INSURANCE RECORDS SHOW FARM COMEBACK

CHICAGO, July 21. (A.P.)—The farmer is emerging from six years of agricultural depression. Insurance figures by Robert D. Lay, president of the National Life Insurance company, indicate.

"For the first time in six years," he says, "farmers are back to normal in the amounts of money borrowed on life insurance policies. Their borrowings are an accurate index of their financial situation. When times are bad they borrow heavily and the loans diminish as times grow better.

"For 18 months the statistics on 200,000 rural policies show an improvement, and figures for May show a return to the normal of 1921."

TERMINAL PLANS ARE SETTLED

The board of regents of the Great Northern will take care of the Airline Branch of the Southern Pacific in Polk county, a distance of 28 miles from Broadmead to Airline. The reason for the activity on the part of the board is that Monmouth, seat of a state normal school, is on the line and would be deprived of railroad service were the railroad abandoned.
At a meeting of the board in Salem yesterday, Frank J. Miller of Albany demanded that something be done in the way of a protest the property in the Shippington country.

It is pointed out by the wise ones, who do not officially talk for the railroads, or have any connection with them, but who nevertheless know their unions when it comes to siding up a situation, that the two railroad corporations, in adopting common terminals, have followed to the letter the intent of the interstate Commerce commission when that body admonished both roads to get together and not duplicate construction.
How Far Will It Go?
But this getting together may have a limit, or it may not, according to where the Southern Pacific system will end the love-making. The two railroads will be fairly well tangled when they clasp arms at Paisina and ramble into Klamath Falls on one track, and then if they use the one terminal, they will continue to be mixed in their relations. Now, comes an important question: "Will this mixing continue sufficiently to let the Great Northern's pet Northwestern train run through Klamath Falls and on to San Francisco?"
If that becomes a fact then the nation will have witnessed a love-feast of opposing capital that never has had a precedent.

RAIL BRANCH IN POLK DEMANDED
SALEM, Ore., July 21. (A.P.)—The board of regents of state normal schools has entered the fight to save from abandonment the Airline Branch of the Southern Pacific in Polk county, a distance of 28 miles from Broadmead to Airline. The reason for the activity on the part of the board is that Monmouth, seat of a state normal school, is on the line and would be deprived of railroad service were the railroad abandoned.
At a meeting of the board in Salem yesterday, Frank J. Miller of Albany demanded that something be done in the way of a protest by the board. He mentioned the need of rail transportation to Monmouth for supplies for the state normal school. He declared that the state public service commission had made no protest in the case and that when he mentioned it to the commission members they said they didn't know a state normal school was located at Monmouth.

Miller was requested by Governor Patterson, chairman of the board of regents to confer with Southern Pacific officials and try to induce them to withdraw the application to the I. C. C. for abandonment of the line.
If he is not successful the governor said he would send a protest to the interstate commission.
Records of the service commission show that no protest has been made to the interstate commission, but that on July 11 a letter was sent to the latter asking that a hearing be held in the case because of numerous informal protests from persons and interests affected by the proposed abandonment. This, it was said at the office of the commission today, assures a hearing before action is taken.
