waffle iron and grill for the best limerick submitted.

The Sixth Street Bakery will bake a special cake to the order of the person who submits the best limerick about the bakery.

If you're looking for a suit of clothes, you can save $10 by submitting the winning limerick for the Oregon Woolen Store, this being the prize they are offering for the best last line of their limerick Big Roast Offered.

A fine big roast weighing five pounds will be enjoyed next Sunday by the person who submits the winning limerick for Miller's Market. You can solve next Sunday's meat problem by winning the limerick for this popular meat market.

In addition to these good merchandise prizes the Herald is offering $1 cash for the next ten limericks which, in the opinion of the judges, are worthy of prizes.

Additional Service Is Offered by S. P.

A pullman car which will be a Klamath car, has been provided by the passenger traffic department of the Southern Pacific railroad company, it was announced late Saturday afternoon by J. J. Miller, district freight and passenger agent.

A pullman car will be "dropped" here each day by southbound number 15, at 2:40 a. m. and will lay over until 10:45 p. m. when it will be picked up by the northbound "West Coast," number 16.

The new service will guarantee Klamath travel good service on the Pullmans, will give a passenger the opportunity to go to bed early and will obviate much confusion.

Klamath Student at O. A. C. Honored

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, June 6—John Hawkins of Klamath Falls has been appointed on the circulation staff of the Beaver, the college year book. The Beaver requires one of the largest staffs of student assistants of any campus publication. This year's book consisted of 453 pages, and had a sale of 2200 copies.

Work has already been started on the new book and the Memorial Union building has been chosen for the theme. The Memorial Union idea was used this year and the architecture of the building will be used next year as the motif for art work. Hawkins is a freshman in forestry.

Settlers Wheat Kings of Canada

Norman Trelle, former Idaho resident, who is farming in Canada now 440 miles north of the boundary line, was the winner of the world wheat championship at the Chicago hay and grain show recently. Henry Wise Wood (right), a native Missourian, is president of the United Farmers of Alberta and vice president of the Canadian wheat pools.

Flood Waters Discouraging To Fishermen

Anglers, with very few exceptions, again sustained defeat yesterday at the hands of the relentless foe "high water."

In virtually every stream of Klamath whose water shed includes snow carpeted hills, was full to the brim, muddy and swift. There were exceptions; on Klamath lake several good catches in Pelican Bay were reported; a few luck anglers garnered a few eastern brook trout and an occasional rainbow from Spring creek and Williamson river, above Chiloquin.

But in general, the verdict of anglers is that fishing in Klamath will not be at its best until three weeks or a month.

Woodburn Man Named President of State Bankers Association Social Fraternity

Fender Smashes Feature Crashes

Fender smashes characterized the week-end's quota of accidents, reports filed at the sheriff's office reveal.

Hi Robbins' car and a machine driven by Rose Huff, Sprague River, crashed on the Forest Lumber company road; result, mashed fenders.

E. Herlihy, Algoma, struck a W. D. Miller Construction company truck, mashed in a fender and his radiator, but did not injure the truck.

The rear fender of Ellen Stafford's machine was mashed in by a truck as Miss Stafford was backing out from where her car was parked on Main street. She attributed carelessness of the truck driver as cause of the accident.
