Youth Looks Over Bright Lights and Chooses Home Town

San Francisco, July 8. (UP)

Up in the North Pacific sails a ship taking a 21-year-old youth, Mickey Gordon, away from the bright lights of this metropolis back to the lonely trading post at Ice Reef, near Demarcation Point, "on top of the world."

Mickey came here last fall on his first trip to civilization. His father, Tom Gordon, leading citizen of Point Barrow, wanted his son to see the bright lights and then to choose whether he wanted to spend his life among the crowds of the states or on the lonely tundra of the north-land.

And after eight months of the maddening swirl of the city Mickey made his choice. He has gone back. It was too lonely in the city where there were so many people he did not know, he said.

The answer to hot weather is ICE, abundance of it

IN hot weather, the one big relief is ice, not merely to keep the refrigerator ice-cold, but to use freely in the innumerable ways a clever housewife knows well how to do.

She never spares the ice. She serves cracked ice on the butter to keep it firm. She knows how ice on a hot day is the salvation of her salad and green vegetables. They must be crisp.

And what is more appetizing than a sparkling and tinkling cold drink?

With plenty of ice she can produce home-made ice cream in fifteen minutes or any of a number of frozen desserts.

One of the best things about ice is its abundance. You can use all you want when you want it. It is a mistake to stint your ice box. Keep the ice chamber well filled—never less than a half to two-thirds full. That is real economy. It keeps your food much better. The more melting surface you provide, the better refrigeration you get.
